COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE MAYOR.

By the Clerk—

Mayor's Office, May 19, 1896.

To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

I return to you without my approval the resolution adopted at your last meeting, awarding the printing contract to the Democrat and Chronicle, the Union and Advertiser and the Post Express, for the following reasons:

The Common Council solicited bids for this printing. The Rochester Printing Company bid 31 cents an inch for printing the proceeds, and 30 cents an inch for printing the notices. The Times bid 20 cents an inch for printing the proceedings, and 18 cents an inch for printing the notices. The bid of the Rochester Printing Company was accepted, and if carried out would have resulted in an increased cost of $3,000 over the Times bid. This resolution was vetoed. And afterwards the resolution in question was adopted giving the printing to the Rochester Printing Company at 29 1-2 cents an inch for printing the proceedings, and 25 cents an inch for printing the notices. If this resolution is adopted it will cost the city about $2,888 more yearly than it would if the Times bid had been accepted. The bills for the Rochester Printing Company for printing the proceedings of the executive board and the common council and the notices for the months of March and April amount to $1,644. If the Times had had this printing it would have cost the city for the same time $1,164.

Second—The Times complied with the requirements of the common council by filing an affidavit as to its circulation, and a bond for the performance of the contract. Its bid for printing the notices was 18 cents an inch, and that bid is still pending before the common council. The law committee of the common council reported on February 18, 1896, as follows: "In view of the fact that certain ordinances and notices are required by the city charter to be published in two daily newspapers, we recommend that action upon the bid of the Rochester Times with reference to publication of said notices be postponed until a later meeting." This bid of the Times has never been acted upon by the common council, yet in view of the fact that there was pending before the common council an offer to print all these notices for 18 cents an inch, the printing of these notices is given to the Union and the Post-Express at 25 cents an inch. Neither the Post-Express nor the Union has ever complied with the requirements of the common council that an affidavit as to its circulation be filed and a bond given; in fact, neither of these papers ever bid for printing when requested to do so; yet they are given this printing at a price which will cost the city several hundred dollars a year more than if given to the Times.

It would hardly seem possible that officials would seek to make this printing cost the city more simply to enable them to discriminate against a particular newspaper, which newspaper having made the lowest bid for such printing criticises the common council upon their action in refusing it the printing, and awarding it to another paper at an increased price; yet this would seem to be the only explanation for this action, as all the daily papers, the two German daily papers included, with the exception of the Times and Herald, are given some of the city printing, and they are the only papers that have endeavored to make the printing cost less to the city; in any event the notices should have been given to the Times instead of the Union and the Post-Express.

Very respectfully,

GEORGE E. WARNER, Mayor.

Received, filed and published.

Ald. Adams moved that action on the resolution vetoed by the Mayor be postponed until the next meeting. Carried.

LAKE VIEW PARK OPENING.

By the Clerk—

Mayor's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., May 20, 1896.

To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

I return to you without my approval the final ordinance for Lake View park opening, for the following reasons:

The first ordinance adopted in this matter did not contain a correct description of the property to be assessed for the expense of this improvement; in the final ordinance a correct description was inserted. In my opinion the first ordinance should have been amended and then re-advertised, after which the final ordinance could have been legally adopted. The failure so to amend raises a question which might invalidate the ordinance and result in additional cost and expense to the city. It would be better to get rid of this possible objection by beginning over again, and thus save all questions as to the legality of the ordinance.

Very respectfully,

GEORGE E. WARNER, Mayor.

Received, filed and published.

The Chair stated the question to be, "Shall the ordinance for Lake View park opening stand notwithstanding the objections of his honor, the Mayor?"

Lost by the following vote:

Nays—Ald. Tracy, Calihan, Ford, Green, Rauber, Adams, Edelman, Beard, Johnston, Selye, Ward, Dewey, Cook, Auckner, Kelly, Crane, Simmelink, Englehardt, Wilson, Reichenberger—20.

By the Clerk—

Office of the Executive Board,
Rochester, N. Y., May 25, 1896.

To the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—I am instructed by the Executive Board, at the request of Alderman Simmelink, that your honorable body cause an ordinance to be adopted for the construction of a plank walk, 3 feet wide, on the west side of Carter street, from North avenue to Norton street. On the east side of said street a plank walk has been constructed, and a similar one on the west side is urgently needed.

Respectfully,

THOS. J. NEVILLE, Clerk.

Received, filed and published, and referred to City Engineer.

By the Clerk—

Office of the Executive Board,
Rochester, N. Y., May 25, 1896.

To the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—The Executive Board has been called upon at divers times to remove obstructions in the sewer at Ward park and Ward place. This sewer was constructed in Ward park in 1879, and was connected with the Ward park sewer, which in turn empties into the Clinton street sewer.

The Ward park sewer was constructed in 1886, and the whole line of this sewer is from 6 to 8 feet below the surface. The grade of this sewer is very slight; it answered its purpose so long as the drainage of mere surface water was required, but some time ago the Board of Health caused the outside vaults to be abandoned and water closets to be put in these houses, and it is said since then that the discharge from these houses caused the stoppage in the sewer and consequent backing of sewage into cellars, which necessarily becomes a great nuisance to the people living on the street.

It has been suggested by the foreman in charge of this work for the Executive Board, that relief can be obtained by connecting the Ward place sewer with the Clinton street sewer, and the Executive Board recommends that the whole subject matter of this sewer and the best means of affording relief be referred to the City Engineer department for examination and report as to the quickest and best means to abate a condition of things which is a menace to the people's health in this locality.

Respectfully,

THOS. J. NEVILLE, Clerk.

Received, filed and published, and referred to City Engineer.

By Ald. Selye—

Office of Executive Board,
Rochester, N. Y., May 25, 1896.

To the Honorable, the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—A petition for laying a four-inch cast iron main in Backus park has been presented to your honorable board, but it is not included in the streets passed upon by the Water Works Committee and recommended to be laid out of funds to be raised by tax levy. A number of houses (six) have recently been erected in this street, and water is required for them. Mr. E. M. Upton of this city is desirous of having the main laid and is willing to advance the necessary funds for making this construction, to be repaid by the city whenever there are funds applicable therefor.

THOS. J. NEVILLE, Clerk.

By Ald. Selye—Resolved, That upon Mr. E. M. Upton depositing in the city treasury, through Thos. J. Neville, to the credit of the Water Pipe Fund, the estimated cost for laying the (4 in.) water pipe in Backus park, the Executive Board are hereby requested to purchase the necessary materials and lay said water main. The sum so advanced to be repaid to said E. M. Upton without interest by the city whenever there are funds applicable therefor.

Adopted.

By Ald. Johnston—

Rochester, N. Y., May 5, 1896.

To the Honorable Common Council:

The undersigned taxpayers of the city of Rochester respectfully urge your honorable body to reappoint J. Y. McClintock city engineer.

The excellent work he has done since he has held the office is the best testimonial of his fitness to be continued, and we consider it would be unjust to the taxpayers of the city to make a change for political reasons.

To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—I am directed to forward to you the inclosed resolution as adopted by C. J. Powers 391, G. A. R.; and to respectfully state, that the said Henry Simonds is not a member of this post. The veterans of Rochester, although at all times ready to support any comrade in a just vindication of the rights of veteran soldiers under the civil service laws of the state and city cannot indorse the course of action pursued by the said Henry Simonds, as they consider such action as determined to the best interests of their comrades who are seeking employment under the city government.

Yours Respectfully,
 G. A. NICHOLETTS,
 Adjutant.

Gentlemen:—At the meeting of the Common Council held August 20, 1895, an application of the Rochester Railway Company for a franchise through German street and Central park was presented and referred to the Railroad Committee, which committee, as then constituted, failed to report the matter.

This extension of the street car system is very much desired by the residents of a large portion of the city, who are now deprived of the advantages of the street railway service.

Your committee would therefore recommend that the application be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

Your committee would therefore recommend that the application be granted.

STATEMENT BY ALD. JOHNSTON.

Ald. Johnston submitted the following statement:

A majority of the members of the finance committee favor an appropriation of $240,000 for the highway fund this year, principally, so it is stated, because the Executive Board members ask that amount and even more. The speaker has looked carefully over the Executive Board's request and from it and other information that the board has placed at his command, he is unable to tell the particular uses made by the board of a large proportion of the moneys, placed annually at its disposal. For several years past the asphalt and brick paved streets have been cleaned and paid for by the adjoining property owners, and when it was proposed early this year to have the cleaning paid for out of the highway fund, objections were raised and the statement was made that such action would be unfair to the property owners on the unimproved streets and that it would not be right to ask the latter class to help pay for the cleaning of the asphalt streets. The agitation of the question developed the fact that the unimproved streets had received in past years comparatively little benefit from the highway fund.

In studying the needs of the highway fund three ideas were kept constantly in mind, viz: First, that all streets were entitled to a relative amount of attention and care; second, that some systematic plan should be devised to secure it and third, that expenses should be curtailed as far as practicable. To carry out these ideas a basis to work from was needed and it was found in the average amount paid last year for cleaning the asphalt streets; these streets were all cleaned by special contract at an average cost of less than $700 a mile, and it was believed that $600 a mile would be a proper and reasonable amount to use in considering the needs of all asphalt and similarly paved streets. This idea is worked out in the following statement, but it did not receive the finance committee's approval.

STATEMENT.

Cleaning asphalt streets 26.6 miles, cleaning brick streets, 4.1 miles, cleaning cedar block streets, 7 miles at $600	$ 18,840 00
Cleaning Medina block streets, 2.3 miles at $900	2,070 00
Cleaning Medina stone streets, 25 miles at $300	7,500 00
Cleaning Macadam streets, 24.8 miles at $300	8,440 00
Cleaning gravel streets, 19.8 miles, at $200	3,960 00
Grading unimproved streets, 197.2 miles at $100	19,720 00
Cleaning crosswalks	5,000 00
Removing snow and ice	20,000 00
Removing ashes and rubbish	40,000 00
Repairs and materials therefor:
Sewers	10,000 00
Streets	15,000 00
Crosswalks	6,000 00
Tools	1,000 00
Steam rollers	1,000 00
Sweeping machines	1,000 00
Bridges	10,000 00
New tools	4,000 00
Salaries of canal bridge tenders..	12,000 00
Superintendent	1,000 00
Four assistant superintendents...	4,000 00
Office clerks	6,000 00
Contingencies	22,970 00
Total	$220,000 00

The only objections made to it are that the amounts for removing ashes and performing clerical work are insufficient. The answer to these and other possible criticisms is the admission that they may be well founded and that the last item of $22,970.00 for the contingencies is included to protect any errors that may have been made in the estimates. The objectors, however, are strangely silent in overlooking the liberal provision made for work hitherto largely neglected.

The following statement compiled from the treasurer's records, shows the expenditures through this fund by triennial periods during the last fifteen years and you and the people must be the judges of the quantity and quality of service received for it.

Year.	Population.	Expenditures.	Amount per capita.
1880	89,363	$ 45,451 00	$0 51
1883	104,280	106,178 00	1 02
1886	114,280	128,041 00	1 12
1889	129,760	157,754 00	1 21
1892	144,832	216,828 00	1 49
1895	155,000	297,151 00	1 91

It is proper to expect that highway fund expenditures should increase more rapidly than population, but the large increase shown is considered excessive and unnecessary and in view of the city's financial condition, it is believed that the taxpayers' interests will be best served by lessening them.

The speaker now leaves this fund for a short time, but will refer to it again.

FIRE DEPARTMENT FUND.

Through this fund, the differences between the speaker and his associates are confined entirely to the number of men for the several hose companies and the salaries to be paid to the chiefs and company officers. The Executive Board members and Chiefs Malcolm and Boom have told the members of the finance committee that the fire department could not be satisfactorily maintained with the number of men proposed, but the board's records show conclusively that at no time in the history of the department has it been so well equipped and thoroughly manned as proposed in the speaker's proposition, excepting during the last three years.

The Executive Board records show that the department has been equipped during the last fifteen years in the following manner:

Year	No. of Hose Cos.		No. of Engine Cos.		No. of Truck Cos.		No. of Extinguishers Cos.
	Men for each.	Men for each.	Men for each.	Men for each.	Men for each.	Men for each.	Men for each.

1883	4	5	2	8	1	4
1886	5	5	2	8	1	4
1889	7	6	3	9	1	4
1892	8	6	3	10	2	4

Prop'd for 1896	11	6	3	10	2	4

WATER WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Year.	Population.	Expenditures.	Amount per capita.
1880	89,363	$ 32,442 00	$0 36
1883	104,280	91,049 00	87
1886	114,280	84,137 00	74
1889	129,760	138,045 00	1 06
1892	144,832	182,042 00	1 26
1895	155,000	257,599 00	1 66

The expenditures through this fund will also be referred to again.

A majority of the members of the finance committee have approved the appropriation for this department, but, as yet, the executive board members have not taken any steps toward lessening its expenditures. Possibly they do not consider its cost excessive, and if so the speaker must differ with them, for he thinks it the most extravagantly managed department of the city's government. The growth in its expenditures during the last fifteen years is shown by the following statement compiled from the treasurer's records:

WATER WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Year.	Population.	Expenditures.	Amount per capita.
1886	89,363	$ 29,827 00	$0 33
1883	104,280	69,812 00	67
1886	114,280	79,561 00	69
1889	129,760	102,879 00	79
1892	144,832	146,785 00	1 01
1895	155,000	148,194 00	95

The extravagance in this department can be seen in nearly every one of its numerous subdivisions. The speaker will not now take the time to refer to them in detail, but will do so later on; meanwhile, if anyone should wish to know wherein the speaker thinks expenditures can be curtailed, they will find his ideas in a communication to this council

The department has an excellent and even enviable reputation for promptness and efficiency, but it was gained prior to 1892. It is only proper to say that said reputation continues to be maintained but it cannot thus far be shown to have increased by manning the hose companies with seven men instead of six. The speaker's proposition is that the several hose companies be manned with six men, with the usual number of extra men and that the two new truck companies, in view of their suburban location, be manned with eight men each. It cannot in fairness be said that compliance with the proposition will cripple the department, for the two new truck companies with whatever service their sixteen members will furnish, will more than offset the reduced number of hosemen. The annual expenditures of the fire department during the last fifteen years, compiled from the treasurer's records, are shown herewith in triennial periods:

under date of February 27, 1896, and printed on page 124 of its current proceedings.

In criticising the expenditures through these three funds the writer realizes fully the objections that may and will be made. The principal objection thus far given, however, is the one made by our president to the finance committee, when he stated that as a result of his four years' experience in the council he had learned that it was the part of prudence and wisdom to be governed in his actions by the opinions and wishes of Chairman Schroth and other department chiefs.

This objection is interesting and is worth considering from the standpoint of consistency. For instance, what consistency is there in reducing the appropriations asked for by the board of health and board of education and in granting those asked for by the executive board? Is it because Chairman Schroth is understood to be more competent to manage the affairs of the executive board than the health and school commissioners are to manage the affairs of their respective boards? Or is it because the executive board's affairs have been so prudently and economically managed in the past that there is no room for improvement? Let us see what their record is: The board members have full charge of the three funds in question, viz: Highway, Fire Department and Water Works and the following statement will show their cost to the city during the last fifteen years:

							increase over
	1880.	1883.	1886.	1889.	1892.	1895.	1880.

Fire Dept. Fund	32,442	91,049	84,137	138,045	182,042	257,599	695
Water Works Fund	29,827	69,812	79,561	102,879	146,785	148,194	398
Aggregating	107,720	267,039	291,739	398,678	545,155	702,944	551
All other expenditures except interest	392,593	719,089	748,008	943,655	1,240,677	1,344,025	242
Total cost of maintaining the city government, excepting interest on bonded debt	500,313	986,128	1,039,747	1,343,333	1,785,832	2,046,969	315

It shows that while the expenditures of the various departments, including the boards of health and education, the park commissioners, the police, lamp, poor and contingent funds have increased during the last fifteen years 242 per cent., the executive board's expenditures have increased in the same time 551 per cent. or more than twice as much as the other departments and that the fire department expenditures have increased 695 per cent. or nearly three times as much as the general city expenditures and it proves conclusively that the executive board has been proportionately much more expensive than the balance of the departments. Can it be shown that the quality of service furnished through the executive board department is superior to that furnished through the other departments? Is it better than that furnished through the police department? Is it better than that furnished through the lamp fund or street lighting department? Is it better than that furnished through the poor department? Is it better than that furnished through the board of education? Every one of these questions will be answered emphatically no, if answered intelligently. Why then should so much consideration be given to the executive board requests? Why this special deference to the opinions and wishes of the executive board members when it is known that it is the most expensive department in the city and that it is as much, if not more, to blame for the city's deplorable financial condition than any other department?

The reasons are undoubtedly political, but whatever they are, they lead to an important question for the members of this council to consider, and that is whether the opinions and wishes of the executive board shall continue to be paramount. Whether the members of this council shall consider and determine the quantity and quality of service needed through the different departments or permit the executive board members to determine it for us.

The members of this council are the only persons connected with the city government whose votes are needed in all matters involving the expenditure of money. We are city fathers, with a large indebtedness and large tax levy confronting us and in granting too freely the financial requests of the several departments or permitting excessive expenditures to continue unrestrained, we are relatively in the position of the parent who gives his children an allowance and then permits them to spend what they please. The result is generally unsatisfactory and frequently brings the parent to grief, financially and otherwise.

The speaker believes that the affairs of the executive board should be conducted more in the interests of property owners, that they should be managed prudently and as economically as practicable the same as other departments; that all useless and unnecessary expenditures should cease and that officials and employes receiving large or excessive compensation should make reasonable concessions until such time as it can be better afforded.

With this standpoint the speaker opposes and will continue to oppose the expenditures through the executive board funds, until either they are curtailed or he finds that his constituents and public sentiment favors a continuance of the old order of affairs.

Referring again to the highway fund, why should $240,000 or more be expended simply because the executive board ask it, and to enable them to make as creditable a showing as their predecessors?

The question for this council to consider should be, not how much the executive board wants, but rather how much should the taxpayers be asked to spend through this particular fund?

Why, then, should not the executive board members be requested to change their method of handling this fund to some such manner as the one proposed, or to any better one that may be devised or suggested?

Referring again to the fire department fund, the speaker certainly does not want to see this department crippled, and he believes he has stronger reasons for wanting it maintained at a high rate of efficiency than any other member of this council; but the problem that confronts us is how far the taxpayers can and should afford it. The question is not whether this, that or some other department has got more men for their different companies than ours; but rather will our department be able to render satisfactory service with the number of men and for the amount of money proposed?

Prior to 1893 the service rendered by this department was always satisfactory and highly creditable, and the proposition now is simply to return to the condition existing at that time, or rather to give the proposition a five or six-months' trial during the coming summer and fall months, the most favorable time in the year for such a purpose, and if it does not prove satisfactory to then increase the membership.

During most of the time in the eighties the membership of hose companies was five, then it increased to six, and recently to seven; now, the proposition is to make it six and protect it with an ample number of extra men. During the entire period of the eighties the large truck companies never exceeded nine men, while one or more of them had eight, and sometimes only six; then we had only two and three truck companies; now we have five, and the proposition is to leave the three old companies with ten men each and man the two new companies with eight men each. Is there anything hurtful, unreasonable or improper in the proposition, and is the city's financial condition such as to justify the members of this council and the executive board in refusing it a fair trial? Have the taxpayers got so much money to spare that the fire department members should be increased without any regard for the need of it? How are we to account for the action of the executive board in appointing a number of new firemen immediately after the tax levy was presented and before the council had an opportunity to act upon it? Why such haste, and does that kind of action indicate any consideration for taxpayers' interests?

Referring again to the water works department, the speaker wishes to call attention to the fact that the system has been in use for more than twenty years, and that the capacity of the original conduit has proven insufficient for the city's needs, thereby making necessary the recent construction of the new and enlarged conduit. When the system was planned some twenty-five years ago it was expected that the citizens would receive not only the benefit from the use of the water, but that the revenue from it would soon amount to more than enough to pay the operating expenses and interest on the bonds, so that there would be a surplus with which to reduce the bonded indebtedness when it became due. This latter expectation has not been realized and at no time has there been a year when the taxpayers have not been obliged to make up a deficiency, although during recent years it has been cared for in the tax levies under the title of "Water for city uses." The charges for water are not properly adjusted and their need of revision is so apparent that it is conceded by the water department officials. The principal reason, however, for expecting favorable financial results from the water system was that because of its being a gravity one, the cost of operating it would naturally be small; instead, the operating expenses have become excessive and have increased from $29,827 in 1880 to $143,194 last year, and during all this time they have been under the immediate control of the executive board.

The speaker is confident that just as good practicable results can be secured by the expenditure of from one hundred to one hundred and ten thousand dollars as are now secured by the expenditure of one hundred forty-eight or one hundred fifty thousand dollars, or in other words, that a saving of about $40,000 annually can be made through this department, if the executive board members will make an earnest effort to secure it. This opinion is substantially concurred in by an expert having a full knowledge of the water works system, and here it is also proper to say that the opinions concerning the other two departments are fully concurred in by gentlemen whose practical knowledge amply qualifies them to judge.

The outlook through the water works department with conditions remaining unchanged is as follows:

Interest on bonded debt$322,940
Operating expenses 148,060

Total annual cost of department ..$471,000
Cash income from water users$340,000

Annual deficiency $131,000
To this should be added interest at 4 per cent on the amount raised through the tax levies for water pipe extension, aggregating more than $1,000,000 40,000

Making the annual deficiency$171,000
This condition of affairs can only be changed by either or both of two ways, viz.: increased income or reduced expenses.

If, therefore, $40,000 approximately can be saved annually in operating expenses alone without impairing the practical efficiency of the service, the taxpayers will be justified in insisting that such action be taken forthwith.

In referring to the executive board members, no personal reflections or disparagements of ability are intended and no reference would have been made to them, if it had not been for the position taken by their friends in this council in placing the responsibility for their expenditures and appropriations upon their shoulders. How far they or their predecessors are directly responsible may be a disputed question for, thus far, the different councils have sanctioned their various expenditures and permitted them to increase until they have reached their present unwarrantable amounts. The speaker now gives notice that he will withhold his vote of approval from the monthly budgets of the executive board until such time as they are reduced in amount and classified, so that they can be more easily understood and approved, and he hopes that a majority of his council associates will see their way clear to take the same position.

To the Honorable, The Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Received, filed and published.

Rochester, N. Y., June 1, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen: In the matter of the claim of Henry E. Boardman for damages to water rights resulting from the construction of the new conduit, we beg leave to say that after an investigation of the claim, and a personal examination by the law committee of the property alleged to be damaged, we recommend a settlement of the claim for the sum of $13,000. From whatever aspect the question may be examined, this seems to be a favorable settlement for the city to make.

The property received as its damages for the construction of the first conduit the sum of $21,302.83. The amount now proposed to be paid is for all future damages. In 1890 or 1891, the joint committee of this council, and of the Chamber of Commerce recommended a settlement of this claim at $16,000. Using as a basis the ratio of past to future damages in cases where both have been paid, the amount of the future damages to this property would be much greater than the amount proposed in settlement.

Respectfully submitted,

R. A. SIBLEY,

D. W. POWERS,

H. F. ATKINSON.

COMMUNICATIONS TO THE BOARD FROM CORPORATION OFFICERS, BOARDS AND DEPARTMENTS.

By Ald Selye—
 Executive Board Office,
 Rochester, N. Y., June 9, 1896.

To the Common Council:
 Gentlemen:—In accordance with your resolution, the Executive Board invited the several owners of parcels of land, which it is proposed to acquire, for the opening of Maplewood avenue, from Driving park avenue to Rose street, to state what prices they would accept for the property. A large number of the owners of the property called at the office of the Executive Board and stated their willingness to dedicate the land required to be taken by the city without compensation, therefor.

That portion of the proposed street passing through Maplewood Grove has already been tendered to the city by Messrs. Ellwanger, Barry and Woodworth in a communication dated, April 23rd, and addressed to this board, in which the only condition asked was that all others interested in the lands taken should do likewise.

That portion of the roadway leading through the Maplewood Building Lot Association was laid out by that association many years ago, and the owners so far as they appeared, of the abutting lots, said that they would waive any rights in the street for the purpose of making it a public street.

It is therefore suggested by the Executive Board, that you refer the matter of the dedication of the land necessary for the street to the Corporation Counsel, for the purpose of taking such action as he may deem necessary to obtain title from the several owners of property interested in the land required for this public street.

Respectfully,
 THOMAS J. NEVILLE,
 Clerk.

Received, filed and published and referred to Corporation Counsel.

By Ald. Beard—

Executive Board Office,
 Rochester, N. Y., June 9, 1896.

To the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—Pursuant to your resolution of May 26, the Executive Board has notified the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Co., to make the necessary repairs to the ceilings constructed over the sidewalks and roadways of the several streets crossed by the elevated tracks, which are required to be constructed and maintained by the company to protect the citizens from injury by reason of the passage of trains over the bridges.

The Executive Board has received no written statement of the purpose of the company in the matter of repairs, only so far as they were informed by telephone, that the roadmaster made a requisition upon the company for the material necessary to perform this work, and within the last few days, the board was again informed by telephone that the material was expected every day, and the company intended as soon as it arrived to put a force of men at work to make the necessary repairs or additions to the overhead coverings at the several street crossings of their elevated tracks.

Respectfully,
 THOMAS J. NEVILLE,
 Clerk.

Received, filed and published.

By Ald. Johnston—

Executive Board Office,
 Rochester, N. Y., June 9, 1896.

To the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—The Executive Board has been informed by the Hemlock Lake Commission, that a number of pieces of property on the shores of the lake on which buildings stand, have been purchased and the title is now in the city of Rochester.

It is desirable and even necessary that some disposition should be made of the cottages and other buildings as soon as vacated, either by their prompt removal or by sale, and, to that end, the Executive Board requests that you take such action as you may deem expedient either by authorizing the Executive Board to dispose of the buildings at public auction, or by delegating such authority to some other body in order that these buildings may not become a greater nuisance than they now are.

Respectfully,
THOMAS J. NEVILLE,
Clerk

By Ald. Pauckner—
Fire Marshal's Office,

Rochester, N. Y., June 9, 1896.

To the Hon. Common Council of the city of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—I would respectfully call your attention to the unsafe condition of the Front street city building and would advise that the necessary repairs be made at once.

The south end of the structure has gone out about an inch. The brick work over the truck house is cracked and the key stones in the arches are loose, insecure and dangerous to public safety. There seems to have been a settling of the southwest corner of said building. The rear cellar walls facing the river also need repairs—re-cementing with waterproof cement, as said walls were washed out and damaged by the recent flood.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN A. T. WALTER,

Fire Marshal.

By Ald Beard—

ASSESSMENT COMMITTEE REPORT.

Rochester, N. Y. June 9, 1896.

To the Honorable, the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—Your Assessment Committee beg leave to submit the following report:

In the matter of the petition of Alfred Haines for rebate of taxes paid by him for the years 1890 to 1895 inclusive upon his property situated on Davis street and August streets. We find that prior to the year 1890 a steam planing mill and manufactory of sash door and blinds stood upon said premises, and that in June 1890, said mill and manufactory were burned; that since 1890 said premises have been assessed upon the assumption that said buildings were still on said premises while in fact there was no buildings thereon, of any value. We therefore recommend that said Haines be refunded the difference between the amount paid by him for taxes upon said premises since the date of said fire, to wit, June 2, 1890, and the amount which it would have been equitable for him to pay if said lots had been assessed at their true value; the amount of such difference recommended to this committee by the City Assessors is $210.30.

In the matter of the petition of J. H. Gilmore for a reduction of the interest upon general city taxes for the years 1893 and 1894, upon his premises being lot No. 103, on the east side of Lake avenue, we recommend that he be allowed to pay said taxes with interest at six per cent. per annum, together with the City Treasurer's expenses of sale, and other expenses within sixty days from the passage of this resolution and upon such payment the City Treasurer be authorized directed to cancel said taxes and charge the balance to erroneous assessments.

In the matter of the petition of Catherine Grehan for relief from assessment upon her property corner of York street and West avenue for the Colvin and Maple street sewer, we recommend that the same be denied.

Respectfully submitted,

WM. S. BEARD.
HENRY G. COOK.
JOHN B. SIMMELINK.
JOSEPH A. CRANE.
W. H. TRACY.
Assessment Committee.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE MAYOR.

By the Clerk—

Mayor's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., June 10, 1896.

To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

While approving the bill of $1,489.54 for printing the annual report of the executive board for the period from April 1, 1894, to January 1, 1896, I desire to call your attention to the increase in the cost of printing such report. The cost of printing the report from April 1, 1891, to April 1, 1892, was $611.61; from April 1, 1892, to April 1, 1893, $533.60; from April 1, 1893, to April 1, 1894, $1,175.26; and the bill in question of $1,489.54 for the period above named, the last report making a book of three hundred and sixty pages. The increased cost in some of the years was due to extra copies of the report. The report of 1891-1892 at a cost of $530.61 and the one for 1892-1893 at a cost of $611.60 furnish more information than is necessary, and there is no doubt but what the report for a single year can be condensed down so as not to cost over the sum of five hundred dollars per year.

The charter does not require the printing of such a report; but it has been the custom for twenty years to have them printed for distribution to officers of this and other cities. It is not for general distribution.

This work having been done in good faith, it should be paid for; but I desire to give notice now that I shall not approve bills for this kind of work in the future unless they are greatly reduced in amount, as an examination of the reports will show that a good deal of unnecessary matter is printed therein.

Very respectfully,

GEORGE E. WARNER,

Mayor.

Received, filed and published.

By the Clerk—

Mayor's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., June 18, 1896.

To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

The following resolutions: "By Ald. Adams—Resolved, That the City Clerk be, and he hereby is, directed to have printed 500 copies each of the following ordinances: 'An ordinance relating to auctioneers,' 'An ordinance relating to the protection from fires,' 'An ordinance relating to the fire marshal,' 'An ordinance relating to peddlers,' 'An ordinance relating to junk dealers,' all adopted April 14, 1896; 'An ordinance relating to barbed wire fences,' 'An ordinance relating to newsboys and bootblacks,' and 'An ordinance relating to stationary engineers,' all adopted May 26, 1896, and be it further resolved, that the City Clerk be, and he hereby is, directed to have printed 500 copies of every penal ordinance, as finally adopted by the Common Council, all of the above mentioned ordinances to be printed from the type as set up and used in the printed proceedings of the Common Council," said resolution having been adopted at your meeting of June 9, 1896, are returned without my approval for the following reasons:

First—The resolutions might just as well have directed the City Clerk to enter into a contract with the Rochester Printing Company, as that is the only object sought to be accomplished by requiring the ordinances to be printed from the type as set up and used in the printed proceedings of the common council. This is only an attempt to get rid of competition in the printing of the ordinances, as it necessarily limits the printing to that company. Unless the type has been kept set up since April 14, 1896, when most of these ordinances were adopted, it will be impossible for any paper to print the same under this resolution.

Second—The resolution requires the printing of eight ordinances and 500 copies of each. The only fair and business-like way to have them printed is to solicit bids for their printing, and let the contract to the lowest responsible bidder. Under the resolution in question no price is fixed and it is left entirely for the City Clerk to agree on the price for their printing.

Third—There is no necessity for the further printing of these ordinances, each of them having been printed in the Democrat and Chronicle ten times, and probably 100,000 copies have been thus printed and placed in circulation. It would seem as if they had been printed enough, and that this extra expense might be saved.

Fourth—Some time ago the city paid, I believe, the sum of $500 for compiling all the ordinances of the city. This expenditure was made for the purpose of getting the ordinances in shape to print in book form. This has never been done, and it would seem to be a useless expenditure of money to print 500 copies of these ordinances and then again print them in book form at a further expense.

For the aforesaid reasons I return said resolutions without my approval.

GEORGE E. WARNER,

Mayor.

Received, filed and published.

Ald. Adams moved that action on the resolution vetoed by the Mayor be postponed one week. Carried.

By Ald. Adams—

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—I beg leave to report that the contract between Charles F. Burns and Co., and the city of Rochester for the electric wiring of the new floors and new rooms in the City Hall building, and for concealing existing wiring in old halls has been prepared and executed in accordance with the resolution adopted by the Common Council May 26, 1896, and the original filed with the Mayor.

Respectfull submitted,
A. J. RODENBECK,
Corporation Counsel.

Received, filed and published.

By Ald. Selye—

Office of Executive Board,
Rochester, N. Y., June 23, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—Pursuant to a request, the Executive Board has invited the owners of property abutting on what is known as Lake View park, and all others interested in said park, to call at its office and state what sums they would respectively accept for the land proposed to be taken for Lake View park.

Upon information given by the people interested in this park, it is ascertained that the parties who laid out the original tract made it a condition that all property owners occupying or owning property on the tract should have the use of this street in common, without restrictions or interference of any property owner on the tract or about it. In other words, an easement was granted through this street, and other streets or alleys within the boundaries of this tract to all the owners of lots; and, therefore, it would seem that in order to condemn the right of way through the tract for a public thoroughfare, it is necessary to obtain the consent of all the persons interested or to acquire from each one, his or her interest, by condemnation proceedings.

A further difficulty seems to exist in the fact, that this tract of land was put into the hands of trustees, all of whom it is stated, are now dead, and their heirs or assigns should also be consulted in relation to the proposed undertaking; and in view of these conditions, the Executive Board recommend that the whole subject matter be referred to the Corporation Counsel to take such steps as he may deem expedient and legal to carry out the purpose of the ordinance introduced by Alderman Selye.

Respectfully,
THOMAS J. NEVILLE,
Clerk.

Received, filed and published.

By Ald. Selye—Whereas, As appears from the foregoing communication from the Executive Board, that no agreement for the purchase of lands necessary to be taken, or rights of way to be acquired for the opening of Lake View park, under final ordinance No. 6,328 has been made, therefore

Resolved, That the matter be referred to the Corporation Counsel for settlement and that he be, and hereby is, authorized and instructed to take and institute such proceedings as may be necessary, in case of failure to otherwise secure title to the lands needed, as provided by the charter of the city of Rochester.

Adopted.

By Ald. Selye—

Office of Executive Board,
Rochester, N. Y., June 23, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—It has come to the knowledge of the Executive Board, through the office of the City Engineer, that the people on Glenwood park are desirous of changing the style of the bridge proposed to be constructed across the ravine, so that it shall not have so steep an incline or approach that the present plans contemplate.

An estimate has been made by the City Engineer for the change suggested, and it shows that it will add to the cost of the approach, over and above the amount fixed in the present ordinance, for the sum of about $500.

Such change or alterations of the plans would require, perhaps, an abandonment of the present ordinance and an entire change of the plans and specifications as already provided.

In as much as the contract has already been executed on the part of the contractor, and the city, and the contractor is on the ground at work; the Executive Board, in view of the conditions now existing, does not feel warranted in authorizing any such change, or making any recommendations, only so far as to call to your attention the wishes of some of the property holders interested in this improvement.

The rights of the contract will necessarily be involved in the change proposed, and in view of the fact that the work has already been commenced, it is proper that your honorable body should at once dispose of the subject in such manner as you may deem expedient.

THOMAS J. NEVILLE,
Clerk.

Received, filed and published.

By Ald. Selye—Resolved, That the City Engineer be, and he hereby is, requested to modify the plans for the Glenwood park foot bridge, in accordance with the request of the taxpayers, so that it shall have a uniform grade from Champion street to First street.

Adopted.

By Ald. Johnston—

To the Honorable, the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—The Hemlock Lake Commission will require July 1st at least Twenty-five thousand dollars to complete obligations maturing at that date, and ask that an appropriation be made therefor.

Very Respectfully Yours,

Received, filed and published and referred to the Finance Committee.

By Ald. Reichenberger—

Fire Marshal's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., June 23, 1896.

To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—There is in course of construction by Mr. Barberry, on William street, in this city, a three-story structure and basement, of which all but the cellar walls, roof and floors are to be constructed of cement.

As this mode of construction is unknown in this city and on which the building ordinances of the city are silent, I have been unable to obtain any information as to the safety of a building constructed of such material. I have also received numerous complaints against the erection of said structure.

On the other hand, Mr. Barberry claims that it will be perfectly safe and that there is, in the city of Buffalo, a six-story structure of this material which has been built for years.

I would request that the chairman of your Wooden Building Committee and the Fire Marshal be given authority to visit Buffalo to make an investigation as to the advisability of allowing such a building to be erected here.

Very respectfully yours,
 JOHN A. P. WALTER,
 Fire Marshal.

Received, filed and published.

By Ald. Reichenberger—Resolved, That the chairman of the Wooden Building Committee and Fire Marshal be, and they hereby are, authorized to visit Buffalo for the purpose of making the investigation recommended in the foregoing communication from the Fire Marshal, said investigation to be made at the expense of the city.

Adopted.

ASSESSMENT COMMITTEE REPORT.

Rochester, N. Y., June 23, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council:
Gentlemen:—Your assessment Committee beg leave to submit the following report:

In the matter of the petition of Joseph and Marcus Michaels, executors of the will of Henry Michaels, deceased, for cancellation of the general city tax for the year 1895, upon the personal estate of said deceased, we find, that at the time such tax was assessed the estate of said Henry Michaels had been distributed among his heirs and said executors had no funds in their hands subject to taxation. We therefore recommend that said tax for the year 1895, be cancelled.

In the matter of the petition of the Phoenix Savings and Loan Association for leave to pay the general city tax for the years 1890, and 1891, upon lot No. 18, south side of Galusha street with interest at 6 per cent., we recommend that the petition be granted.

In the matter of the petition of Jane B. McPherson, for relief from assessment on lots 2 and 3 in McPherson's subdivision of lots 153, and 155 and the west parts of lots 154, and 156 of the Rapids tract, we find that an error was made in assessing said premises for 99-1-4 feet frontage for the Plymouth avenue asphalt improvement, whereas said premises only had a frontage of 94 feet, and therefore recommend that the petition be granted.

Respectfully submitted,
WM. S. BEARD,
HENRY G. COOK,

COMMUNICATIONS.

By Ald. Johnston—

City Treasurer's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., June 30, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen: The City Clerk has sent me certificate as follows, of action taken at your meeting held June 23rd:

“By Ald. Selye—Resolved, That the resolution passed by the Common Council June 9, 1896, confirming the assessment roll for West street extension, under final ordinance No. 5,137, be, and the same hereby is in all things reconsidered.

“Adopted.

“By Ald. Selye—Resolved, That the assessment roll for West street extension under final ordinance No. 5, 137, be, and the same hereby is, in all things set aside.

“Adopted.”

I do not presume to criticize your honorable body in this case, or in recalling rolls for the following-named improvements:

Plymouth avenue cement walks.
Bronson avenue railroad bridge.
East Main street bridge.
Maple street asphalt pavement.
Denver street extension.

Still, the amount of money paid by the city represented by these improvements is $104,068.91, and in my judgment is too large a sum to remain outstanding, especially at a time when the city needs all moneys collectable, to meet its financial obligations, in regard to local improvements.

Is there not too much time from completion and acceptance of work, to the time the rolls are placed in the Treasurer's hands for collection?

I have had a list prepared of such improvements, 35 in number, on which the city has paid $276,824.55. No rolls for same have yet been received.

Among the larger improvements are:

Oxford street and Monroe avenue sewer	$12,613 04
Mt. Vernon avenue and Meigs street sewer	15,798 56
Goodman and Clifford street sewer	32,330 12
Court and Williams street sewer	24,502 80
Richards street outlet sewer	13,130 25
West Main street curbs and walks	13,349 69
South avenue improvement	40,998 76
Court street stone arch bridge	70,000 00
South Culver street macadam imp't	17,148 66
Ambrose street bridge imp't	11,695 88

Respectfully submitted,
S. B. WILLIAMS,
Treasurer.

City Treasurer's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., June 30, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council of the City of Rochester, N. Y.:

Gentlemen: At the suggestion of the Finance Committee, I transmit herewith a statement of the city's indebtedness under date of June 24, 1896, showing the amount as being $9,822,295, made up as follows:

Net indebtedness, January 4, 1896 $10,559,626
(See statement of items printed on page 50 of the 1896 council proceedings.)

Less the following amounts:
Receipts from January 4 to June 24, 1896—

General Taxes	$200,465
Street Sprinkling Fund ..	25,084
Local Improvement Fund	250,862

$476,411

Also the following items provided for in the 1896 Tax Levy:

Erroneous Assessments, 1895	$ 1,610
Local Assessments, 1895..	3,758
Deficiency Items, 1895....	136,600
Balance on Police Station building ..	33,952
Sinking Fund Credits ..	85,000

$260,920 737,331

Net indebtedness, June 24, 1896.. $9,822,295

Sub-divided as follows:
Bonded Indebtedness $8,503,000
Floating Indebtedness 1,319,295

Total Indebtedness $9,822,295

The amount of floating indebtedness includes the liability of $200,000 for the Hemlock lake water-shed commissioners' use, and the contemplated sale of bonds for this amount to-morrow, July 1st, will not increase the city's indebtedness any, but will simply change its form by increasing its bonded floating indebtedness to $8,703,000 and reducing its floating indebtedness to $1,119,295, or a total of $9,822,295.

These amounts are exclusive of the moneys borrowed since January 4th last for the city's current expenses in anticipation of the yearly taxes which have already been levied, and will be in process of collection during July.

The city's real estate valuation last year was $99,389,050, and this year it is $100,054,350 and whichever amount is used as the basis of computation, the city's indebtedness is now clearly within the ten per cent. limit prescribed by the state constitution.

Respectfully submitted,
S. B. WILLIAMS,
Treasurer.

The Corporation Counsel addressed the Board on the subject of the proposed ordinance prohibiting the use of sidewalks by cycles, etc., and submitted the following opinion;

Rochester, N. Y., June 27, 1896.

A. J. Rodenbeck, Esq., Corporation Counsel:

Dear Sir:—I have considered the questions upon which my opinion has been requested, and respectfully submit the following answer:

1st. All municipal powers are derived from the Legislature and it follows that the authority of the city over streets and sidewalks and the uses to which they may respectively be appropriated depends entirely upon its charter or legislative enactments applicable to them.

2nd. The Commissioners of Public Works are Commissioners of Highways for the city and have, in general terms, the care and superintendence of its streets, and may "make, grade and improve sidewalks about the same, or any part thereof (sec. 163), as they shall deem expedient (sec. 210), and keep them in repair and free from obstructions (sec. 212)."

3rd. The Common Council may make ordinances or by-laws for certain purposes, and, among others (sec. 40, sub. 7) "to prevent the cumbering of streets in any manner whatever (sub. 8), to prevent and punish horse racing and immoderate driving and riding in any street."

4th. These powers are preventive—designed to secure to the public the free and unobstructed use of streets and sidewalks, according to their original purpose. In 1863, May 5th, the Common Council of the city, still further to promote this object, enacted certain ordinances by which obstructions in the streets were forbidden and penalties imposed for causing them (secs. 1-9), and by sec. 10 declared that "No person shall draw or propel any wheelbarrow, hand cart, sleigh, or other carriage or vehicle, or lead, ride, or drive any horse, beast of burden, or any cattle or swine over or upon any sidewalk, except in passing into or from any lot," and imposed a penalty for each offense. Undoubtedly the Common Council can repeal this ordinance.

It is not necessary to inquire how such repeal, and the omission to take equivalent action, would affect one who, in reliance upon it, drove his horse upon the sidewalk, or propelled his vehicle upon it, or how the city would be concerned, if, by his so doing, an injury occurred to a foot passenger.

The precise question is whether the city authorities may permit the use of the sidewalks of the city by persons riding bicycles.

5th. I find no legislation in the charter or elsewhere which expressly, or by implication, warrants such permission by the Common Council. Any habitual obstruction in any form of a sidewalk is a public nuisance, and the municipality can neither create nor permit it.

It is apparent from the charter that the roadbed might be properly divided into parts—one, a street, for the use of all persons, whether on foot or with horses, or with horses and carriages; the other as a sidewalk to the free use of which foot passengers are exclusively entitled. It is for their safety and convenience. The expediency of such division has been recognized by the city. Sidewalks have been constructed.

6th. General legislative policy requires that the right to such exclusive use should not be infringed upon. Sidewalks in incorporated villages and cities were provided for by their charters. In a general law passed in 1863 (Ch. 93) the making of sidewalks along and as part of any highway of this State was authorized exclusively for foot passengers. By the Laws of 1874, Chapter 570, this act was so amended as to subject any person driving any vehicle, horse, or other animal upon such sidewalk to prosecution for a misdemeanor and upon conviction a fine of $50, or imprisonment in the county jail. In 1881 (Ch. 233) the same subject was again treated and the punishment for the offense increased. Other statutes are to the same effect. In 1892, however, a general act relating to highways was passed, constituting Chapter 19 of the general laws. Laws of 1892, Vol. 2, p. 2,220, and by this the distinction between street and sidewalk emphatically marked. The term carriages used in that statute is defined as including "stage coaches, wagons, carts, sleighs, sleds and every other carriage or vehicle used for the transportation of persons and goods, or either of them, and bicycles, tricycles, and all other vehicles propelled by manumotive or pedomotive power."

The statute assigns a place for the bicycle and for its use. It is "a carriage," "a vehicle," and cannot be excluded by any municipal authority "from the free use of any highway, public street, driveway or place at any time where the same is open to the free use of persons having or using other pleasure carriages." The place and time, when and where the bicycle may be used is there clearly defined. So far as that statute is concerned, however, it does not prevent the proper authorities from directing or determining the rate of speed with which bicycles may be propelled, nor does it prohibit the proper authorities from requiring, or prohibiting the use of bells, lamps or other appurtenances, nor does it prevent those authorities from prohibiting "the use of any vehicle upon that part of the highway or street commonly known as the foot path or sidewalk." So far as this statute, therefore, is concerned: (1st). It forbids the exclusion of the bicycle from the use of the highway or street when it is open to other carriages. (2nd) It does not prevent the proper authorities from (1) requiring, (2) directing, (3) prohibiting the use of bells, lamps or other appurtenances, or (4th) prevent the proper authorities from prohibiting the use of any vehicle upon the sidewalk. The varying language of the statute in these respects is noticeable. The authorities must not exclude the bicyclist from the highway—they may control his speed—they may require him to use both bells, lamps, and other appurtenances, or they may prohibit their use; but as to the sidewalk, the authorities are only empowered to prohibit the use of the sidewalk, they are not empowered to permit the use of the sidewalk by a bicycle. A by-law or ordinance contrary to the general legislation or the principle on which it stands would be void.

In my opinion, therefore, (1st). Legal power has not been conferred upon the authorities of this city to permit the use of bicycles upon its sidewalks. (2nd). If, nevertheless, they should give such permission, and any person should be harmed by one acting under its authority, the city would be liable in the same manner as the person who inflicted the injury, and irrespective of any question of negligence.

COMMUNICATIONS.

By the Clerk—

Office of the Executive Board,
Rochester, N. Y., July 7, 1896.

To the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—The ordinance and contract for the improvement of Syracuse street required that the sewer in the street should be cleaned before the pavement was laid. In doing this work it was discovered that the sewer was partially crushed, and it became necessary to remove the tile and relay about four hundred feet of new 18-inch sewer at a cost of about six hundred dollars.

This sewer was built in 1884 of vitrified tile, and was, doubtless, duly inspected by the city and was accepted for the proposed work. The cause of this condition of the sewer has not been definitely ascertained, and the Executive Board is of the opinion that some allowance should be made the property owners on this street from the public funds as a matter of equity and justice, as they had paid, not many years ago, for a sewer which should, under proper conditions as to material and construction, have lasted an indefinite length of time.

It is, therefore, recommended that the suggestion herein made by the Executive Board, be referred to a committee of your honorable body for further consideration.

Respectfully,

THOS. J. NEVILLE, Clerk.

Received, filed and published and referred to Committee on Assessments.

Rochester, N. Y., July 1, 1896.

To the Honorable Board of Health of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen: In reference to a discussion which Health Commissioner Mr. Fritzsche had with us, we hereby agree to give free baths to the public every morning from 5 to 8 o'clock in the morning till the city is prepared to do so itself.

Our institution is constructed to enable a crowd of three hundred people at a time to partake of the benefit of a bath in open air and fresh Hemlock water, which adds, it is no doubt, to the public welfare a good deal, but the Hemlock water rates are pretty high, and therefore we would kindly request this Honorable Board to induce the Executive Board to allow us lower rates. As this is all we ask in return for the services we do to the city, we hope to secure your support in this matter, at the same time we think that this is the simplest way to settle the free-bath question in the city temporarily.

To judge from what the papers write and what we see and hear every day, free baths are the desired wish of our best citizens.

Please give this matter your careful attention and oblige,

Yours very respectfully,
PETZ BROS.

It was unanimously adopted by the Committee on Public Baths that the proposition submitted by Petz Bros. be referred to your Honorable body for action, with the recommendation of the committee that it be accepted.

MAX BRICKNER,

Theodore S. Pulver, Esq., City Clerk:

Office of Executive Board,
Rochester, N. Y., July 7, 1896.

To the Common Council :

Gentlemen:—The attention of the Executive Board has been frequently called to the confusion arising from several streets and alleys in the city bearing names which are identically the same, or so near alike, that much annoyance and delays are caused not only to strangers, but as well to every citizen, business and professional man, corporations and companies in this community.

It is suggested by the Executive Board, in view of this liability to confound the names of streets which are located, in many cases in opposite portions of the city, that the subject matter of this communication be referred to a committee to consider and make such recommendations as it may deem proper. The names of the streets and alleys referred to is herewith submitted.

Respectfully,
THOMAS J. NEVILLE,
Clerk.

To the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—Contractors, engaged in doing work for the city are greatly annoyed by having their lanterns and barriers which are required by their contracts, to be placed upon their work while in progress, stolen or removed by malicious or dishonest persons, and they, therefore, request that some action be taken to prevent the loss of property, as well as to relieve them of responsibility on account of accident.

It is urged, that a penal ordinance should be adopted by your honorable body imposing a heavy penalty on any persons or person found guilty of disturbing or removing such danger lights or barriers which are erected to protect the public from damage to their property or serious personal injury.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen:-The Forestry Committee have received many requests from citizens in regard to the tussock moth which is causing much danger to the street trees of the city, and urging their destruction. This committee are unable to effect the result desired without financial assistance from the city. We therefore ask that the sum of $500 be granted by the Common Council to the Forestry Committee, to be used exclusively for the purpose of eradicating the evil complainedof. We have succeeded in destroying such moths in all the parks. No attention has been given to the trees of the city streets, there being no funds applicable thereto.

To the 'Honorable Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—On April 14, 1896, your honorable body adopted a peddler's ordinance by the provisions of which licenses of this class are good for one year from date of issue. Previous to the adoption of this ordinance such licenses issued under the former ordinance expired July 1st.

Several persons who procured licenses just previous to April 14th complain that they should be compelled to take out another license this year.

I have promised to bring this matter to your attention. The question involved appears to be this: "Can the Common Council extend the life of licenses issued under the former ordinance if it should be deemed expedient to do so?"

Respectfully yours,
THEODORE S. PULVER,
Clerk.

To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Since the adoption of the cycle ordinance on June 30th by the provisions of which the registration of bicycles is no longer compulsory no wheels have been registered in this office, although a number of cyclists have made application for registration.

In conversation with cyclists I have learned that many wheelmen approve of the registration feature of the old ordinance and regret that it was not incorporated in the new ordinance. They say that the assistance afforded by the registered number in recovering lost or stolen wheels was well worth the expense connected with registration.

In view of these facts I have decided to ask your honorable body for permission to continue the registration of cycles and to keep the usual records thereof. Such registration, of course, to be voluntary on the part of cyclists.

Respectfully yours,
THEODORE S. PULVER,
City Clerk.

By Ald. Adams—Resolved, That the City Clerk be, and he hereby is, authorized to continue the registration of cycles and to issue serial numbers to cyclists upon application for the sum of twenty-five cents; the receipts from such registration to be deposited with the Treasurer to the credit of the Contingent Fund; such registration to be entirely voluntary on the part of the owners of cycles.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE MAYOR.

By the Clerk—

Mayor's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., July 8, 1896.

To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

The salaries of the following persons for the month of June, 1896, to wit: George G. Foster, City Sealer; Shirley R. Snow, M. C. Mason, L. B. Hawley, Emma S. Sayles and Lettie H. Woodruff, City Physicians; are hereby disapproved and vetoed for the following reasons:

George G. Foster, Emma S. Sayles and Lettie H. Woodruff have not passed the Civil Service examination for the positions held by them.

L. B. Hawley, M. C. Mason and Shirley R. Snow have not been certified by the Civil Service Board to the Common Council and appointed by the Common Council after such certification. The appointment of said persons by the Common Council was a violation of the Civil Service laws of the State of New York. In these cases notice was filed after their appointment that such appointments were in violation of the Civil Service laws of the State of New York.

For the reasons aforesaid, the salaries of said officials are not approved.

GEO. E. WARNER, Mayor.

Received, filed and published.

Ald. Ford moved that so much of the resolution vetoed by the Mayor as relates to the payment of the salaries of George G. Foster, M. C. Mason, Lettie H. Woodruff, Shirley R. Snow, Emma S. Sayles and L. B. Hawley, lie on the table until the next regular meeting. Carried.

By the Clerk—

Mayor's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., July 16, 1896.

To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

I return to you without my approval the report of the city property committee, relating to the insurance of the school buildings, and the resolutions approving and adopting the same, adopted at your meeting of July 7, 1896, for the following reasons:

First. After a careful examination of the report of the committee, and from a personal inspection of a number of the schools in question, and from information received from individuals thoroughly posted on the subject of school insurance, I am of the opinion that the interests of the city will be well taken care of, if the insurance should be reduced from $350,000, the present amount, to $300,000, rather than an increase to $360,000, as proposed. These schools have been practically built in sections, a part at one time, then at a later period a large addition or wing would be added, so that, in fact, a good many of them are (like No. 14) two separate schools joined together, so that in case a fire started in one part, it would in all probability be extinguished before it destroyed any more than the part in which it started. In former times, when all the buildings were heated by stoves, there was more liability of fire than now, when all the schools have the best and safest system of heating; lessening thereby to a large extent the danger of fire. In considering the amount of insurance necessary to carry we should also take into consideration the fact that in the last ten years, or even in the last five years, our fire department has greatly increased in numbers, and in efficiency of service; and also that our water supply is better now than it has been in a number of years past; and we should also take into consideration the fact that a number of our schools are situate near the different fire department houses, and taking these several facts into consideration, it would seem that there is not so much necessity of carrying so much insurance now as there was even three years ago.

Second. The method by which this insurance was parceled out among the committee, each taking one-fifth and giving his share to whom he desired, does not commend itself favorably to my consideration. The public is entitled to the judgment of the whole committee upon each agent and the company in which the insurance is to be placed, without having the judgment of the individual members of the committee biased by the fact that each one by an arrangement between themselves was to be given the privilege of placing his one-sixth without interference from the rest of the committee; it was the result of this arrangement which placed $65,000 of this insurance with one agent, a non-resident of the city, while insurance was taken away from agents in this city who for the past three years have carried the same and which left other insurance agents of this city out entirely. The placing of so large an amount in the hands of one agent does not seem right or fair; after giving our home company a fair share, the rest should be divided among the agents of this city, providing the present system of division is to stand.

Third. The report of the committee is defective in that it does not contain the name of a single insurance company in which this insurance is to be placed; if I am called upon to approve the present system of division I should at least be informed as to the names of the companies and the amount to be placed with each company, so I can ascertain if they are responsible.

Fourth. I am advised that if sealed bids should be requested for all of this insurance that a much lower premium could be secured than the present rate, and in responsible companies I see no reason why this cannot be adopted, and thus save the city a considerable sum of money.

In this connection I desire to remind the city property committee that there is danger of there being a deficiency in their fund at the end of the year, as there will be an expense of one thousand dollars, if not more, on the police station barn, which was not provided for in the tax levy; also a large expenditure at the city building, which, I am informed, was not provided for in the tax levy. For these reasons the committee should adopt all means which would keep their expenses within the amount allowed them.

For the foregoing reasons the report and resolutions are returned without my approval.

GEORGE E. WARNER,
Mayor.

Received, filed and published.

Ald. Ford moved that the resolutions vetoed by the Mayor lie on the table until the next regular meeting. Carried.

By Ald. Johnston—

Rochester, N. Y., July 20, 1896.

To the Honorable, the Common Council of
the City of Rochester, N. Y.:

Gentlemen:—For some time I have believed that the salary expenditures of the Executive Board through the Water Works Department were excessive. For the last two months I have withheld my signature and vote of approval from the budgets containing them, and I give herewith some of the reasons for my belief and action.

The Executive Board presents monthly its statement of these expenditures, subdivided through five departments, viz.: Operating Expenses, Service and Repairs, Meter Department, Barn and Pump House. In addition, it treats separately all salary expenditures charged to the Water Pipe Extension Fund, and the Water Distributing System, although they are practically all Water Works expenditures, and should be charged directly to the Water Works Fund.

To enable you to have a good understanding of the subject, I have prepared the following summary of the June expenditures, as presented by the Executive Board.

partments.

Now, for the purpose of determining whether expenditures are excessive or not, you are invited to consider these various departments separately. I would say that the opinions I mention most freely in confirmation of my own, are those furnished by Chief Engineer Kuichling, through the courtesy of the Executive Board.

In further explanation, I would also say that the number of employees Mr. Kuichling authorizes me to quote is the minimum that will be sufficient for the regular routine service, and that he explained fully and satisfactorily wherein additional employees have been and may be necessary in cases of emergency.

First, Service and Repairs:
The number of employees in this department is 35, classified as follows:

- 1 acting superintendent.
- 2 foremen.
- 1 clerk.
- 1 inspector of tapping.
- 2 tappers.
- 1 plumber.
- 1 pipe fitter.
- 1 blacksmith.
- 23 servicemen.
- 3 night watchmen.

Chief Engineer Kuichling tells me that 20 employees, classified as follows, are sufficient for the routine service:

- 1 acting superintendent.
- 1 foreman.
- 1 clerk; with understanding that part of his time shall be devoted to meter department.
- 2 inspectors of tapping.
- 2 tappers.
- 1 plumber.
- 1 carpenter.
- 1 blacksmith.
- 3 servicemen.
- 3 night watchmen.

Second.—Inspection:

The number of inspectors employed is 21, while the number needed varies from 3 to 10, according to the season and work in progress. Some inspectors are needed in connection with all Water Pipe Extension work, and their duties may be stated thus: One competent person to inspect all shipments of new pipe received; one inspector to supervise pipe hauling, unloading and proper delivery; one inspector to supervise the work of each firm executing a pipe extension contract with the city. It is seldom that more than three such contracts are being executed at one time. This would limit the need of contract work inspectors to three, and furnish occupation for all of the aforesaid during only a portion of each year or while the contractors are in process with their work: One inspector or clerk at the pipe yard; three inspectors to approve and report the services in new buildings, or the changed or enlarged services in old buildings. They would all be classified as follows:

Six contract work inspectors averaging not exceeding six months service yearly and frequently a shorter time.

Three building service inspectors for continuous work.

Third.—Flushing:

Three men are employed in this department the year around, although they do not appear to have worked full time or drawn full pay this last month. Chief Engineer Kuichling informs me that two are ample for the regular routine service.

Fourth.—Supervision of conduit lines:

The employees in this department are one superintendent and three assistants or overseers. Mr. Kuichling says they are all needed and the claim seems a reasonable one.

Fifth—Gate House Keepers:

The present number is five; one at Hemlock Lake; one at Rush Reservoir and three at Mt. Hope Reservoir. Mr. Kuichling says that two at Mt. Hope Reservoir are sufficient for the service.

Sixth—Meter setting and repairs:

The number of employes in this department is 12, classified as follows:

- 1 superintendent.
- 3 meter setters.
- 6 meter repairers.
- 2 meter inspectors.

Mr. Kuichling says that 7 employes, classified as follows, are sufficient for the service:

- 1 superintendent.
- 2 meter setters.
- 4 meter repairers.

Seventh—Meter reading:

The number of employes here is 6 and they read all meters and deliver all meter bills or statements once each month. This number is undoubtedly needed for the service, and I forego any farther comment at this time, for later I may wish to ask you to consider specially the entire meter question, its cost of maintenance and the inadequacy of the charges for all metered water and service.

Eighth—Barn:

The number of employes is four, including the night man, and it does not appear excessive or unreasonable for the service performed and expected.

Ninth—Holly Pumping Station:

The number of employes here is six; two engineers, two firemen and two helpers, and Mr. Kuichling informs me that the two helpers are only needed during the Winter months.

Tenth—Engineering:

The employes in this department are six, classified as follows:

- 1 engineer.
- 1 assistant engineer.
- 1 draughtsman.
- 2 clerks.
- 1 leveler.

They are all needed excepting the leveler. This latter position was considered essential in connection with the enlargement of the distributing system, but inasmuch as the extension of the system has been discontinued for the year, there seems no farther need of service in this position.

Eleventh—Clerical:

The number of employes in this department exclusive of Messrs. Neville, Daus and Clarke, is 15, while in my opinion they should not exceed 9 or 10. This number is considered ample for the service under existing conditions, including the making of all meter statements monthly. Many of these statements now run less than fifty cents a month, and it seems unnecessary to make monthly charges and statements for these small amounts. If the smaller statements were made less frequently, say once in either three or six months, considerable work and stationery would be saved, and, I believe, the patrons would be better pleased.

The following summary will show in the respective columns the number of employes carried on the Pay Roll and the number needed according to the opinions of experts:

Departments.	Employes on June Pay Roll.	Number Actually Needed.
Service and repairs.	35	20
Inspection	21	6

ployes 44

The salaries paid are liberal in all cases and in many excessive. The salary question is naturally a sensitive one and I prefer to withhold criticism in individual instances, but on the basis of generous salaries, substantially the same as those prevailing, the monthly and annual Pay Roll of the employes needed would approximate $6,000.00 a month and $72,000.00 a year, instead of nearly $9,000.00 a month and $106,000.00 a year, the amounts now paid.

In other words, the Executive Board members have been and are squandering from thirty to thirty-five thousand dollars annually on needless employes in the Water Works Department alone, and this at a time when the Executive Board members must know that the city's indebtedness is perilously near the ten per cent. limit prescribed in the State Constitution.

The aforesaid are some of my reasons for believing that expenditures through the Water Works Department are excessive. Other competent and disinterested authorities could be quoted to corroborate the opinions already given, if necessary. I have also given considerable time and study to the subject, and am convinced that the Executive Board will not make any serious effort to curtail expenditures, unless compelled to by this Council, or public sentiment, or both. While I consider the Executive Board primarily and directly responsible for the excessive expenditures, the members of this Council also have the responsibility of permitting these excesses to go unnoticed, unrebuked and unchecked.

These expenditures were discussed with Executive Board members several months ago, and I hoped and expected that they would have been lessened before this. The situation is now easily stated:

The city's indebtedness is bordering on the ten per cent. constitutional limit and its water system remains uncompleted. In addition, city property is obligated for the city's share of the cost of the new Court House building, amounting to at least $700,000.00; also the property owners in the northwestern sections of the city are obligated for their share of the cost of the West Side Trunk Sewer, amounting to at least $300,000.00. The general city taxes are the highest in the city's history. Business conditions generally are depressed and many incomes are lessened. Many mechanics and wage earners are working on short time at reduced wages, while a goodly number of industrious mechanics and wage earners are without any occupation whatever. The result of last November's election clearly indicated a desire for improved financial conditions and reduced expenditures.

The problem is, not to ask the Executive Board to dismiss a single necessary employe, or to reduce salaries below a fair, reasonable amount, but simply to insist that its members stop their extravagant practices, keep their expenditures within reasonable limits and give the pocketbooks of the taxpayers some little consideration. The problem can be solved immediately by your withholding your vote of approval from the Executive Board's monthly budgets when presented. Will you do it?

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES JOHNSTON.

Office of the Executive Board,
Rochester, N. Y., July 30, 1896.

To the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—I am directed by the East Side Trunk Sewer Commission to request you to authorize the issue of the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) of East Side Trunk sewer bonds to meet the indebtedness incurred and any expenditures that may be necessary in the closing up of the affairs of the commission.

There are amounts due contractors which are held in trust by the City Treasurer, for a certain period of time, as guarantees for the maintenance of the work, and these amounts will have to be paid as they fall due.

The commission does not except that ten thousand dollars ($10,000) will be necessary to pay all obligations, but as it understands, the bonds are issued in five thousand dollar ($5,000) lots; and as their known indebtedness now exceeds that sum, they are obliged to ask your honorable body to pass to their credit the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) as above stated.

Yours respectfully,

THOS. J. NEVILLE, Clerk.

MISCELLANEOUS COMMUNICATIONS.

By Ald. Rauber—

Rochester, N. Y. July 30, 1896.

To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—For the past twenty years the market question has been before the public, but never in the history of Rochester has the demand for public market been greater than at the present time.

In order to provide the city with the public market, suitably located and equipped for the transaction of a general market business, we make you the following proposition:

We will at once, without unnecessary delay, equip and operate a public market for the city of Rochester at our own expense, provided the city will give us a franchise for twenty-five years and guarantee us protection.

Our location on Mortimer street is without a doubt the most central plot available for this purpose.

Respectfully submitted,
OTTO BROS.

To the Honorable, the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen: Owing to the fact that nearly all physicians are making a practical use of the bicycle in their daily visits to the sick, and especially so in cases of emergency; and recognizing the impassable condition of many of the streets and roadways of the city on and through which they are frequently obliged to go, can you not, in your wisdom, pass a resolution or modification of the recently adopted bicycle ordinance to the effect that every physician, upon application to the authority delegated (mayor or city clerk) shall be furnished with a certificate permitting the use of the sidewalks on all streets wherein he shall deem it proper and more expedient, whenever he shall be responding to a call or in the performance of his duty as such physician.

I would at the same time suggest that each physician be required to wear at such times a badge or pin, bearing upon it the red cross—or perhaps what would be better, a band of white cloth about the sleeve of the coat with the red cross thereon, such as is worn by members of the ambulance corps in the army and National Guard.

This suggestion is not made in the interests of wheelmen, or in a spirit of criticism upon the action of the honorable council in barring wheels from the use of the sidewalks, but is in the interest of humanity.

Many of the emergency calls are at night, after the cars have stopped running; so that such means of transit are impossible. The delay of harnessing a horse may mean the death of the patient, and, no doubt, has often prevented the saving of a life. In this respect the bicycle has proved itself of incalculable value. Always ready, if the coast is clear and the way passable, the time lost is practically nothing. But with some of our streets in the condition they are at present, should the night be a wet one a violation of the ordinance is the only recourse to be had.

I am sure no harm can come from following this suggestion, and even with the possibility of an occasional practice of fraud on the part of some evil minded person, the good that will come from the adoption of such an exempting clause will redound to the honor of our city and to each member of your honorable body.

Very respectfully yours,
R. H. LANSING.

To the Honorable, the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—Some five years since, water mains were laid in North avenue, presumably for the accommodation of the owners of vacant lots in the "Jackson Tract," it being the impression then that said lots would be built up in the near future.

Said mains extended on the front of my premises about eight hundred feet, leaving the terminus nearly one-half mile from my residence on Norton street. During all this time, in addition to the heavy burden of taxation, I have been charged $16 a year water tax, at the rate of two cents per foot on said mains, and have not been permitted to take water therefrom, and have had no use whatever of it.

I think this an unjust taxation upon my property, and respectfully ask you to take this subject into consideration, and remit the water tax already paid, and absolve me from future tax thereon until I am permitted to use the same.

Hoping you will give this your careful attention, I am,

Respectfully yours,
MARTA E. DICKINSON,
Per. P. P. DICKINSON.

ASSESSMENT COMMITTEE REPORT.

To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—Your Assessment Committee beg leave to submit the following report:

In the matter of the petition of Margaret Stephenson for cancellation of the general city tax for the year 1896 upon lot No. 109 of H. E. Hooker sub-division on the east side of Oxford street, we find that said lot was taken by the city of Rochester for the extension of Harvard street, and the report of the Commissioners of Appraisal was confirmed by the Common Council in March, 1896. We therefore recommend that the petition be granted.

In the matter of the petition of Marvin A. Culver for cancellation of general city tax for the year 1896, upon premises taken by the city for the Harvard street extension We recommend that the petition be granted.

In the matter of the petition of Sarah A. Garfield for cancellation of the assessment for the boulevard outlet sewer, upon her premises, being lot No. 111, on the south side of Flower City Park. We recommend that the petition be denied.

In the matter of the petition of the Monroe Avenue Methodist Church for cancellation of general city tax for the year 1895, upon its premises, situate at the corner of Alexander and Cobb streets, we find that the property of said church is regularly occupied as a place of worship, and is exempt by statute from said tax, and therefore recommend that the petition be granted.

In the matter of the petition of Nicholas Bardo for relief from assessment upon his lot at the corner of Centennial and Campbell streets for the construction of the Colvin and Maple street sewer built in 1891, we find that Mr. Bardo's property drains into the Campbell street sewer, which has its outlet through the Lyell avenue and Saxton street sewer and Mr. Bardo consequently does not use the Colvin and Maple street outlet and should be relieved from the assessment therefor; and we therefore, recommend that his petition be granted.

In the matter of the petition of Christine Bergh, et. al., owners of property on Jefferson avenue, Magnolia street and Seward street for relief from the assessment for the construction of the Genesee street sewer and outlet. We find that the property of the petitioners was assessed for the Hawley and Seward street sewer under Ordinance No. 3,070, and this sewer was never of any benefit to it, and the petitioners should be allowed rebates therefor, as follows:

Christine Bergh, $7.56; P. McBride, $.84; H. F. Boylan, $.84; John Stein, $1.76; Catherine Murphy, $.84; Elizabeth Patterson $.84; Mary E. Westfall, $.96.

In all other respects we recommend that the petition be denied.

In the matter of the petition of various parties for relief from assessment for the Thomas and other streets outlet sewer, under ordinance No. 5,526, upon lots on Maria street, we recommend the adoption of the report made to this committee upon this petition by Mr. J. Y. McClintock, dated May 5, 1896, and recommend that rebates be made as follows, to the petitioners, viz:

Henry Eisenberg of lot 135, $16.60; Jacob Malleck on lot 134, $16.60; Wilhelm Wechbrodt on lot 43 and 47, $13.28; August Wechbrodt on lot 1 and 136, $16.60; John Merkel on lot 149, $18.41. And we recommend that the prayer of Carl Vohs be denied.

In the matter of the petition of Florence A. Burke for the correction of the general city tax upon her premises, being lot No. 6 on the east side of Rutger street, we recommend that the petitioner be allowed to pay the taxes upon her said premises upon an assessed valuation of $4,500, amounting to $89.63, in place of $139.43 the taxes upon her premises upon an assessed valuation of $7,000, which latter amount is erroneous.

In the matter of the petition of Rev. F. P. Arthur, for rebate of a portion of the general city tax paid by him upon his premises situate on the east side of Boardman avenue, we find that Mr. Arthur is exempt by statute to the extent of $1,500 of real estate, the benefit of which exemption was not given him in the general city tax last year. We therefore recommend that a rebate of $23.63, which we deem just in the premises be allowed to him.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

WM. S. BEARD,
JOSEPH A. CRANE,
JOHN B. SIMMELINK,
HENRY G. COOK,
W. H. TRACY,

Committee.

Gentlemen: In explanation of the foregoing resolutions, I would say that the city has recently experienced considerable difficulty in selling some of its bonds, because of a belief that its indebtedness exceeded the ten per cent. real-estate limit prescribed by the state constitution.

The city's indebtedness under date of January 4, 1896, as shown by the treasurer's statements, was $10,559,626, and under date of June 24, 1896, it was $9,822,295.

Last year's real estate valuation, the one applicable to the question, was $99,389,050, and, therefore, the present indebtedness may fairly be considered as clearly within the constitutional limit. During the early portion of the year there was some doubt in my mind about the necessity of considering contractors' acceptances and notes issued for local improvements as city indebtedness recognized by the constitution.

As the result of a recent conference with the Corporation Counsel, City Treasurer and some members of the Finance Committee, and considerable study on my part, I am now fully convinced that the only items of our city indebtedness excluded under the constitution are the obligations issued in anticipation of the collection of the general city taxes, and that all other items of indebtedness or loaning of credit are to be excluded in determining the legality of all city obligations issued in excess of the constitutional limit. Further, I am advised by eminent legal authority that these conclusions are not only correct, but that the moment contracts for local improvements are made the city becomes actually liable for their amounts and also practically liable the moment that final ordinances are adopted by this council.

In the interest of safety and the maintenance of the city's credit, this is a proper standpoint from which to view the city's indebtedness, and I therefore ask you to consider the city's prospective financial condition under date of December 31st next, estimated in a conservative manner.

LIABILITIES.

Indebtedness June 24, 1896.....	$9,822,295 00
Interest on East Side trunk sewer bonds	58,600 00
West Side sewer bond, inadvertently omitted in former statement	25,000 00
Unpaid general taxes December 31, 1896, estimated	200,000 00

Ordinances adopted in 1895 for work to be completed in 1896	302,322 00
Ordinances adopted in 1896....	298,320 00
Wm. Hamilton's claim for water rights damages	20,000 00

Aggregating $10,726,537 00

RESOURCES.

Receipts for taxes due prior to January 1, 1896	$ 30,000 00
Receipts for local improvements	270,000 00
	$300,000 00

Estimated indebtedness December 31, 1896 $10,426,537 00

In addition to these amounts first ordinances aggregating $98,000 are now pending before the council, and it is safe to assume that the council will be asked to adopt ordinances aggregating an additional $100,000 before the year closes, unless a halt is called. Also it must not be forgotten that there is an urgent need of $200,000 for the completion of the water system. These items added to the city's estimated indebtedness raise the amount of the city's prospective liabilities to alarming proportions, and it is plain that our indebtedness will soon exceed the constitutional limit and be in part illegal.

Under existing and admitted conditions, the only exemption from the ten per cent. limit, permitted by the constitution, is the amount of obligations issued to or to be issued in anticipation of the collection of taxes, but this exemption is of no avail in computing the amount of the city's indebtedness for other purposes.

The city's indebtedness should never have been permitted to reach an amount where its legality could be questioned, and now that such an amount has been reached, it becomes the urgent duty of every member of this council to assist to the fullest measure of his ability in lessening it. This can be done by curtailing expenditures wherever practicable, calling a halt on all local improvements that have not been placed under contract, and discontinue the adoption of any additional ordinances until such time as the reduced amount of the city's indebtedness will permit them without endangering its credit.

These are my reasons for offering the resolutions, and I trust they will appeal to you so conclusive that the resolutions will receive your favorable vote at the next meeting, when they will be called up for action.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES JOHNSTON.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE MAYOR.

By the Clerk—

Mayor's Office, August 7, 1896.

To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

I desire to call your attention to the bill of $614.60, ordered paid by your board, for printing the annual report of the city treasurer for the year ending March 29, 1895. The charter simply requires the city treasurer to make a report to the common council, and does not provide for its printing. It has been the custom, however, to print the reports, and this one was printed some time during the year 1895 at the above expense. From an examination of the report, making as it does, a book of three hundred and ninety pages, it will clearly appear that there was no necessity for printing the same. The report shows the amount of the bills paid by the city treasurer, and to whom paid, and the amounts received by him. Ninety per cent. of the material contained in said book has been heretofore printed in either the official proceedings of the common council, the executive board or the board of education, and paid for; and it is now repeated in the report of the city treasurer, to be again paid for. It would seem that the printing of these bills once would be sufficient, and I would suggest that in the future more care be taken in printing such reports, a summary of the report could be printed which would answer all purposes.

Yours respectfully,

George E. Warner, Mayor.

Received, filed and published.

By the Clerk—

Mayor's Office, August 8, 1896.

To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

I return to you without my approval the final ordinance No. 6,377 for Allen street Medina stone pavement, for the following reason:

The ordinance provides for a Medina stone pavement the whole width of the street. The majority of the taxpayers to be taxed for this improvement desire the ordinance to be amended so as to do away with paving that portion of the street between the street car tracks. A misunderstanding has arisen on this subject, which it is intended to correct.

For that reason the ordinance is returned without my approval, so as to give the common council power to correct or amend the same, or to pass a new ordinance in reference to this matter.

Yours respectfully,

George E. Warner, Mayor.

Received, filed and published.

The Chair stated the question to be, "Shall the resolution stand notwithstanding the veto of His Honor, the Mayor?"

Lost by the following vote:

By the Clerk—

Mayor's Office,

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 7, 1896.

To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

The bill of the Rochester Railway Company of thirty dollars ($30.00) for tickets for the Corporation Counsel is returned without my approval, for the following reasons:

First. I am informed that no resolution has ever been adopted by the Common Council to furnish car tickets for the use of the Corporation Counsel's office; if that is so, then there is no claim on the part of the Railway Company for such tickets. In the case of the City Engineer's office such a resolution was adopted.

Second. I do not think the city should be compelled to furnish car tickets for the use of all its officials, and I do not know of any necessity for car tickets being furnished to the Corporation Counsel's office, unless it might be for the use of the investigating clerk. For the reasons aforesaid I return said bill without my approval.

Yours respectfully,
GEO. E. WARNER, Mayor.

Received, filed and published.

The Chair stated the question to be "Shall the resolution adopted July 30th ult., appearing at pages 479-482, in so far as it relates to the payment of the bill of the Rochester Railway Company for $30 for tickets furnished to the law department, stand notwithstanding the veto of His Honor, the Mayor?"

Lost by the following vote:

Ayes—Ald. Ford—1.

Nays—Alds. Tracy, Green, Rauber, Edelman, Beard, Johnston, Selye, Ward, Dewey, Pauckner, Crane, Simmelink, Englehardt, Wilson, Reichenberger—14.

By the Clerk—

Mayor's Office.

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 7, 1896.

To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

The salaries of the following persons for the month of July, 1896, to wit: George T. Foster, city sealer; Shirley R. Snow, M. C. Mason, L. B. Hawley, Emma S. Sayles and Lettie H. Woodruff, city physicians, are hereby disapproved and vetoed for the following reasons:

George T. Foster, Emma S. Sayles and Lettie H. Woodruff have not passed the civil service examination for the positions held by them.

L. B. Hawley, M. C. Mason and Shirley R. Snow have not been certified by the civil service board to the Common Council and appointed by the Common Council after such certification. The appointment of said persons by the Common Council was a violation of the civil service laws of the state of New York. In these cases notice was filed after their appointments, that such appointments were in violation of the civil service laws of the state of New York.

For the reasons aforesaid, the salaries of said officials are not approved.

GEORGE E. WARNER,

Mayor.

Received, filed and published.

Ald. Green asked for a division of the question and moved that action under the veto, so far as it related to the salary of the City Sealer, be postponed two weeks. Carried.

The Chair stated the question to be, "Shall the resolution adopted by this Council July 30th, appearing at pages 479-482, current proceedings, in so far as it relates to the payment of the salaries of the city physicians vetoed by the Mayor, stand notwithstanding the veto of His Honor?"

Lost by the following vote:

Ayes—Alds. Ford, Green, Beard, Dewey, Pauckner, Crane, Simmelink, Englehardt—8.

Nays—Alds. Tracy, Rauber, Edelman, Johnston, Selye, Ward, Wilson, Reichenberger—8.

Theodore S. Pulver, Esq., City Clerk:

Dear Sir: I have your favor of the 4th inst., notifying me that at the meeting of the Common Council held on the 30th ult. a resolution was adopted approving the promotion of Thomas M. Casey to the position of rodman in the office of the City Engineer.

My information is that rodman is the lowest position in the Engineer's office, and I fail to see how a person can be promoted to that position. I think Mr. Casey must stand upon the legality of his original appointment. Yours very truly,

T. S. Pulver, City Clerk:

Dear Sir:—The following resolution was adopted by the Board of Education at a regular session held August 6th.

Respectfully,

MILTON NOYES,
Clerk of Board.

By Com. Kohlmetz—Resolved, That the resolution adopted July 6, 1896, respecting the acceptance of the J. Z. Culver lot for Carter street school site be reconsidered.

Carried.

Received, filed and published.

By Ald. Ward—
City Engineer's Office,
To the Honorable Common Council:
Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 18, 1896.

Gentlemen:—I beg leave to submit the following report and recommendations relative to that portion of the sewer in West avenue between Reynolds and Canal streets.

This sewer forms a portion of the outlet of both the Clifton street sewer, draining an area of about 93 acres, and having a section 2 1-2 feet by 3 feet (7 1-2 square feet), and also of the West avenue sewer draining an additional area above Reynolds street of about 31 acres and having a section 2 feet by 2 1-2 feet (5 square feet).

The sewer between Reynolds and Canal streets is only 2 feet by 2 1-2 feet (5 square feet).

The depth below the surface to top of sewer from Reynolds to Litchfield street is from 6 1-2 to 7 feet.

The sewer is not only too small to serve as an outlet for the territory named, but is also of insufficient depth to afford drainage to the abutting property. For a number of years several of the stores draining into this sewer have had the cellars flooded during the periods of heavy rainfall. The trouble has increased as the drainage territory has been better built up and the streets improved.

It is evident, therefore, that in order to afford suitable drainage for the business places connected with this sewer and also to serve as an outlet for the territory draining through it, the sewer should be both deepened and enlarged.

The street railway company propose to lay new tracks on West avenue this season and to put the asphalt pavement disturbed thereby in first class condition. In order to avoid useless expense and much annoyance to the residents of the street, a decision in regard to building this sewer should be arrived at before said tracks are put down on this part of the street.

I therefore respectfully submit this report for such action as your honorable body see fit to take.

Yours respectfully,

E. A. FISHER.

City Engineer.

Received, filed and published.

Resolved, That the taxpayers to be assessed for making the foregoing improvements must pay their assessment within thirty days from the first publication of the advertisement of the assessment rolls by the City Treasurer; and it is further

Resolved, That the taxpayers to be assessed for making the following named improvements:

Adopted by the following vote:

Ayes—Ald. Tracy, Ford, Green, Rauber, Edelman, Beard, Johnston, Selye, Ward, Dewey, Pauckner, Crane, Simmelink, Englehardt, Wilson, Reichenberger—16.

By Ald. Johnston—

City Treasurer's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 14, 1896.

To the Finance Committee of the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—The Common Council gave me authority to issue the city's notes to the amount of $400,000 on eight (8) months' time, as renewals of notes issued on account of local improvements, falling due July 30th and August 3d.

I found it impossible to place these notes, or any portion of them, in New York city under the present condition of the money market, neither could I place them with the banks here, even at 6 per cent. interest.

As it would never do to let the notes go to protest, and so ruin the credit of the city for any other financial transactions in New York city (these notes all being held by New York banks) I have paid them as they became due from the general fund of the city. There is yet due and payable this month the city's notes to the amount of $487,105.83, which with the interest will bring the sum up to nearly $500,000.

In this list are local improvement notes for $80,000. There is on deposit this morning in the several banks to the credit of the general fund, $508,365. In September we have city's notes coming due to the amount of $205,000.

In October the amount is $127,000.

In November it is $60,000.

This includes notes issued on account of Hemlock lake commission, as well as for local improvements. It will be necessary to issue notes about September 1st to the amount of $500,000 to make good the general fund, for moneys advanced the local improvement fund. As it is impossible to place this loan in New York for any length of time, and very doubtful of being able to place it with the local banks, I would recommend making a popular loan—going to the people direct—after giving the banks here a chance to take the loan. In order to secure the amount, and make it an object for the people to take those notes, I would recommend the notes be made for one year's time from September 1st, with interest at 6 per cent. per annum, and would take same in any sums from $100 and upward. The question is important and should be decided at the next meeting of the common council to be held August 18th.

Respectfully submitted,

S. B. WILLIAMS, Treasurer.

Received, filed and published and referred to Committee on Finance.

By Ald. Johnston—

City Auditor's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 17, 1896.

To the Honorable, the Common Council:

Gentlemen: I return without approval the claim of Charles F. Burns & Co., for $2,585.71, less a payment credited thereon of $875.00, for wiring city hall in 1895, for the following reasons, viz.:

By a resolution of your honorable body, passed September 28, 1894, this work was authorized at an expenditure not to exceed $1,000, and I am unable to find any proper authority for any further expenditure thereon.

I therefore deem it my duty to disapprove of all in excess of the $1,000 thus authorized, leaving but $125 of this amount unpaid. While I have no reason to question the faithful and due execution of the work claimed for, I am satisfied, after careful investigation and information obtained from various reliable sources, that the prices charged are materially in excess of what the same could or would have been furnished for at the time by other responsible parties.

These excess charges, in my judgment, bar all consideration of interest and further justify a reduction of at least $450 from the amount claimed, leaving a balance thereon of $1,260.71, which I respectfully submit for such action as may be proper.

Respectfully,

A. S. MANN, Auditor.

This amount will make a total of $150,000 that has been placed at the disposal of the said Commissioners. Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 18, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council of the city of Rochester, N. Y.:

Gentlemen:—Your Finance Committee would report in favor of granting the request of the East Side Trunk Sewer Commissioners for an additional ten thousand dollars needed to complete the sewer and close up the affairs of the Commission, which request was presented to the Council under date of July 30, 1896. Instead, however, of issuing bonds for the amount your committee would recommend borrowing it upon the city's notes.

Respectfully submitted,
JAMES JOHNSTON,
J. C. WILSON,
J. MILLER KELLY,
ALVIN H. DEWEY,
 Finance Committee.

Received, filed and published.

By Ald. Johnston—
 Rochester, N. Y., August 18, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council of the city of Rochester, N. Y.:

Gentlemen: Your finance committee would report that it has considered the treasurer's communication of the 14th instant, and also the condition of the city's financial affairs generally, both present and prospective, and it presents herewith a statement of the city's obligations and recommendations for meeting them:

LOCAL IMPROVEMENT FUND.

Date of Maturity	Amount	Where Held	Aggregating
July 30, 1896	.. $150,000	New York
August 3, 1896	.. 250,000	New York
August 20, 1896	.. 80,000	New York
Sept. 14, 1896	.. 75,000	Rochester
October 25, 1896	.. 50,000	New York

HEMLOCK LAKE WATER SHED FUND.

August 3, 1896	.. $14,000	New York
October 1, 1896	.. 10,000	New York
October 9, 1896	.. 15,000	New York
October 9, 1896	.. 20,000	Rochester
October 29, 1896	.. 1,000	New York
Nov. 19, 1896	.. 40,000	Rochester
			$100,000

Total $705,000

In addition to these, there are obligations for the following amounts which have been incurred, but have not yet been put in the form of notes:

Local Improvement Fund $ 76,000
Hemlock Lake Water Shed Fund	.. 50,000
East Side Trunk Sewer Interest Fund	115,115
East Side Trunk Sewer Fund 10,000

Total $251,115

All of the aforesaid obligations aggregating $956,115, excepting those of the Hemlock Lake Water Shed Fund, are for local improvements, and until such time as the property owners can pay their assessments the city will be obliged to protect them with borrowed money, and take for its security a lien upon all benefited property.

It is not easy to borrow money through the usual banking channels; on the contrary, it is practically impossible to do so, owing to the financial stringency prevailing throughout the country.

The recent sale of the Hemlock Lake Water Shed bonds was not consummated because of a misunderstanding on the part of the intended purchasers about their nature, and the amount of the city's indebtedness, and recently the condition of the money market has been such that the city's notes were unsalable. It is generally believed that the various banks have an abundance of money, but are loth to part with it for prudential reasons, and therefore your committee welcomes the suggestion of Treasurer Williams to make a popular loan by borrowing direct from the people, and favors its adoption.

To meet the total obligations of $956,115 it is expected that the assessments to be paid by property owners will amount to at least $256,115, (they have elsewhere been estimated at $270,000) and that the sum the city will want to borrow will be $700,000.

Inasmuch as authority has already been given to issue the city's notes for $400,000, your committee would ask for authority to borrow the additional $300,000 by issuing the city's notes for a period not exceeding one year at six per cent. interest.

Borrowing these amounts will not unfavorably affect the city's present indebtedness. The $256,115 estimated receipts from property owners will be a direct credit to reduce the indebtedness. Of the $681,000 needed for the local improvement fund, none of it increases the debt as the amount is already included in the treasurer's statement of indebtedness under date of June 24th last. Of the $150,000 needed for the Hemlock Lake Water Shed Fund, none of it increases the debt, as it is entirely included in the treasurer's statement. Of the $115,115 needed for the East Side Trunk Sewer Interest Fund, only $58,500 will increase the debt, the balance being already included in the treasurer's statement. The $10,000 needed for the East Side Trunk Sewer Commissioners' fund will be wholly an increase. The city's present indebtedness may be summarized as follows:

Indebtedness June 24, 1896 $ 9,822,295
West Side Trunk Sewer Bond 25,000
Interest on East Side Trunk Sewer Bonds 58,500
East Side Sewer Commissioners' Fund 10,000
Contractors' Acceptances to date	.. 163,462
.. $10,079,257
Less assessments from property owners 256,115
Total $9,832,142

The only additional items that will add to this amount between now and January 1st next are William Hamilton's claim for water rights damages, estimated at $20,000, the amount of unpaid general city taxes and the amount of additional contractors' acceptances for all unpaid local improvements.

The outlook now is that there will be no deficiencies in any of the tax levy funds at the close of the year, and the only anxiety that your committee will have to contend with will be in connection with the local improvement fund. The effect upon the city's financial condition of continuing unabated local improvement work was fully shown in a communication presented to the council under date of July 30th, and your committee sees no alternative except to recommend the postponement of local improvements not already contracted for, except those of urgent necessity, until such time as they can be made without jeopardizing the city's financial credit.

Respectfully submitted,
JAMES JOHNSTON,
J. C. WILSON,
J. MILLER KELLY,
ALVIN H. DEWEY,
 Finance Committee.

By Ald. Johnston—

Resolved, That the foregoing Finance Committee report be received, filed and published; that its several recommendations be adopted and that the Clerk be directed to certify a copy of it to the Executive Board.

Adopted.

Ald. Johnston moved that when the Board adjourn it be until Wednesday evening, August 19, 1896, at 7:30 o'clock.

By Ald. Pauckner—

MONROE COUNTY COURT—In the matter of the extension of Werner Park.

To the Honorable, The Common Council of the city of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—The commissioners in the above matter, in submitting their report, have deemed it proper to state to your honorable body the reasons therefor as follows:

We have determined from the evidence taken before us that it was the intention of Messrs. Werner and Kondolf to dedicate to the city, Werner park up to the north line of the Murray, Adams and Marsh property, and that the proceedings had in the Common Council accomplished that purpose. It was claimed by the owners of property on both sides of the proposed extension that a strip of land about three feet in width between Werner park and the beginning of the proposed extension had never been dedicated to the city and that therefore the Adams and Murray property was land-locked; we have, however found in our report that it was not land-locked and have based our award upon that assumption; if we had been compelled by the testimony taken before us to find that the property was land-locked, we should have refused to have made any award whatever for the reason that to report for the extension of a street leaving a strip of about three feet not condemned would, in our opinion, be entirely unauthorized.

In appraising the damages to the several owners we have disregarded the number of square feet contained in the several parcels of land proposed to be taken, and have based our award upon what we consider, after a personal inspection of the premises and a careful consideration of the evidence taken before us, to be the fair value of the property appropriated. Basing our award upon the fact found by us that the Adams and Murray property has a frontage upon Werner park, as it now exists, we have awarded to Laura B. Adams estate $400, to William Murray $450, and to the heirs of M. O'Brien $425; the O'Brien property has no such frontage.

In fixing the value of the narrow strip of property owned by Marsh, De Roo, Margaret O'Brien and Meyer on the west side of the proposed extension, our award is based upon the proposition that these parties are entitled to receive a sum proportionate to the sums awarded to the other owners; that is to say, that Mr. Marsh, the owner of a narrow strip fronting on Werner park, shall receive such proportion of the sum awarded to Adams and Murray as his strip bears to the total width of the street, and the award made therefor, and the same rule has been applied to the other owners of the narrow strip in the rear thereof, as well as to the small piece opposite the O'Brien property, owned by Mr. Marsh.

Considerable testimony has been given before us concerning the alleged rights of Homer E. Perry in the Murray property and of Ednor A. Marsh in the Adams property, but we have found and reported that neither of them have any right or easement in either of said pieces of property.

Respectfully submitted,
HENRY G. SAUER,
JOHN MCFARLIN,
H. B. HALLOCK,

Commissioners.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE MAYOR.

By the Clerk—
Mayor's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 27, 1896.

To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

I hereby return to you without my approval final ordinance number 6,389, (for University avenue curb and gutters) for the following reasons:

From statements made by the City Treasurer, and the Finance Committee of the Common Council, it is very apparent that the city is indebted to an amount which very nearly reaches the limit of 10 per cent, of its estimated valuation; beyond which limit the city cannot become indebted. That being so, it would seem as if it was not a prudent business policy to pass ordinances which would tend to further increase our indebtedness, unless the improvements for which the ordinances are passed are a matter of actual necessity. We have outstanding a large amount of assessments for local improvements which have been paid for by issuing the city's notes, which are now held mainly, by different banks. Upon these notes the city has been compelled to pay interest from the time of their issuance, and upon those which are now to be renewed will have to pay interest at 6 per cent.

The failure to collect these assessments for local improvements (upon a large amount of which no attempt has been made to collect until recently) has resulted in making our debt the amount it is at the present time.

In my opinion, the only remedy is to stop for a time the passing of ordinances for improvements which will result in increasing our indebtedness, and in the meantime to collect in as much of our unpaid assessments as can be collected, and apply the same in payment of the outstanding notes.

For the reasons stated I do not feel justified in approving the ordinance in question.

Very truly,

GEORGE E. WARNER, Mayor.
Received, filed and published.

Ald. Adams moved that action on the resolution disapproved by the Mayor be postponed two weeks. Carried.

By the Clerk—

Mayor's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 26, 1896.

To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

I return to you without my approval final ordinance No. 6,384 for the following reasons:

This ordinance provides for the construction of Portland cement walks on Lexington and Holmes avenues in front of school No. 34 at an estimated cost of $300.

There is no necessity for a walk on Holmes avenue, as from Lexington avenue north there is not a single house on Holmes avenue, and there is no travel on the same. When Holmes avenue is built up it will be time enough to construct a walk upon the same.

On Lexington avenue, with the exception of a few planks, the walk which it is proposed to remove is in a fair condition and will last for some time to come, and what repairs are necessary can be made by the school carpenter.

All improvements which are not absolutely necessary should be delayed at least for another year.

Very respectfully,
GEORGE E. WARNER, Mayor.

Received, filed and published.

Ald. Johnston moved that action on the ordinance disapproved by the Mayor be postponed two weeks. Carried.

By the Clerk—

Mayor's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 26, 1896.

To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

I herewith return to you without my approval, the final ordinance No. 6,391, for the following reasons:

The ordinance provides for the construction of a Portland cement walk in front of school No. 27, situate on the north side of Central park at an estimated cost of $125.

Upon an examination of the walk which it is proposed to tear up, I find that the same is a six-foot plank walk in a good condition.

The walk will last for a number of years, and will need but a few slight repairs. Under such circumstances I fail to see the necessity of putting down the proposed cement walk.

Very respectfully,

GEORGE E. WARNER, Mayor.

Received, filed and published.

Ald. Englehardt moved that action on the ordinance disapproved by the Mayor be postponed two weeks. Carried.

By the Clerk—

Mayor's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 26, 1896.

To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

I hereby return to you without my approval, the final ordinance No. 6,386, for the following reasons:

This ordinance provides for the construction of a curb and gutter and Portland cement walks in front of school No. 30, corner of Otis and Brooks streets, and the necessary walks to the building.

First. A portion of the walk provided for by this ordinance is to be constructed inside of the school yard. So far as this portion is concerned, it is for the Board of Education, under the charter, to build. As that board has the sole charge of the school buildings and appurtenances, it must keep and maintain the same in repair from the Repair Fund.

Second. The walks on Brooks and Otis streets, which it is proposed to remove, are in a fair condition, and by having a few new planks put in by the school carpenter they will last for a number of years.

The money to pay for this improvement will have to be borrowed at six per cent., and the improvement not being actually necessary at the present time, it should be delayed until the city's finances are in a better condition than they are at present.

Very respectfully,

GEORGE E. WARNER, Mayor.

Received, filed and published.

Ald. Johnston moved that action on the ordinance disapproved by the Mayor be postponed two weeks. Carried.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen—In reply to the resolution of Alderman Selye directing me to furnish the board with a written opinion upon the question as to whether or not local improvement assessments are a portion of the city's debt. I beg leave to say that as I understand the resolution, it calls for an opinion as to whether or not orders issued in the future to contractors for work done on local improvements are to be regarded as a part of the city's debt.

I believe that these orders if issued under the same terms as heretofore, but not accepted or assumed by the city, are no part of the city's debt, because in making local improvements under our charter, and the practice that has grown up under it, the city acts as an agent merely of the property owners to be assessed. It passes the ordinance for the improvement, lets the contract, sees to the execution of the work, and when the moneys are paid into the treasury, it turns them over to the contractor.

The contracts for local improvements contain a provision that the city should not be required or liable to make any payments or pay anything whatever on account of any work by virtue of the contracts any sooner or faster than there should be moneys or funds in the treasury of the city properly applicable to that purpose and which shall have been collected or paid into the treasury on account of such work or improvement. The orders heretofore issued to contractors provide in effect for their payment out of the funds realized from the collection of the assessments.

The city owes the contractor the duty of putting the machinery in motion, and keeping it in motion, by which the fund is created to pay for the work, and to pay the orders when due out of the money collected. If it fails to levy the assessments it may be compelled by mandamus to do so. If it neglects to do so an action may be brought against the city, but this action would be one of tort and not on contract. It would be an action based upon the failure of the officers of the city to perform their official duty. No suit could be successfully maintained against the city upon these orders unless there were moneys in the treasury collected by assessments properly applicable to their payment. Under these circumstances these orders should not be regarded as debts of the city.

Y., 326; Lake vs. Village of Williamsburg, 4 Denio, 519.

As to whether or not these orders should be included in determining the power of the city to become indebted for various purposes is another question not touched upon in this opinion.

Respectfully submitted,

A. J. RODENBECK,
 Corporation Counsel.

REPORT OF CITY PROPERTY COM-MITTEE.

To the Honorable Common Council of the
 City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—Your City Property Committee invited bids by published advertisement on the work necessary to extend the elevator service in the City Hall building to the fifth floor.

The only firm bidding was the Graves Elevator Company, from whom three propositions have been received.

The company offers to do the work necessary to run the present elevator to the new floors at the speed attained by present service for $1,535.

The company offers to extend the service and put in a new motor guaranteed to increase the speed to 250 feet per minute for the sum of $2,740.

The company also submitted a proposition to supplant the present electric motor with an hydraulic motor, guaranteed to increase the speed to 250 or 300 feet per minute for the sum of $3,345.

On any of these propositions an allowance of $1,000 for the present motor will be made.

Your Committee is of the opinion that the hydraulic motor will give much better satisfaction than the electric and in view of the importance of the elevator service with the new floors occupied it would seem advisable to have the best service that can be procured. The difference in the cost of the best service with hydraulic power and an improved electric power service is $605.

Your Committee would, therefore, recommend that the bid of the Graves Elevator Company to extend the elevator service with hydraulic power for the sum of $3,345, the company to allow $1,000 for the motor now used, be accepted and that the contract be awarded to said company.

Respectfully submitted,
WILLIAM PAUCKNER,
M. J. CALIHAN,
M. B. ADAMS,
EDWARD ENGLEHARDT,
WILLIAM WARD,
 City Property Committee.

Received, filed and published.

By Ald. Pauckner—Resolved, That the contract for extending the elevator service in City Hall building, with hydraulic power, be awarded to the Graves Elevator Company in accordance with the terms of their proposal therefor, for the sum of $3,345, the company to allow $1,000 for the motor at present used; and that the Mayor be, and hereby is, requested to execute a contract with said company when approved as to form by the Corporation Counsel.

MAP AND SURVEY COMMITTEE REPORT.

Rochester, N. Y., August 27, 1896.

To the Honorable Common Council of the
 City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—Your Map and Survey Committee, to whom was referred a communication from the Secretary of the Civil Service Commission, dated August 12, 1896, relating to the promotion of Thomas M. Casey to the position of Rodman in the City Engineer's office, beg leave to report as follows:

The Secretary says: "My information is that rodman is the lowest position in the Engineer's office, and I fail to see how a person can be promoted to that position. I think Mr. Casey must stand upon the legality of his original appointment."

The Secretary is in error in regard to the relative standing of the position of Rodman in the Engineer's office. The position of Chainman is the lowest position for which examinations have been held by the Civil Service Board. Next in order is the position of Rodman.

Thomas M. Casey was appointed to the position of Chainman, April 1, 1890, from which position this promotion was made.

LAW COMMITTEE REPORT.

Rochester, N. Y., August 29, 1896.

To the Honorable, the Common Council:

In the matter of the petition of John O.
 Sullivan, praying for the abandonment of a triangular plot of ground on the corner of Broadway and Meigs street, abandoned for street purposes when the lines of Nelson street, now Meigs street, were changed, we beg leave to say that the charter vests in the Executive Board the power to discontinue any street and we recommend that the Executive Board be authorized to take such steps as may be necessary to discontinue the portion of the street no longer used.

In the matter of the action of Miller Brewing Co. against the City of Rochester, the Appellate Division has affirmed the decision of the Trial Court, and upon the advice of the Corporation Counsel we recommend an appeal to the Court of Appeals.

We also recommend the appointment of the following named persons as Commissioners of Deeds: Stephen Ziellinski, Charles R. McCarthy, Ernest B. Millard, Chas. L. Traver,

FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORT.

By Ald. Adams—

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—In the matter of the resolution presented to the Common Council March 31, 1896, declaring it to be the sense of the Common Council, that the police commissioners should dispense with the services of Dr. Cartwright until such time as the appointment of a police surgeon might be authorized by the charter or Common Council, which resolution was referred to the Finance Committee and the Corporation Counsel, we beg leave to submit herewith the written opinion of the Corporation Counsel to the effect, that Dr. Cartwright's appointment is illegal, and recommend, that the services of Dr. Cartwright be dispensed with.

By Ald. Johnston—

Rochester, N. Y., July 20, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council of the City of Rochester, N. Y.:

Gentlemen: Your Finance Committee presents herewith a minority report on the police surgeon subject. Under date of March 31, 1896, the following resolution was offered, and upon motion referred to the Finance Committee and Corporation Counsel.

By Alderman Adams—Whereas, It has come to the knowledge of this common council that the appointment of Dr. R. C. Cartwright as police surgeon is illegal, inasmuch as the city charter gives the police commissioners no authority to create such a position or to appoint a person to fill it; and

Whereas, The said Dr. Cartwright has drawn $100 per month from the city for over four years; now, therefore

Resolved, That it hereby is declared to be the sense of this council that the police commissioners should dispense with the services of Dr. Cartwright until such time as the appointment of a police surgeon may be authorized by the charter or common council.

Alderman Johnston moved that the resolution be referred to the finance committee and corporation counsel.

At a subsequent meeting of the finance committee the subject was referred to the corporation counsel and his opinion is presented herewith:

To the Finance Committee of the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—In relation to the appointment of Mr. Richard C. Cartwright as police surgeon, I beg leave to say that in my opinion his appointment is illegal.

One of the grounds for this conclusion is that prior to his appointment, he had not taken a civil service examination. The civil service statutes, rules and regulations in force at the time of his appointment required that he should take such an examination. Until they were complied with, no valid appointment could be made.

But there is a further ground for declaring his appointment illegal. Mr. Cartwright was appointed by the board of police commissioners. This board had no express or inherent power to appoint a police surgeon.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed)

A. J. RODENBECK,
Corporation Counsel.

While the opinion of the corporation counsel is explicit in stating that the police commissioners had no express or inherent power to appoint a police surgeon, your committee think some other questions are involved and therefore wish to present the following statements.

The existing charter provisions relating to the police department were enacted by the state legislature in 1880 and have remained practically unchanged since that time.

They are very meager in their reference to police department officials, titled subordinates or department expenses. They recognize only "police commissioners," a "police chief," a "police clerk," a "detective chief" and "policeman," and they recognize expenses for "police purposes" and for "the police department."

These are the only specific references, but, in addition there is in article 3, section 12, a provision permitting the commissioners to "establish, promulgate and enforce proper rules, regulations and orders for the good government and discipline of the whole force, provided that such rules and regulations or orders shall not conflict with any of the provisions of this act or with the constitution or laws of the state."

Under this broad provision the commissioners have from time to time created the following titled positions and branches of service, viz.: Captains, lieutenants, sergeants, detectives, police surgeon, court attendant and interpreter, stenographer, doorman, janitors, electrician, electrical operators, a patrol service and an ambulance service, the latter having recently been abandoned.

The commissioners certify regularly each month an itemized statement of all their expenses to the common council, and the common council has heretofore invariably and unanimously approved the commissioners' action.

Also the police clerk furnishes the council each year with an estimate of the police department's annual expenses for tax levy purposes. These estimates include a special item for the police surgeon's salary and the appropriations for police department expenses have been annually approved by the council in the most formal manner and included in its tax levies.

A member of this council who has approved the action of the commissioners for years, both in finance committee meetings and in council, now makes the astonishing claim that the commissioners' action in designating Dr. Cartwright as police surgeon "is illegal, inasmuch as the city charter gives the police commissioners no authority to create such a position or to appoint a person to fill it."

No claim of inefficient service is made or intimated and it is admitted that Dr. Cartwright has been and is an intelligent, competent and faithful official, of exemplary habits and character. It is also known that he immediately took the civil service examination and passed it creditably as soon as he was advised of the necessity for doing so.

The reason for the claim is not for any sincere desire for economy, or the observance of the legal proprieties, but it is the outgrowth of a feeling against Mayor Warner and Commissioner Casey, as well as the surgeon, for the action they took in connection with last fall's good government movement, and it is also an attempt to handicap the police commissioners in the management and control of their department.

Please notice that none of the other positions referred to are complained of or considered as being illegal, although they are all created under the same general provision of the charter.

Surgical and medical assistance in various forms was used in the police department at least ten years before the present city charter was made and similar assistance has been utilized continuously since.

The police commissioners' records show that a police surgeon's services were repeatedly recognized as far back as 1870. In fact the need of a police surgeon is coexistent with the establishment and maintenance of a paid police department.

Paid policemen imply men in good health and robust physical condition, competent to perform the duties for which they are paid, and these conditions cannot always be determined without surgical or medical assistance. In addition the city has a legal liability for the proper care of all injured prisoners in charge of the police department. It also has a humane obligation in all such cases and these considerations necessitate the surgical and medical services, whose legality is now challenged for the first time in the city's history.

Under date of April 30, 1887, the commissioners acting under the charter provision referred to, adopted a number of rules for the government of their department and rule No. 6 requires all applicants for police service to "undergo an examination by any surgeon whom the board may designate, and accompany his application with said surgeon's certificate as to his health and physical ability. In accordance with this rule the commissioners designated Dr. Pierce as their official surgeon, with the understanding that he should be paid by fees from the applicants.

In 1888 it was considered wise to amend this rule, and give the surgeon a stated salary in lieu of fees.

Before, however, taking this action, the commissioners consulted the city attorney, who at that time was Mr. John N. Beckley, and he gave an opinion that the commissioners had a lawful right to make the appointment under the general charter provision quoted. We present herewith a certified copy of the police commissioners' minutes relating to the transaction.

Police Commissioners' Office.
Regular meeting, October 1, 1888.

The question of appointing a police surgeon was referred to Commissioner Hoekstra, to see the civil service board, etc., and report. Special meeting, November 5, 1888.

The matter of fixing the salary of the police surgeon was taken up, and on motion of Commissioner Hoekstra, the same was fixed at $50 per month, after the city attorney had given his opinion that the commissioners had a lawful right to do so.

I certify the above to be a correct copy of the minutes of the meeting of the police commissioners on the above dates, relating to police surgeon.

(Signed) B. FRANK ENOS,
Clerk.

In 1891, three years after this action, the commissioners appointed Dr. Cartwright, the present incumbent to replace Dr. Pierce.

Nowhere in the charter is there any provision that forbids the appointment of a police surgeon, and the essence of the controversy is simply the question as to whether the commissioners had a lawful right to make the appointment under the general provision of article 3, section 12 in the charter.

If the aforesaid actions and practices, approved by a former city attorney and monthly and annually by the common councils, were not proper and lawful what more could have been done to legalize them?

In addition, the legislature of 1887 passed a law establishing a police pension fund under the direction and control of the police commissioners, and under this law a police surgeon is distinctly recognized. In fact, the law cannot be fully complied with and no pension for physical or mental disability or disease can be granted without the assistance and certificate of the police surgeon. If this statement is correct, the pension fund law alone gives the commissioners an indisputable right to appoint a police surgeon, and your committee is informed that the observance of a state law is to have precedence in all cases, whenever the question of conflict with the charter or other local laws is raised.

The resolution proposes to dispense with the police surgeon's services until such time as they may be authorized by the charter or common council. Inasmuch as the legislature will not convene until January next, it will be impossible to amend the charter until that time. Inasmuch also as there is no provision in the charter relating specifically to the appointment of a police surgeon, the same logic that questions the right of the police commissioners will prevent the council from making an appointment. It is conceded that the council has no specific authority to make the appointment and that if made, it must be done under some general charter provision. This proposition again raises the question, that if the council can appoint a police surgeon under some general charter provision, why will not the same logic permit the commissioners to appoint under the general provision of article 3, section 12?

If, therefore, the appointment is to be made, under some general provision of the charter, the commissioners have equal or greater authority than the council and this being the case, the authority to appoint and control the police surgeon should naturally be conceded to the police commissioners, as the charter states distinctly that "The police department shall be under the general control and management of the police commissioners."

To declare the position of police surgeon illegal for the reasons alleged will be both inconsistent and stultifying. It will be a reflection, which this council has no legal or moral right to make, upon the judgment and integrity of the city attorney under whose advice the appointment with stated salary was made, and upon every mayor, police commissioner and alderman who has voted for it since 1888. It will place this council in the position of preventing the execution of the police pension fund law of the state.

It will also place this council in the position of attempting to interfere with the management of the police department by controlling through coercion the appointment of a police surgeon.

Your committee would therefore recommend that the authority of the police commissioners to appoint a police surgeon under the general provision in article 3, section 12 of the city charter be conceded; also your committee would recommend that the police commissioners be requested to see that the police surgeon complies with all civil service rules and requirements pertaining to his position.

Respectfully submitted,
JAMES JOHNSTON.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE MAYOR.

By the Clerk—

Mayor's Office, Sept. 10, 1896.
 To the Comon Council of the city of Rochester:

I return without my approval the following resolution adopted at your meeting of September 1, 1896.

“By Ald. Adams—Resolved, That the services of Dr. Richard C. Cartwright as police surgeon be dispensed with, and that the city clerk be directed to issue no further order to him for the payment of salary or services unless approved by the common council,” with the following objections, and for the following reasons:

For over a quarter of a century the police commissioners of this city have had in their employ physicians in the capacity of and known by the title of police surgeon, and during all that time, as I am informed, the appointments to that office have been made by the police commissioners, without their authority so to do having been questioned by the common council.

In 1887 Dr. Pierce was appointed by the police commissioners police surgeon, and on November 5, 1888, at a meeting of the commissioners his salary was fixed at fifty dollars a month. Before fixing this salary the commissioners called upon Mr. Beckley, then city attorney, for an opinion as to their right to make such an appointment and to fix the salary, and after an examination of the matter, Mr. Beckley advised the commissioners that they had a perfect legal right to make the appointment and to fix the salary. Acting upon such advice the police commissioners made the appointment and fixed the salary. In the year 1891, following the opinion theretofore given them by Mr. Beckley, Dr. Cartwright was elected police surgeon and has since that time acted in that capacity. In the year 1887, the legislature passed a law establishing the police pension fund for the police department of this city. This act provides, among other things, that pensions shall be granted in pursuance of that act, and further provides that members of the police force may, upon the certificate of the police surgeon showing permanent disability, be retired by the board and given a pension. This act further provides that no pension shall be granted without the certificate of the surgeon of the police department, and specified the form of the certificate to be given by him.

From the time of Dr. Cartwright's appointment the police commissioners inserted annually, in the statement made by them to the common council of the amount needed by them for the use of the police department every year, the salary of Dr. Cartwright, and it was included in each year's tax levy, and after the introduction of the resolution to dispense with Dr. Cartwright's services and the giving of the opinion of the city attorney (as hereafter stated) the present common council appropriated a sum to pay Dr. Cartwright's salary for the year ending January 1, 1897. Each month from the time of his appointment the commissioners certified his salary to the common council, and the same was monthly voted to him down to and including his salary for the month of August, 1896 his salary having been approved by the various mayors of the city during that time. After Dr. Cartwright had served as police surgeon for five years, and after the police department had had the services of a police surgeon for over twenty-five years, it is suddenly claimed that the commissioners had no power to appoint a surgeon, and on March 9, 1896, Alderman Adams introduced a resolution declaring it to be the sense of the council that the police commissioners dispense with the services of Dr. Cartwright until such time as the appointment of a police surgeon may be authorized by the charter of the common council.

This resolution was based only upon the assertion that the police commissioners had no legal power to create such a position or to appoint a person to fill it. On May 25, 1896, the city attorney gave an opinion holding the appointment illegal, in that Dr. Cartwright had not complied with the civil service law (which was not referred to in the resolution referred to him) and also upon the ground that the police commissioners had no express or inherent power to appoint a surgeon.

On September 1, 1896, four members of the finance committee made a report to the council, reciting the opinion of the city attorney to the effect that the appointment was illegal and recommended that the services of Dr. Cartwright be dispensed with. On September 1, 1896, the resolution first stated was adopted by a vote of nine aldermen for, to eight aldermen against. On September 5, 1896, a meeting of the police commissioners was held, all the members being present, and upon a certificate from the civil service board, Dr. Cartwright was re-appointed police surgeon by a majority of the police commissioners. This being done simply and solely for the purpose of complying with the civil service law, the doctor not having been certified to in accordance with the civil service law, and he is now performing the duties of that office.

First. It should be kept in mind in the consideration of this matter that during the whole controversy over the attempted removal of Dr. Cartwright no claim has ever been made by the common council that the services of a police surgeon by the commissioners, is not a matter of necessity in order to keep and maintain an efficient police force; neither has it been claimed that the salary paid him was too large, or that Dr. Cartwright is not a competent person and fully qualified to perform the duties of the office.

From my experience since January 1st last as one of the police commissioners of this city, I can say that a police surgeon is an absolute and essential factor in the maintaining of an efficient police force.

The resolution to dismiss Dr. Cartwright was not introduced with the slightest idea of retrenchment of expenses or in the interest of economy; neither was it for the purpose of making the department more efficient. On the contrary, the sole object of the resolution was to take away from the police commissioners a right they had exercised for over twenty-five years and transfer it to the common council. This fact clearly appears from a reading of the first resolution which recommends that the doctor's services be dispensed with until such time as the appointment can be authorized by the charter or the common council. The intention being to have the charter amended and give the power of appointment to the common council, a body which practically has no control or management over the police force, and take it away from the police commissioners, who are by the charter given control and management of the police force, and by the charter given with keeping and maintaining an efficient police force. So in the consideration of this question we have to deal with but one question, viz.: In whom is the power to appoint vested?

Second. If the resolution adopted is intended to be a removal of Dr. Cartwright from the office of police surgeon, then it is one which the common council has no legal power to adopt. The cases in which the common council can remove an officer from office are clearly specified in the charter. Among the officers which it is stated they can remove are the members of the executive board, the city treasurer, and any officer whose appointment is conferred by the charter upon the common council. Dr. Cartwright was not appointed by the common council, and there is no provision of the city charter which gives to them the power to appoint a police surgeon. As well might the common council adopt a resolution removing the school superintendent, or a member of the police department, as to adopt the one in question. The adoption of the resolution could not, and did not, change the status of Dr. Cartwright in the slightest degree; he remained police surgeon after its adoption the same as he was before. Not having the power of removal, the adoption of the resolution is an absolute nullity, and if that was all there was of the resolution, there would not be the slightest need of a veto.

Third. Conceding that the common council had power to appoint the police surgeon, and also the legal right to remove him, yet in that event the resolution failed to accomplish the intention of the introducer thereof, for the reason that there was not a sufficient number of votes cast in favor of the adoption thereof; only nine aldermen having voted for it. By the charter appointments to office by the common council cannot be made except by a vote of a majority of all the members of the common council at which the election takes place. A majority of all the members of the common council being required to appoint an officer, it necessarily follows that it will require the same number to remove him; if that were not so, we might find an officer whose appointment required eleven votes, appointed at a meeting of the common council by eleven votes; and then removed at the next meeting of the council where but eleven members were present (a quorum) by a vote of six in favor of removal and five against, thus enabling an officer to be removed by a vote of six of the twenty aldermen, when it took eleven votes to elect him.

Fourth. The police commissioners under the charter have the power to appoint a police surgeon. The charter provided, section 12, that the police department shall be under the general control and management of the police commissioners, and further provides that the board of police commissioners may adopt rules and by-laws for the government of the police force, and also may establish, promulgate and enforce proper rules, regulations and orders for the good government and discipline of the whole force. Under this provision of the charter, various rules, regulations and orders have at different times been adopted, having in view the good government and discipline of the police force.

Among such rules, regulations and orders so far as they relate to the police surgeon are the following: "Applicants for admission to the police force must not be over a certain age, or below a certain height and weight. And also requires them to be in perfect good health and in a physical condition to faithfully perform the duties of a policeman. Then again, if any length of time has elapsed since the first examination of the applicant, and the time of his being certified to the board for appointment as a member of the force, if any doubt exists as to the physical condition of the applicant, he can be examined as to his physical condition, and if not at that time a fit and proper subject for admission he would not be appointed to the police force."

The police commissioners are charged with the duty of making an efficient police department. The first and vital element which goes to make up an efficient police force is that the applicants for appointment shall be physically capable of performing the duties of the office. How are these facts to be determined? Is it to be by an inspection of the candidates by the police commissioners, who are not physicians or surgeons; or is the word of the applicant as to his physical condition to be taken; or is it to be upon the certificate of the family physician of the applicant? The police commissioners have examined all these suggestions, and after such an examination have adopted a fixed rule or regulation requiring that such matters should be certified to them by the police surgeon appointed by the board, after an examination made by him. This gives to the police commissioners the judgment of a competent surgeon appointed by them, and is the uniform method adopted by the police authorities throughout the country.

The rules requiring an examination by the police surgeon are reasonable and proper. Their sole object is to prevent the admission to the police force of invalids or cripples, who would, if admitted to the force, draw their salary and yet be unable to properly perform the duties required of them. It was adopted to procure able-bodied men for police duty. Another rule provides that in case a member of the department is sick for ten days he receives one-half his salary. The bona fide illness of the members is determined by the police surgeon for the commissioners. Applications for leave of absence on account of illness, and applications to be changed from night force to day force, on account of sickness are also acted upon by the board, after an examination of the applicants by the police surgeon. If a member of the force does not appear at roll call and is reported sick, the surgeon's duty is to ascertain if the absence is caused by illness. He is required to keep posted as to the duration of the illness of members of the force, as the question of salary depends on the length of such illness. All these rules, regulations and orders as to the duties of the surgeon were adopted in order to make and keep an efficient force, and also to protect the department from cases of pretended illness or accident.

The right given to make these rules, orders and regulations carries with it necessarily all the power and means to see that they are properly enforced, but in addition to that the charter specifically gives to the police commissioners the power after making such rules, regulations and orders to enforce them. Having made the rules, regulations and orders mentioned it had the power to enforce them by the appointment of a surgeon whose duty it would be to see that they were carried into execution. The charter provision giving to the police commissioners the control and management of the department carries with it the absolute right to adopt all means, and to call to the aid of the police commissioners all assistance necessary to properly and efficiently control and manage the department, and under this provision of the charter the appointment of the surgeon can be made as he is, as stated before, an important factor in the proper control of the police force.

Fifth. It is doubtful if the resolution adopted, taken in connection with the first resolution, and the report of the committee, means anything more than a recommend to the police commissioners to dispense with the services of the surgeon. In view of the fact that the common council had no power to remove him, it is but fair to assume that they only intended to recommend his removal by the police commissioners. That this was the intention of the resolution is evident from the terms of the first resolution as follows: "Resolved, That it is hereby declared to be the sense of the council that the police commissioners dispense with the services of the police surgeon." This resolution, if it means anything, means that the common council has no power to remove, but that the power was vested in the police commissioners, and recommended to them his dismissal. This resolution was referred to the finance committee and the city attorney, and the report of the finance committee recites this resolution, and ends by recommending that the services of Dr. Cartwright be dispensed with. This is followed by the resolution that Dr. Cartwright's services be dispensed with. Taken together, they mean that the police commissioners are recommended to dispense with his services. That this is so is very evident from the fact that the clerk is not directed to draw any further orders for the salary of Dr. Cartwright, this being added as a means of forcing the police commissioners to dispense with his services.

Sixth. The resolution adopted did not amount to a removal from office; it was only a recommend to the police commissioners, and also a notice that the salary would not be paid for the time being. The resolution directed the city clerk not to issue any further orders for salary or services, unless approved by the common council. This resolution reserves to the common council the right at any future time to place the surgeon's name on the pay roll and approve his salary. This is not consistent with an absolute removal of the surgeon from office. The direction to the city clerk not to issue any order for salary or services is saying to the police commissioners that they cannot even hire the doctor for special services. This portion of the resolution the council had no power to adopt.

Seventh. The appointment of the police surgeon was legal when made. It was made on the advice of Mr. Beckley, one of the ablest of our city attorneys, that the police commissioners had the power to appoint. This opinion was given at a time when no question of politics was involved. If it was legal at that time to appoint, then it has since that time remained legal, and is at the present time. There has been no change in the law since the time Mr. Beckley gave his opinion or the subject, from the fact that the present city attorney differs with Mr. Beckley in his construction of the law it does not necessarily follow that Mr. Beckley was wrong and the present city attorney right. It is merely a difference of opinion between the two.

Eighth. In 1887 the police pension law was passed with the knowledge of the common council. Before its passage the police surgeon had been a recognized officer of the police department for twenty years, so recognized had it become that this act provided that the pensions granted under it must be paid only upon the certificate of the surgeon of the police department. Without a police surgeon it would be impossible to carry out the terms of this act. This act is a clear recognition of the existence of such an officer and imposed upon him certain specific duties. It would seem from this act, taken in connection with the twenty-five years' recognition of the office by the common council, that the council should now be barred from claiming there is no such officer as the police surgeon. If there had been no legally appointed police surgeon before the passage of this act, it was the duty of the police commissioners to appoint one so as to see that this act was properly carried into effect.

Ninth. In reference to the right to veto the resolution, there can be no doubt. The charter gives to the common council power to appoint and to remove certain officers. The charter then gives the mayor veto power, but says it shall not apply to any action of the common council in relation to appointments to or removal from office. It is a well-established rule of law that a statute is to be construed as a whole in order to arrive at the meaning of a portion of the same. Construing then the sections in reference to appointments and removal and the right to veto, and the charter would be construed to mean that so far as the common council has the power to appoint to and remove from office, then in those cases only shall the veto power be suspended.

It would never be construed so as to allow the common council to create offices and fill them, when not authorized by the charter, or to allow them to remove officers over whom no power of removal was given. For instance, the charter says there shall be three assessors; suppose the council should appoint four, or suppose the common council should pass a resolution to remove a judge of the municipal court (over whose removal they have no power), would it be claimed that a veto would not lie to prevent such an appointment or such removal on the part of the council? So long as the common council appoint and remove the officers they are empowered to appoint and remove, then the veto power is suspended; but as soon as they exceed the powers conferred upon them to appoint or remove then the veto power is not suspended. Then, again, this resolution is not final. It reserves a right in the common council to put the doctor's name on the pay roll at some time in the future. It also purports to regulate the future conduct of the clerk in reference to the drawing of orders for the doctor's salary or services. Then, again, it is simply a recommend to the police commissioners to dispense with the doctor's services.

In the year 1887 the common council undertook to appoint a lamp inspector. This appointment was vetoed by Mayor Parsons upon the ground that the appointment was a violation of the civil service law. The courts sustained the mayor in his construction of the matter.

Executive Board Office,
 Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 15, 1896.

To the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—The Executive Board, in accordance with your request, made an examination of the street known as Avondale park and would report that it is unable to recommend the acceptance of the street because the curbstone at the entrance of the driveway or crossing at Monroe avenue must first be removed.

This crossing or approach should be built by the parties desiring the opening of the street, and not at the general expense of the city. This is the reason that the Board, when first called upon to examine the street, declined to recommend its acceptance.

By the Clerk—
 To the Honorable the Common Council:

My attention has recently been called to the fact that some of the hospitals have refused to allow their ambulances to accept patients suffering from acute alcoholism or delirium tremens.

Section 1 of chapter 873 of the general laws of New York says: "No person in charge of an ambulance, hospital or house or place of reception for the sick or injured, shall refuse, in answer to a call or a demand for an ambulance, and which call has been answered by the attendance of an ambulance, to take said person or persons for whom a call may be made to the hospital or place of reception for the sick or injured from which the ambulance came for examination and treatment by the house authorities of the said hospital or place of reception for the sick or injured."

It will be seen from the above that although the city is now paying $1,000 yearly towards the maintenance and support of each ambulance, it cannot compel an ambulance to respond to any call unless the hospital authorities think it best; but should they respond to a call they are absolutely compelled to take the patient for examination and treatment.

Two cases coming directly within the section quoted above have come to my attention during the last three weeks. Calls have been made and responded to, but the ambulance surgeon refused to take the patient, who was suffering from an excessive case of alcoholism, saying it was against the rules of his hospital to receive any such case. This is directly against the law, as quoted above, and the hospital authorities are liable to punishment for misdemeanor. I believe the poor fellow who is suffering the tortures of the damned from the excessive use of alcohol, whose life is in danger, not alone from the disease, but from the mad acts of himself, is as deserving of assistance and medical aid as the ruffian who has been injured in a drunken brawl.

The cause of humanity is as great in the one as the other, and yet the one is received and the other rejected. It is only fair to the hospitals to state that they claim they have no room to receive such a patient. It would not do to take him into a public ward on account of the noise he would make. In answer to that, permit me to say that no hospital in any other city is considered complete without its rooms for delirium tremens cases. One of our local hospitals has such a room, another is having one prepared. Should they not all be so prepared? And if not, should the city be compelled to pay $1,000 yearly toward the support of any ambulance service that refuses aid and assistance to this class of suffering humanity? Respectfully submitted,

ALVIN H. DEWEY,
 Ald. 12th Ward.

By the Clerk—

Allegheny, Pa., Sept. 10, 1896.

To the City Councils of the City of Rochester, N. Y.:

Sirs:—The third annual convention of the American Society of Municipal Improvements will be held in the city of Chicago, Ill., from October 14th to 16th, 1896.

I desire to call the attention of your honorable bodies to the fact that the city officials in charge of public improvements have been holding annual conventions for the purpose of discussing the best ways and means of promoting information on subjects relative to their several duties.

Last year we had representatives from all the large cities in this country and several from Canada at our convention in Cincinnati, Ohio, and all who were there said they were greatly benefited in the discussions of public improvements, and all acknowledged they had learned something to their interest.

Committees of prominent authorities are preparing papers on the subjects of Improved Street Pavements, Electric Lighting, Sewerage and Sanitation, Water Works and Water Supply, Taxation and Assessment, City Government and Legislation and the Disposition of Garbage and Street Cleaning.

These papers are being prepared by the best authorities and will be freely discussed at the convention.

Now if your city is in need of information on the above questions, then your best and cheapest plan to pursue is to send to this convention the several officers of your city who have charge of these matters and they will find information there of much benefit to themselves and to your city.

Last year we had delegates from California, Alabama, Maine and Wisconsin, so you see the cities are awakening to the benefits to be derived from this convention.

Let me know as early as possible how many delegates your city will send.

Most respectfully,

D. L. FULTON,
Secretary A. S. M. I.

Received, filed and published, and referred to Public Improvement Committee.

By Ald. Johnston—

To the Honorable the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—Will the city sell from the north side of the Active Hose house lot on St. Paul street a strip of land eight feet in width extending from North St. Paul street to Liberty street, and being that portion of the lot unoccupied by the building proper.

The gentleman desirous of obtaining this land, providing it can be secured at a reasonable figure, is Mr. D. M. Childs, owner of the Childs building situated next north on the corner of North St. Paul, Mortimer and Liberty streets.

Mr. Childs would make use of the land by constructing a fireproof stairway and well for passenger elevator for his building, and will agree, if the property is sold him, not to disturb the stable of the hose house so long as the building is used by the city fire department.

Trusting to have the pleasure of receiving an early reply, I beg to remain,

Yours very respectfully,

C. F. GARFIELD.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

By Ald. Beard—

ASSESSMENT-COMMITTEE REPORT.

To the Honorable the Common Council: Gentlemen:—Your Assessment Committee beg leave to submit the following report:

In the matter of the petition of the Rochester Trust and Safe Deposit Company, as trustee of Helen J. Fishenden and Esther M. Mead and others, for cancellation of an assessment for the year 1896, on personal property charged against it as such trustee, we find that said petitioner has no personal property in trust for said Helen J. Fishenden and others except a mortgage of $5,600, and that the personal property which formerly was in the hands of said trustee consisted of mortgages upon real estate in this city, which have been foreclosed and have been bid in by the petitioners as such trustee, and such property is assessed as real estate for the general city taxes for the year 1896. The general city taxes had accumulated to a large extent upon said premises and the petitioner has had to pay the same, and we recommend that the petition be granted.

In the matter of the petition of Jeremiah Phelan and others, praying for relief from an assessment for the Front street outlet sewer upon their property situate on Mill street, we find that there is an arch stone sewer in Mill street, which is connected with the Platt street outlet sewer, and no part of its sewage passes through the Front street outlet sewer and is amply sufficient for the drainage of the petitioners, and we recommend that the petition be granted.

In the matter of the petition of Mary Conlan, we recommend that the petition be denied.

In the matter of the petition of Joseph Grosburger, we recommend that the petition be granted and that the City Treasurer be authorized to refund to the petitioner the sum of $53.31, being the tax on $1,000 for the years 1894, 1895 and 1896.

In the matter of the petition of Andrew McDade and the heirs of Patrick McGorray, we recommend that the petition be granted.

In the matter of the petition of Rosanna Kenney, we recommend that the petition be granted.

In the matter of the petition of Charles S. Davis, we recommend that the petition be denied.

In the matter of the petition of Mrs. Otto Pfeiffer, we recommend that the petition be denied.

In the matter of the petition of Anna W. Hakes, Mary Lockie and Edward A. Masseth for leave to pay the general city taxes on their property, with interest at 6 per cent., together with the City Treasurer's expenses of sale, etc., we recommend that the petition be granted.

In the matter of the petition of Thos. A. O'Hare, we recommend that the same be granted.

In the matter of the petition of Dean Alvord, we recommend that the same be granted.

In the matter of the petition of the property owners on Ambrose street for the cancellation of a portion of the assessment for the Ambrose street brick improvement under final ordinance No. 5,581, we find that the item of $219.73, set forth in the petition was expended upon the entrance to Jones avenue and is not properly a charge against the petitioners. We therefore recommend that the sum of $219.73 be credited by the City Treasurer proportionately to the petitioners and that the same be charged to erroneous assessments.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WILLIAM S. BEARD,
JOHN B. SIMMELINK,
HENRY G. COOK,
JOSEPH A. CRANE,
W. H. TRACY,
Assessment Committee.

LAW COMMITTEE REPORT.

By Ald. Adams—

To the Honorable the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—Your Law Committee beg leave to recommend an amendment to the existing bill posting ordinance so as to reduce the license fee from $50 to the sum of $10. This reduction is recommended because experience has shown that the present license fee has operated to create a monopoly in this business. Your committee believes that in justice to others who desire to engage in this occupation the license fee should be reduced.

We recommend the following commissioners of deeds:

Bayard J. Stedman, Carrie Baer, Minnie VanZandt, John M. Ladwig, Marion A. Corris.

Respectfully submitted,

M. B. ADAMS,
 HENRY G. COOK,
 WM. PAUCKNER,
 EDWAD ENGLEHARDT,

PUBLIC IMPROVEMENT COMMITTEE REPORT.

By Ald. Ward—

To the Honorable Common Council:

Gentlemen:—Your Improvement Committee to whom was referred the communication of the City Engineer dated August 18, 1896, relating to the matter of enlarging and deepening the sewer in West avenue, beg leave to report as follows:

The sewer in West avenue from the center of Canal street to a point about 200 feet east of Wentworth street was built under an ordinance passed July 12, 1853, and is 2 feet wide by 2 1-2 feet high. The territory assessed was "One tier of lots on each side of Buffalo street, from Park alley to Wentworth street; one tier of lots on each side of New York street, from Buffalo street to the north line of M. T. Gardiner's lot; one tier of lots on each side of Madison street, King street and Litchfield street to a point 200 feet north of Buffalo street; also one tier of lots on each side of Reynolds street, from Buffalo street to Troup street."

The Clifton street sewer was built under an ordinance passed in 1872 and empties into the West avenue sewer at Reynolds street. This sewer is 2 1-2 feet wide and 3 feet high. The territory assessed was that tributary to said sewer.

The City Engineer satisfied your committee that the West avenue sewer from Reynolds street to Canal street was entirely too small to serve as an outlet for the Clifton street district in addition to the draining the territory directly tributary to West avenue. It also appeared from the plans submitted by the engineer that the sewer in West avenue, from Reynolds street to Canal street was only from 6 1-2 to 7 feet below the surface. The total depth to the bottom of the sewer being from 9 to 9 1-2 feet.

Your committee was of the opinion that the property owners on West avenue interested should be fully informed of the existing conditions before the expensive improvement about to be made by the Street Railway Company in said avenue was completed. A call for a public meeting at the office of the City Clerk for Friday afternoon, August 18, was therefore issued. A number of citizens, some of them members of the West avenue street committee met your committee and the City Engineer at this time. Plans, diagrams and estimates showing the sewer in West avenue enlarged and deepened were submitted by the engineer.

The superintendent of the Warren-Scharf Asphalt Paving Co., whose guarantee on the West avenue pavement expires this fall, assured the chairman of your committee and the Executive Board that his company would extend said guarantee on the portion of the street affected for such time as the Executive Board might desire in case it was deemed advisable to build a sewer.

The matter was fully discussed by those present and the opinion was very emphatically expressed by the aforementioned residents of the avenue that no delay to the work of the Street Railway and Asphalt Co., should be permitted. None of the residents who had made complaints of having their cellars flooded by the overflow from the sewer appeared.

While your committee was of the opinion that the sewer in West avenue should be both enlarged and deepened to properly serve as an outlet for Clifton street sewer and also better serve the business places on the avenue, they do not feel justified in trying to force this improvement at this time, against the wishes of the people interested as expressed.

Respectfully submitted,
WILLIAM WARD,
JAMES JOHNSTON,
EDWARD ENGLEHARDT,
D. W. SELYE,
Committee.

By Ald. Pauckner—

To the Honorable Common Council of the city of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—Your City Property Committee has had under consideration the question of the care of the City Hall building. With the new floors occupied, an increased force will be required to keep the building cleaned and your committee would recommend the employment of three additional women. Your committee is also of the opinion that better service in the matter of the care of the building can be secured if a competent man be placed in charge thereof to have supervision of the cleaning force. We therefore recommend that Engineer E. E. Pruyn be transferred from the Police station to the City Hall building, and that Engineer John O'Leary be assigned to duty at the Police station.

Your committee invited bids on the window shades necessary for the new floors, and would recommend that the contract be awarded to Howe & Rogers company, the lowest bidders, for $54.93.

Your committee is advised by Architect Grandall that some repairs are necessary on the roof of the Front street city building, and would ask authority to invite bids for the same.

The attention of the committee has been called to the fact that the facilities for heating the quarters occupied by the Poor Department are insufficient and would ask authority to purchase two new stoves for the use of the department.

Respectfully submitted,
WM. PAUCKNER,
M. B. ADAMS,
EDWARD ENGLEHARDT,
M. J. CALIHAN,
WILLIAM WARD,
City Property Committee.

CITY PROPERTY COMMITTEE REPORT.

By Ald. Pauckner—

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Your City Property Committee beg leave to report upon the claim of Charles F. Burns & Co., for wiring the city hall as follows: The total of the claim is $2,585.71, of this amount, $875 has been paid, leaving a balance of $1,701.71. Of the latter amount the City Auditor questions the sum of $450 leaving $1,260.71 as unquestioned except upon the ground that the original resolution for the wiring of the City Hall called for an expenditure of $1,000. It was found absolutely necessary by your committee to have the work done to the full amount of the claim of Burns & Co. We ask that the claim be ratified to the extent of the amount unquestioned by the City Auditor, to wit: $1,260.71. And recommend the payment of this amount without prejudice to either party in the enforcement or defense of the balance under a stipulation to be drawn by the Corporation Council.

Respectfully submitted,
WM. PAUCKNER,
M. B. ADAMS,
M. J. CALIHAN,
City Property Committee.

Received, filed and published.

By Ald. Pauckner—Resolved, That upon the certificate of the Corporation Counsel, that proper stipulation has been filed with him, to the effect that Charles F. Burns & Co., for the sum of $1,260.71, payable from the Contingent Fund.

Whereas, Although said ordinance in express words, exempts the sale of fresh and wholesome meats by the quarter by farmers who have raised or fattened the same, nevertheless, in some manner the groundless report has become circulated that the authorities of the city of Rochester intend to place such a construction upon said ordinance as to prevent farmers and gardeners from disposing of their produce to their customers, and

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 15, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—Replying to the resolution of Alderman Ford, adopted at the last meeting of this council, I would say that the chairman of the Finance Committee never had possession of Messrs. Street, Wykes & Company's check of $4,000, and consequently could not have returned it against the wishes of Treasurer Williams. The check was received by Mr. Williams July 3d, and was returned by him July 28th. Messrs. Street, Wykes & Company agreed to purchase the bonds, and made their deposit of $4,000 upon the specific written condition that the bonds should receive the approval of their attorney. Shortly thereafter, Mr. Hord, attorney for Messrs. Street, Wykes & Company, claimed that the legislative act authorizing this particular bond issue, required the creation of a special sinking fund, and the raising annually by taxation for redemption purposes, a sum which would pay the interest on the bonds and equal their principal at maturity, and he wrote under date of July 10th, the following: "I would be pleased if you would send a certified copy of the ordinance creating the sinking fund required by the constitution and the laws under which these bonds were issued, in order that I may judge for myself whether the law has been complied with." These requirements could not be supplied, for they had not been complied with.

Mr. Hord thereupon declined to recommend the bonds, and Messrs. Street, Wykes & Company refused, in accordance with the terms of their contract, to accept them.

Meanwhile, Messrs. Street, Wykes & Company had received conflicting statements about the amount of the city's indebtedness, and upon receipt of their advices, the subject was considered at a meeting of the finance committee, attended by the chairman, Aldermen Adams, Cook, and Wilson, Treasurer Williams and Corporation Counsel Rodenbeck. At this meeting it was decided to invite Messrs. Street, Wykes & Company here, so that the conflicting reports of the city indebtedness could be fully explained, and at this same meeting the chairman was formally authorized to act for the finance committee upon all questions connected with the transaction. I was advised by the treasurer of the time of the expected visit from Messrs. Street, Wykes & Company's representative, and met him and Treasurer Williams at the latter's office. The conflicting debt statements were satisfactorily explained, but, inasmuch as Attorney Hord had formally declined to recommend their legality, and inasmuch as the statutory requirements had not been, and could not at that time be complied with, Mr. Wykes said it was clearly apparent that Mr. Hord could not change his opinion, and consequently that Messrs. Street, Wykes & Company could not purchase the bonds under their agreement.

This opinion was fully approved by Mr. Williams and myself, and we both agreed that negotiations should cease and the deposit be returned.

The correspondence with Messrs. Street, Wykes & Company was wholly through the treasurer's office, although the corporation counsel furnished the legal statements forwarded by the treasurer.

I was not a member of last year's council, nor familiar with the statute under which the bonds were to have been issued, viz.: Chapter 1018 of the laws of 1895. The resolution adopted by the council providing for the sale of the bonds, the advertisement for bids, and all other legal documents connected with the sale, were prepared in the corporation counsel's office, and assumed to be correct and complete. At no time did Mr. Rodenbeck or any person connected with his office tell me that a special sinking fund and annual tax levy deposit were required in connection with a bond sale under the statute in question.

These requirements must have been known to Mr. Rodenbeck, for they are quoted two different times in statements prepared by him for Messrs. Street, Wykes & Company, under dates of July 3d and July 9th. Had the legal requirements and the city's inability to meet them been fully understood, it is reasonable to say that the sale would not have been attempted at the time.

City Treasurer's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 12, 1896.

Alderman Johnston has read the above statement to me, and asks if, in my opinion, it is correct.

To the best of my knowledge and belief, after reading all the correspondence and papers furnished Messrs. Street, Wykes & Company in regard to the bond sale, I must say that the communication is a fair statement of the whole transaction.

(Signed) S. B. WILLIAMS,
Treasurer.

Concerning the query in the latter part of the resolution, asking why the bonds of the city of Buffalo brought a larger premium than those of our own city, I present the following statement showing the assessed valuation, indebtedness and tax levies of both cities:

	STATEMENT.
	Rochester.	Buffalo.
Amount of assessed valuation January 1, 1896	$ 99,389,050 00	$ 238,972,345 00
Amount of indebtedness, January 1, 1896	10,559,626 00	12,476,190 00
Percentage of debt to valuation	10 62	5 22
Amount of 1896 tax levy	2,135,000 00	3,588,423 00
Amount of tax for each $1,000 of valuation	21 48	15 01

From this statement, Buffalo shows to much the better advantage, and from an investor's standpoint it is only natural that Buffalo bonds should be the more attractive at the same rate of interest. I have no knowledge of the transaction in question, but assume that Buffalo's small percentage of indebtedness, and its low tax rate are the principal reasons for its bonds commanding a higher premium from investors than those of our own city.

Should Alderman Ford wish further information about these two or any other subjects I will be pleased to furnish it to the best of my ability.

Respectfully submitted,
JAMES JOHNSTON.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE MAYOR.

By the Clerk—

Mayor's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 21, 1896.

To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

I return to you without my approval final ordinance 6,491 for the improvement of Exchange street, with the following objections, and for the following reasons:

This ordinance provides for the improvement of a portion of Exchange street, and excepts from the portion of the street so to be improved, the space between the outer rails of the car tracks, and also eighteen inches outside of the outer rails.

First. On June 30, 1896, the common council adopted an ordinance (very similar to the present one) for the improvement of Exchange street. This ordinance excepted from the improvement the space between the outer rails of the car tracks. The executive board proceeded under the first ordinance, and advertised for bids for the work provided for by such ordinance.

Mr Gillis, an owner of property on Exchange street, thereupon began an action to set aside said ordinance, and to prevent the executive board from letting a contract for said improvement. One of the grounds of the action as stated in the complaint, was that the space between the car tracks needed improving as much as the rest of the highway, and that at some other time the space between the tracks would have to be improved, thus necessitating a much larger expense to the taxpayers on the street than if the whole street was improved at one time.

At the time of the commencement of this action an injunction was granted restraining the city and the executive board and their agents, and servants from letting any contract under said ordinance. This injunction was served on the executive board and myself, for the city, and public notice of said injunction was given by the various newspapers of the city. The city attorney is defending this action for the city and the executive board, claiming that the ordinance was proper, and one that the common council had power to pass.

A motion has been made by the city attorney to dissolve this injunction, and the motion has been argued before Hon. John M. Davy, and the same has not as yet been decided. On the argument, as I am informed, the city attorney claimed that the railway company can be compelled to take care of the street between the tracks and the eighteen inches on the outside thereof. This was denied by Mr. Gillis's counsel, and the further claim was made by him that if the railway company could be compelled to improve this space then that both improvements should be carried on at the same time. No resolution has been adopted by the common council requesting or compelling the railway company to repair the old, or construct a new pavement between its tracks. The railway company say that they cannot be compelled to make a new pavement.

Without waiting for a decision upon the several questions, so as to be able to proceed legally, the common council adopted the present ordinance leaving out the same space (the leaving out of which was the basis of Mr. Gillis's action, and one of the grounds on which the injunction was granted.) Having adopted the present ordinance and action thereon not having been postponed by the common council, under the charter it would become the immediate duty of the executive board to advertise and let the contract for the work provided for.

In my opinion the adoption of the present ordinance will be considered by the court as an evasion of its injunction order, and it will be treated as if it were an attempt to accomplish by the second ordinance, what they were prevented by the injunction from accomplishing under the first ordinance, and this would render the members of the council who knowing of this injunction, and with such knowledge voted for it, liable for contempt of court. The members of the executive board being under the injunction would hardly dare to let a contract when the same questions would be raised in reference to it as has been raised against the first. Yet by the adoption of the ordinance the common council has placed the executive board in a position where they must either refuse to carry out the ordinance, or to carry it out and make themselves liable for contempt of court. They should not be placed in that position. The present ordinance should not have been adopted until a decision of the questions raised as to the first ordinance, or the first ordinance should have been reconsidered and abandoned.

Second. No petition of the property owners who will be compelled to pay for this improvement, has ever been presented to the Common Council. While they concede, as I am informed, the necessity for the improvement, all they desire is that the same may go over for one year, by which time they will agree upon the kind of improvement they wish and then a proper ordinance can be adopted. This would seem in the present times a reasonable request.

And there is another reason why it should not be adopted now. A new bridge is soon to be built over the canal. If this is built it will necessitate, as I am informed, the lowering of the sewer in the street, and this would also necessitate the tearing up of about one thousand feet of the new pavement which should not be allowed.

There has been a remonstrance filed against the adoption of this ordinance signed, as I am informed, by a large majority of the property owners on this street; although some of them have signed a paper objecting to the paying for the strip between the car tracks, these parties have not, however, signed in favor of any improvement. As the property owners desire a year only, their wishes should be respected and the ordinance not now adopted.

For the reasons aforesaid, the ordinance is returned without my approval.

Very respectfully,

GEORGE E. WARNER, Mayor.

The Chair stated the question to be "Shall the final ordinance for Exchange street improvement, No. 6,401, stand notwithstanding the disapproval of His Honor, the Mayor?"

Ayes.—Alds. Tracy, Callihan, Ford, Green, Rauber, Adams, Edelman, Beard, Selye, Cook, Pauckner, Kelly, Crane, Englehardt, Wilson, Reichenberger.—16.

Nays.—Alds. Johnston, Ward.—2.

 To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

A committee representing the Rochester Pathological Society, called upon me recently, and made inquiry as to whether permits could not be granted to physicians of this city enabling them to ride their bicycles on the sidewalks between the hours of 10 o'clock p. m., and 6 o'clock a. m., when engaged in making calls upon their patients. I presume that one-half of our physicians have given up the use of horses and rely almost entirely upon their bicycles as a means of visiting the sick. Between the hours named the travel on our streets is very light as compared with the rest of the day, and danger from accidents correspondingly lessened. I see no reason why the request of the society should not be granted, and permits issued to the physicians of this city.

I respectfully ask that the matter be referred to the Law Committee for consideration.

Very respectfully,
 GEORGE E. WARNER, Mayor.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM OTHER CORPORATION OFFICERS, BOARDS AND DEPARTMENTS.

Office of the Executive Board,
 Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 29, 1896.

To the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—The Executive Board, in accordance with a resolution of your honorable body adopted on September 15th, referring to this Board, the proffer of James H. Nellis et al., offering to dedicate to the city of Rochester a parcel of land beginning at a point in the east line of Marsh street, 488 feet northerly from Brooks avenue; thence easterly on a line parallel with and 488 feet distant northerly from Brooks avenue to Genesee street; thence northerly along the west line of Genesee street sixty feet; thence westerly on a line parallel with the south line of the lands hereby dedicated and sixty feet northerly therefrom to Marsh street; thence southerly along the east line of Marsh street to the place of beginning.

Also, a tract or parcel of land beginning at a point in the east line of Marsh street, 484 feet northerly from Brooks avenue; thence easterly on a line parallel with and 484 feet distant northerly from Brooks avenue to Genesee street; thence northerly along the west line of Genesee street sixty feet; then westerly on a line parallel with the south line of the lands hereby dedicated and sixty feet northerly therefrom to Marsh street; thence southerly along the east line of Marsh street to the place of beginning, would respectfully report that no monuments had been set as stated in the communication, but under an agreement with James H. Nellis to properly monument the street, the Board deems it expedient to recommend the acceptance of the street.

Respectfully,
 THOS. J. NEVILLE, Clerk.

 By Ald. Johnston—

Office of the Executive Board,
 Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 29, 1896.

To the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—I am directed by the Executive Board to transmit to your honorable body the accompanying two bills of Jacob J. Young, for repairs to the city sweeping machines, which bills have been disallowed by the City Auditor on the grounds, that at the time this work was done and contracted for, Mr. Young held the position of School Commissioner and was, therefore, disqualified under the city charter to perform any such service or do such work for the municipality.

The Executive Board have only to state that these repairs were ordered by the foreman in charge of this work, who had been accustomed to order work of this kind done, before Mr. Young became a member of the city government, and he or Mr. Young were doubtless unaware of the restrictions in and prohibition by the provisions of the city charter concerning work done or services performed under the existing conditions.

There is no question but what the city has received full value for the amount of the bills presented by Mr. Young, and with the exception mentioned, it is a just and legal claim.

The Executive Board directs me that the subject matter of this communication be referred to the Finance Committee for such consideration as it may deem equitable and just to the claimant and the city.

Respectfully,
 THOS. J. NEVILLE, Clerk.

To the Honorable, the Common Council:
 Gentlemen:—At a meeting of the Health Board, held Sept. 24th, upon petition of John Ertl, a report and inspection was made of the premises Nos. 412 and 414 Brown street. The petition stated that he had been before the Board at different times for three or four years past and had endeavored to secure drainage for his property at the above numbers on Brown street. There is no sewer in front of his premises, and to secure an outlet for the drainage, it will be necessary to upturn several hundred feet of pavement and asphalt upon Brown street. There is a sewer in what is known as York alley, within a few feet of his land, but in order that he may get to it, it will be necessary to condemn a portion of the adjoining premises.

On motion of Commissioner Summer it was moved that the matter be referred to the Common Council, requesting it to take such proceedings as will be necessary to secure an outlet for the sewage at 412 and 414 Brown street, and thus abate a public nuisance.

A true copy from the minutes.

Geo. T. Foster, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is the City Sealer of the city of Rochester; that the foregoing contains a true and full report of the names of all persons, firms, corporations for whom he or any of his assistants have sealed or marked any weights or measures since the date of his last report, the description of all such scales, weights or measures so sealed or marked, and the amounts of fees or compensation collected therefor.

Received, filed and published.

By the Clerk—

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—On May 20, 1896, an act was passed by the Legislature of the state of New York, amending section 83 of the City Charter, so as to provide that the assessors in making up the annual assessment of property shall show in different columns the value of lands and buildings separately. We have thoroughly considered the matter of changing the assessment rolls to conform to this statute and after due deliberation, have concluded that it will be impossible to make the changes and do it as it ought to be done in time for the next assessment of property for general city taxes. We have begun work upon the rolls in conformity to the statute and will continue to make the changes as fast as consistent with a proper discharge of the duty imposed upon us. Being satisfied that the rolls cannot all be completed in time for the next tax levy and being informed by the Corporation Counsel that if all the rolls are not so completed they would not be legal, we recommend that the enforcement of this provision of the charter be postponed until a year later. We ask for some action on the part of your honorable body so that in order to comply with the statute we may not be compelled to separate the value of the land and buildings with any undue haste inconsistent with a proper performance of this work.

Respectfully submitted,

E. A. KALBFLEISCH.

By Aid. Pauckner—

Rochester, N. Y. Sept. 29, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—I, A. J. Rodenbeck, Corporation Counsel, do hereby certify that the entire cost and expenses for the extension of Werner park, under final ordinance No. 6,015, including the amount of the compensation to be paid to the owners for the land deemed necessary to be taken are the sum of $2,050.88.

Yours respectfully,

A. J. RODENBECK.

Corporation Counsel.

Received, filed and published.

By Aid. Pauckner—Whereas, The entire cost and expenses for the extension of Werner park in the city of Rochester, under final ordinance No. 6,015, including the amount of compensation to be paid to the owners of land deemed necessary to be taken has been ascertained and adjusted at $2,050.88, now therefore,

Resolved, That all persons interested in the matter of the ordering of an assessment for the aforesaid extension be heard as to the same at the next regular meeting of the Common Council to be held October 13, 1896, at 7:30 P. M., and that the City Clerk cause to be published, a notice of said hearing as required by section 190 of the City Charter.

By the Clerk—

Mayor's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 8, 1896.

Theodore S. Pulver, City Clerk:

Dear Sir:—Please call a meeting of the Common Council for October 9, 1896, at eleven o'clock A. M., for the purpose of considering the contract between the city and the Myers Ballot Machine Company.

Respectfully,

GEO. E. WARNER, Mayor.

Received, filed and published.

By the Clerk—

Mayor's Office, Oct. 8, 1896.

To the Common Council:

Gentlemen: Representatives of the Myers Ballot Machine Company called upon me today in reference to their contract with the city. They made in substance the following proposition: That their contract be continued in force and that they be given further time to deliver the machines, upon the following conditions, viz:

That the paper necessary for printing the ballots be ordered and delivered. This will take, as I am informed, ten days. If the machines are ready at that time for delivery and use then they pay for the paper ordered.

If at the time the paper for the ballots is ready the machines are not ready for delivery, then that all the ballots necessary for the election be printed, and if at the time the printing of the ballots is completed the machines are ready for delivery and use then they to pay the expense of the printing. If the machines are not then ready the contract to be terminated.

If this arrangement can be made I do not see why the contract cannot be allowed to remain in force for at least two weeks, if not longer, as in the meantime the paper can be ordered and the ballots printed. This will enable us to have the ballots ready for election if the machines are not ready for delivery. I do not see how this arrangement will in anywise prejudice the interests of the city or endanger the result of the election.

Yours respectfully,

GEORGE E. WARNER, Mayor.

Received, filed and published.

By Ald. Adams—Resolved, That the contract, dated November 18, 1895, made between the Myers American Ballot Machine Company of Rochester, New York, and the city of Rochester, be and the same is hereby cancelled and annulled.

By the Clerk—

Myers American Ballot Machine Co.,
Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 8, 1896.

To the Honorable, the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen: We cordially invite your honorable body to visit the works of this company on Friday, the 9th instant, at 4 o'clock P. M., or as soon thereafter as may suit your convenience.

We have a large force of mechanics engaged in finishing the machines and feel confident that we shall be ready to deliver the requisite number to the city in ample time for the coming election.

Respectfully yours,

Myers American Ballot Machine Co.,
G. C. Buell, Vice-President.

Received, filed and published.

By Ald. Adams—

At a meeting of the Monroe County Farmers' Protective Association, held at the Whitcomb House in the City of Rochester, N. Y., on the 10th day of October, 1896,

Resolved, That this association appreciates the prompt action of the Common Council of Rochester in amending the obnoxious provisions of the ordinance relating to peddlars in such a manner that it cannot be construed so as to require a farmer to take out a city license in order to sell his produce on the streets; and,

Resolved, That this association respectfully ask that the ordinance be further amended so that it will not require the farmers to have all his crates sealed by the City Sealer; that is, that when a farmer has a number of crates of the same style and make the sealing of one shall be sufficient, provided that when he is selling he have such sealed crate with him.

Resolved, That this association respectfully ask that the ordinance which now requires farmers to stand lengthwise of the curb and to move every ten minutes be so amended that they may stand backed up to the curb on one side of the streets ordinarily used by them while waiting for customers and disposing of their produce.

Resolved, That it is the sentiment of this association that the practice heretofore of standing on the streets of the City with loaded wagons and teams from 11 o'clock the night before and during the hours of the early morning waiting for the market to open is an unnecessary hardship upon the farmers and cruelty to animals, and that this association respectfully ask the Common Council to pass an ordinance prohibiting any wagons or teams from standing on any of the streets before 4 o'clock A. M., and see that the ordinance is strictly enforced without regard to person.

Resolved, That this association urge upon the city the necessity of a market place for the sale of all produce, to be established either by the city authorities or by private enterprise.

Resolved, That these resolutions be presented to Alderman Adams, Chairman of the Law Committee, for the consideration of the Common Council at their next regular meeting.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE MAYOR.

By the Clerk— Mayor's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 8, 1896.

To the Common Council of the city of Rochester:

I hereby return to you without my approval final ordinance No. 6413 for Lake avenue widening, for the following reasons, and with the following objections.

This ordinance provides for the widening of Lake avenue between Driving Park avenue and the old city line, by taking from the east side thereof a strip of land varying in width from five feet to one foot. The expense of this improvement is by the ordinance to be assessed upon one tier or lots on each side of Lake avenue between the points specified. No petition was presented to the common council asking for this improvement, and a remonstrance against the same, signed by a number of persons, has been filed with myself. No complaint is made that the roadway of Lake avenue, and the sidewalk on the east side of Lake avenue between the points named, are insufficient for the usual travel upon the same, and as a matter of fact, both are ample for the purposes required.

If this ordinance is adopted it would necessitate the moving of the cement sidewalks on the east side of Lake avenue between the points named, they having only been built three or four years ago. As the ground in Maple Grove is lower than Lake avenue it would also necessitate the filling in of four or five feet of the front of these premises which are to be taken, and the building of a retaining wall to hold the earth in place. If this were not done there would be a continued danger of the city being sued by people injured by walking into the lower land which would adjoin the sidewalks. None of these improvements are contemplated by the present ordinance, and another ordinance would have to be adopted to carry out the improvements above named, the expense of which would have to be borne by the residents on the east side of Lake avenue. The expense of all these improvements and the land taken would amount to a considerable sum, and no one having petitioned for them, the owners of the property should not be compelled at the present time to pay for the same.

It is evident that the object of this ordinance is to compel the removal of the high board fence in front of Maple grove, which fence, on account of its height and its being constantly filled with placards and notices has become very unpleasant and disagreeable to the people residing in that vicinity. Several months ago a resolution was adopted by the common council directing the executive board to remove encroachments on Lake avenue, the resolution being aimed at this fence. This resolution was based upon the theory that the fence was upon land of the city. This resolution should be acted upon, for the reason that if the fence is an encroachment it can be removed without any expense to the lot owners. If in this proceeding it should be determined there was no encroachment then this ordinance could not be adopted.

Supposing this ordinance is adopted and the sidewalks moved and the strip filled in and all the expenses therefor paid by the people liable, the question then would be presented has the object desired been accomplished? In my opinion it would not, as the owners of the grove could immediately erect the same fence or another of the same character, which would be just as objectionable as the present one, the only difference being that it would be four or five feet back. The adoption of this ordinance would not accomplish the object desired. In my opinion the owners of this land should voluntarily remove this fence and erect a picket fence or some other kind, which would be less objectionable than the one in question.

For the reasons aforesaid, the ordinance is returned without my approval.

GEORGE F. WARNER, Mayor.

Received, filed and published.

The Chair stated the question to be "Shall the ordinance for Lake avenue widening, No. 6413, stand, notwithstanding the disapproval of his honor, the Mayor?"

Ayes—Ald. Tracy, Ford, Green, Rauber, Adams, Edelman, Beard, Johnston, Seaye, Ward, Dewey, Cook, Pauckner, Kelly, Crane, Simmelink, Englehardt, Wilson, Reicherberger—19.

In the matter of Charles F. Burns Company.

The Auditor has carefully examined this claim, and fixed the value of materials furnished and work done by said company at the sum of $1,260.71, and made his report to the Common Council of that fact, and the Common Council has ordered the same paid, reserving, however, to said Charles F. Burns Company the right to sue the city for the balance claimed. Believing that when a settlement of this matter was made it should be final, and that the city if sued by the company might as well be sued for the whole amount as a part, I could not approve the resolution in its present form; but after conferences being had with representatives of said company, they stated that they were willing to accept the sum of $1,260.71 in full payment of the claim, and they having executed and delivered to the city a release of all claims upon the payment of said sum, I therefore approve of the same for the purpose of having this matter settled.

Respectfully,

GEO. E. WARNER, Mayor.

To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

The salaries of the following persons for the month of September, 1896, to wit: Shirley R. Snow, M. C. Mason and L. B. Hawley, city physicians, are hereby disapproved and vetoed for the following reasons:

The above parties have not been certified by the Civil Service Board to the Common Council and appointed by them after such certification. The appointment of said persons by the Common Council was a violation of the Civil Service laws of the State of New York. In these cases notice was filed after their appointment that such appointments were in violation of the Civil Service laws of the State of New York.

For the reasons aforesaid, the salaries of said officials are not approved.

Very respectfully,

GEO. E. WARNER, Mayor.

Ald. Johnston moved that action on the resolution disapproved by the Mayor, as to the salaries of Messrs. Hawley, Mason and Snow, be postponed until the next regular meeting. Carried.

Office of the Executive Board,
Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 20, 1896.

To the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—The Executive Board respectfully calls the attention of the Common Council to the existence of dangerous obstructions in the bed of the river, above the bridges of Andrews and Courts streets, in the shape of large trees which should be removed as soon as practicable, or cut up so that high water may carry them away from the central part of the city.

Many citizens have requested this department to cause the removal of these obstructions, but as the charter puts the river bed in charge and under control of the Common Council, the expenditure for this labor must necessarily be authorized and provided by your honorable body.

Respectfully,

THOS. J. NEVILLE, Clerk.

Received, filed and published and referred to Committee on Finance.

By the Clerk—

Office of the Executive Board,
Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 13, 1896

To the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—The Executive Board has deemed it expedient to dispense with the services of the men engaged in the work of flushing public sewers and house drains, because of the inability to pay from the appropriations for city purposes the amount necessary to pay for such duty.

When this service was discontinued by the Board of Health, the Executive Board assumed it because of the public necessity of its continuance, and it may be stated, that the necessity still exists; but as it is a service that does not legitimately come within the care and responsibility of the Executive Board because moneys were not provided for such purposes by the Common Council, it becomes a necessity and not a matter of choice or discretion to stop the work.

There are calls almost every day for flushing of house sewers and for the cleansing of street laterals from which arise foul odors and gases, and this state of things must continue to grow unless some remedy is provided to abate the nuisance.

An earnest consideration of this subject is suggested by the Executive Board, on the part of your honorable body, to the end that such provision be made for such relief as demanded, for the public health and comfort of our citizens.

Respectfully,

THOS. J. NEVILLE, Clerk.

By the Clerk—

Office of the Health Department,
 Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 13, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—At a meeting of the Board of Health of the city of Rochester, held October 8th, the following communication was received and action taken thereon:

October 5, 1896.

Dr. George W. Goler, Acting Health Officer:

Dear Sir:—Pursuant to your request I have made inquiry into the condition of the Manhattan street sewer, between Court and George streets, as to the best method that can be adopted to give the residents on this street temporary relief by the abatement of the nuisance of which they complain, and I beg to say, that I find the sewer in question, in the locality above designated, is constructed of 12-inch pipe; and at the last examination made, it was found to contain about six inches of deposit, which not only greatly interfered with the flow of the sewer, but also became a serious obstruction and impaired the usefulness of the lateral sewers from the houses and buildings on the street.

The sewer empties into the Court and William street outlet sewer, and permanent relief can only be obtained by building a sewer through Court street, North Union street, East Main street to Prince street, and temporary relief by cleaning that section of the sewer from Court street to George street.

In the matter of the Rundel park sewer, I may say, that it is constructed of 9-inch tile, and the permanent remedy is by taking said sewer up and deepening it to its outlet.

The sewer as now laid is practically a cess pool to receive the contents of the water closets and houses draining along the street, and the volume is so great of this kind of discharge as to make it useless for sewer purposes unless deepened and enlarged.

Respectfully,

—THOS. J. NEVILLE, Clerk.

By Commissioner Sumner—Resolved, That the Common Council be requested to have the sewer on Manhattan street between Court and George streets thoroughly cleaned and put in sanitary condition; also to have the sewer in Rundel park deepened and enlarged so that the premises on said street would be properly drained.

Adopted unanimously.

 By Ald. Ford—

Office of Executive Board,
 Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 13, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen: I am directed by the Executive Board to call your attention to the expediency of replacing the existing small water mains of the Hemlock and Holley systems in Mill street from Exchange place to Central avenue, with suitable larger pipes before the work of permanently improving said street under final ordinance No. 6,410 is commenced. The present Hemlock water main is only 4 inches in diameter and the Chief Engineer of the water works has recommended that it be enlarged to 12, 10, 8 and 6 inches, successively from Center street southerly, while for the Holley main an enlargement of from 4 inches to 6 inches is recommended.

The estimated cost of this enlargement or betterment of the water supply in said street is $2,350; but to make the work fully serviceable, the Hemlock main should also be correspondingly enlarged in Mill street from Central avenue to Center street, and in Center street from Mill street to State street, for which an additional sum of $650 will be required, thus making the total cost of the necessary work in this district $3,000.

There is applicable for the purpose about $2,200, which will probably be left in the Water Distributing System Fund, after the cost of the new connections at the junction of Court and South St. Paul streets has been paid therefrom; and it is therefore recommended by the Executive Board that the remaining sum of $800 be provided by you for the proper completion of the work indicated.

Respectfully submitted,
 THOS. J. NEVILLE, Clerk.

Received, filed and published.

By Ald. Ford—Resolved that the Executive Board be authorized to enlarge the existing water mains of the Hemlock and Holley systems in Mill street, from Exchange place to Center street, and in Center street, from Mill street to State street, at an estimated cost of $3,000; said cost to be charged to the Water Distributing System Fund as far as the balance left therein will suffice, and the remainder to be charged to the Water Pipe Fund, in case that a sufficient balance is left available therein.

Adopted.

By the Clerk--

City Engineer's Office.
Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 20, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:--In compliance with a resolution of your honorable body directing me to report at this meeting on the condition of the Otis street sewer in such commendation as may seem best in the premises, I would respectfully report as follows:

The sewer referred to was not built under an ordinance and no record thereof is on file in this office.

From information obtained from records of test pits on this sewer and from reports of residents I find the sewer in question begins near the southerly end of Warner street and runs northerly to Otis street, thence westerly in Otis street to a point near Rutger street, where it empties into an open ditch. This ditch had formerly a considerable flow of water coming into it from surface drainage to the south and west of the entrance of this sewer. The West Side sewer as now constructed intercepts said ditch both southerly and above the point of discharge of the said Otis street sewer and also northerly and below said point of discharge. The sewage from the said Otis street sewer is therefore now carried in an open ditch from its entrance, near Rutger street, across lots a distance of about 800 feet to where the West Side sewer intercepts said ditch, without the addition of any considerable amount of surface water. The above conditions render this open ditch, especially at the entrance of the sewer, a nuisance to the vicinity. Temporary relief may be had by the construction of about 700 feet of sewer in what is known on the maps of the territory as Vallentine street, and about 100 feet additional in Otis street. With the full development of a proper plan for the drainage of this section of the city the drainage of the territory sewed by the said Otis street sewer would be diverted to other proper outlets and the sewer now prepared for Vallentine street would be adapted for and properly serve to drain said street. As there is a necessity for relief from the above described nuisance and as the construction of the sewer above described would afford such relief at the least expense and at the same time serve the permanent future drainage of Vallentine street when required, I would respectfully recommend the passage of a resolution directing the City Engineer to prepare an ordinance for a sewer in Vallentine and Otis street in accordance with this report, or if further information is desired relative to the future permanent drainage of this territory, that this report be referred back for such additional information as may be desired.

Respectfully submitted,
E. A. FISHER,
City Engineer.

Received, filed and published.

By Ald. Selye--Resolved, That the City Engineer be directed to prepare an ordinance for the construction of a sewer of suitable form and dimensions from the outlet of the present sewer in Otis street to a connection in the West Side sewer in Vallentine street. Adopted.

MONROE COUNTY COURT—In the matter of the opening of Ludolph park.

To the Honorable, the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—The undersigned commissioners of appraisal in the above entitled proceeding, beg leave to submit the following memorandum in regard to the opening of Ludolph park.

After careful consideration we have awarded to Mr. Ludolph, nominal damages for his rights in Ludolph park. We are informed, however, that there exists upon the city assessment rolls an assessment amounting to $328.43 for the Bay street improvement, and also unpaid general city taxes upon said premises. We think it equitable that inasmuch as we have found that only nominal damages shall be awarded Mr. Ludolph, for the property which is to be taken by the city in this proceeding, that he should be relieved from the payment of the assessment for said Bay street improvement and the general city taxes so far as they relate to the property taken in this proceeding, and we recommend that your honorable body cancel the same.

Commissioners of Appraisal.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 27, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—The Myers Ballot Machine Company hereby respectfully petitions your honorable body to adopt the use of the Myers ballot machines at all elections to be hereafter held in the city of Rochester, on the terms embodied in the contract made with this company in November, 1895. This company, in the event that such contract is made and the machines accepted and paid for by the city, offers to defray all expenses incurred by the city for the purpose of printing ballots for use at the ensuing election by the Australian method of voting.

Respectfully yours,

THE MYERS AMERICAN
BALLOT MACHINE CO.

By G. C. BUELL,

Vice-President.

Receiver, filed and published.

By Ald. Ford—

Resolved, That the Myers automatic ballot machine be and it hereby is adopted for use at all elections hereafter to be held within the city of Rochester upon the execution of the contract herein provided for by the mayor of the city, and by the Myers American Ballot Machine Company.

Further Resolved, That the mayor of said city be and he hereby is authorized to execute with the said company a contract under the seal of the city, whose terms shall be as follows:

THIS AGREEMENT

Made this — day of October, 1896, between the Myers American Ballot Machine Company of Rochester, New York, hereafter called "said company," and the city of Rochester, hereafter called "said city,"

WITNESSETH:

That said company hereby agrees to sell to said city and deliver the same on or before October 31, 1896, at such places as may hereafter be designated by the mayor of said city, seventy Myers American ballot machines of the latest pattern, upon the following terms: said city shall thereupon have the right to use said machines at all elections thereafter to be held within its limits authorized by law, and in no other places and for no other purposes, but said city may abandon the use of said machines, or any number thereof, at any time and in case of such abandonment, said city may sell or dispose of the same as it deems proper, and may substitute other machines in their place, or return to any other legal form of voting. Said machines shall be delivered in perfect condition. Said company agrees to store said machines at its own expense until they shall be required by said city for the purposes of the election to be held in November, 1896. Said company guarantees that each of said machines will at all times, secure an honest count and a secret vote when protected against unlawful interference, will operate as required by law, and will be suitable for any and all elections hereafter to be held in said city. Said company agrees to furnish with each machine complete instructions for its use in the proper conduct of elections and to supply without charge to said city sufficient competent men to superintend the erection of said machines for use at the election to be held November 3, 1896.

Said company guarantees that if said machines are properly used and cared for they will remain in perfect condition for a period of ten years, from November 3, 1896. Said company further agrees that if during the period of ten years from the date of this contract, said company shall add improvements or become the owner of improvements to voting machines of the kind above mentioned, it will apply such improvements to machines owned by said city on request of said city, without charge. Said city shall have the benefit of all improvements hereafter made or owned by said company to said machines, without charge for royalty. Said company agrees that if before December 2, 1899, it shall become unlawful by legislative enactment, judicial construction, or otherwise, for said city to use said machines at elections held in said city, said city shall be relieved from the obligation to make any payments hereunder remaining unmaturred at the time such use shall become unlawful. In case the statutes authorizing the use of said machines shall be modified at any time during the ensuing four years so as to require changes in said machines, said company agrees to make such changes so as to make said machines conform in all respects to the law as modified without charge to said city. Said company agrees to furnish a bond in the penal sum of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) of an approved surety company or of responsible individuals freeholders of this state, indemnifying and saving harmless said city, and its officers, servants and agents from any and all claims, damages, costs, expenses, suits, proceedings, judgments or decrees made, incurred, brought or recovered for, or on account of, the purchase or use of said machines, by said city, and for the faithful performance of this contract for a period of ten years. Said company agrees that if within four years from the date of this agreement it should sell its machines at a less price than that which said city paid under this agreement, it will refund to said city the difference between the price paid by said city under this agreement and the price for which said machines were sold.

Said city agrees to pay $450 for each of said machines on December 2, 1896, but it is agreed that the city shall have the privilege instead of paying the full amount on said date, to pay one-quarter of the entire purchase price on said second day of December, 1896, and the remaining three-quarters in three equal annual payments thereafter, with interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum, payable on each installment as it matures. Said company agrees that any additional machines that said city may desire for the ensuing or for future elections may be purchased at the same prices herein stipulated.

This sale shall be of no effect unless said machines operate satisfactorily to the common council of said city and unless the guarantees, covenants and agreements herein specified shall be fully kept and performed by said company.

This agreement shall not be construed to require said city to continue the use of said machines any longer than its common council.

deems proper, or to purchase any additional machines from said company, but said city shall be free to purchase any legalized machines in case it so desires.

The said company assumes and agrees to pay whatever liability or indebtedness shall have been incurred by the said city for the purpose of printing ballots and for enlarging the booths for use by the city at the ensuing election by the Australian system, provided the said city accepts and pays for said machines.

This agreement is to bind the successors and assigns of the respective parties.

In witness whereof, said company has caused its seal to be hereunto affixed, and this agreement to be signed by its president, and said city has caused the hand of its mayor to be hereunto set, and the seal of said city to be hereunto affixed this _____ day of October, 1896.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE MAYOR.

By the Clerk—

Mayor's Office,

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 4, 1896.

To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—I hereby return to you without my approval, the resolution adopted at your last meeting, directing the payment of the salary of Dr. L. B. Hawley, for the month of October, 1896, for the following reasons:

Dr. Hawley's name has never been certified to the Common Council by the Civil Service Board, and he has not therefore been appointed in compliance with the provisions of the Civil Service laws of the state of New York.

Very respectfully,

GEO. E. WARNER,

Mayor.

Received, filed and published.

Ald. Ford moved that action on the resolution vetoed by the Mayor, be postponed two weeks. Carried.

By the Clerk—

Mayor's Office,
Rochester, N. Y. Nov. 4, 1896.

To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Final ordinance No. 6,416 for No. 14 school cement walks is returned without my approval.

When this ordinance was first suggested I was favorably impressed with the same, as the walks inside of the yard had been broken by driving over them for the purpose of unloading coal, and they should be taken up and moved, or new walks relaid; but the work inside of the school yard is for the Board of Education to do under the charter. A similar question came up in reference to School No. 34.

Respectfully,
GEO. E. WARNER,
Mayor.

Received, filed and published.

The Chair stated the question to be: "Shall the final ordinance No. 6,416 stand notwithstanding the veto of his Honor the Mayor?"

Lost by the following vote:

Nays—Ald. Calikan, Ford, Green, Rauber, Adams, Edelman, Beard, Johnston, Ward, Dewey, Cook, Pauckner, Kelly, Crane, Simmelink, Englehardt, Wilson, Reichenberger—18.

COMMUNICATIONS AND REPORTS FROM OTHER CORPORATION OFFICERS, BOARDS AND DEPARTMENTS.

By Aid. Kelly—

November 9, 1896.

J. Miller Kelly, Esq., Rochester, N. Y.:

Dear Sir:—In reply to your inquiry with reference to the status of the claim of the city against the state arising out of the construction by the city of Allen, Brown and Smith street and Lyell and Plymouth avenue lift bridges, I beg leave to say, that the claim of the city was filed the latter part of the year 1895. The claim has not been brought to a hearing because it was deemed inadvisable to do so on account of the language of the act authorizing the submission of the claim. That act provides, that the liability of the state shall be limited to such sum as the state would have expended to maintain bridges at the places mentioned of the character of the bridges mentioned prior to the erection of the lift bridges, and does not permit the board of claims to allow anything toward the expense of constructing said bridges and is therefore not equitable in its terms. An amendatory statute was introduced into the legislature last winter, providing that the board might award such sum toward the expense of constructing and maintaining said bridges as shall appear to have been necessary to preserve in a safe and substantial manner the continuity of such streets so as not unnecessarily to impair the usefulness of the same. This act was passed by the Senate and Assembly, but was not signed by the Governor after the adjournment of the Legislature and therefore failed to become a law. I believe that the amendatory act will finally become a law, because it is no broader in its terms than the general statute, being chapter 338 of the laws of 1894, which provides that when a bridge of a more costly nature is desired by the local authorities of a city than is required to preserve a street in a safe and substantial manner so as not unnecessarily to impair its usefulness, the Superintendent of Public Works shall estimate and determine the portion of the costs which, in order to preserve the continuity of the street, the state ought equitably to pay.

In the present case the bridges having been constructed, it is proper to allow the Board of Claims to determine what portion of the expense should be borne by the state, and the only difference between the amendatory act and the general statute is that the former allows the Board of Claims to determine the amount which the state should pay, and the latter leaves it to the Superintendent of Public Works.

Respectfully submitted,

A. J. RODENBECK,
Corporation Counsel.

Dear Sir:—During the last high water there was several logs lodged in the arch underneath our store, and a large quantity of drift wood has now accumulated. We think it would be the proper thing to cut it away as soon as possible, as the logs became lodged when the water was highest they will not be floated when it rises again.

Please give this matter your prompt attention and oblige

MISCELLANEOUS COMMUNICATIONS.

By the Clerk—

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 10, 1896.

To S. B. William, City Treasurer and to the Honorable Common Council:

Gentlemen:—On the 8th day of May, 1893, a judgment was entered in the Monroe County Clerk's office in the case of the people ex rel. Oak Hill Cemetery Association against Luther A. Pratt et al., directing the City Treasurer to cancel the taxes against the Oak Hill Cemetery Association for the year 1890. On the 3rd day of May, 1893, a judgment was also entered, directing the City Treasurer to cancel the taxes standing upon the assessment roll of the city of Rochester against the Oak Hill Cemetery Association for the year 1891. The City Treasurer has never complied with the terms of these judgments, and I respectfully call your attention to the fact, that unless the terms of these judgments are at once complied with, it will be necessary for me to institute legal proceedings to compel compliance with their terms. These taxes are a cloud upon the title to my real estate, under the existing circumstances, and I would much prefer that the matter be adjusted without the intervention of the courts.

Very respectfully yours,

J. B. Y. WARNER,

Received, filed and published and referred to Committee on Law.

By the Clerk—

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 30, 1896.

Mr. Theodora Pulver, City Clerk, Rochester, New York:

Dear Sir:—Your letter of the 26th inst. enclosing clipping from Council proceedings received. I will say that I brought the matter up before our superintendent, who tells me that he has improved the pavement on Hudson avenue, and is now waiting for a roller to properly roll the same to grade. Thanking you, however, for your communication, I am,

Yours very truly,

F. O. RUSLING,

General Manager.

new conduit, we beg leave to say that after an investigation of the claim, we recommend the settlement of the same for the sum of $15,600, which represents the same ratio between past and future damages with respect to this property as that in the case of Henry E. Boardman, whose claim was recently paid by the city.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—Your Law Committee beg leave to report on the various matters submitted to it as follows:

In the matter of the claim of William A. Sabin for damages to horse and harness, amounting to $25, we recommend that the same be allowed. Mr. Sabin's horse fell into a well of a lateral sewer in front of Weaver, Palmer & Richmond's hardware store, after the Executive Board had received actual notice of the dangerous condition of the well of said lateral sewer.

In the matter of the claims of John Flanigan and Isaac De Mallie, Sr., to have refunded to them the sum of $5 each paid for peddlers' licenses, we recommend that the same be allowed. We find that these persons are farmers who took out licenses under the hucksters' ordinance, which has recently been amended so as to exempt them from the payment of any license fee. We think it is just that these amounts should be refunded.

We recommend the appointment of the following Commissioners of Deeds:

William C. Hutte, James H. Oberlies, Raymond H. Arnot, Edward Lynn, B. F. LaRue, Gurney T. Curtiss, John C. Enders, Emma M. Petty, Marie L. Owen, Wm. James Baker, Charles E. Murphy, M. W. Wynne, William Ross Rannie, Charles E. Thompson, Charles H. McNeil.

CITY PROPERTY COMMITTEE REPORT.
 To the Honorable the Common Council of the city of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—Your City Property Committee has had under consideration the question of better elevator service for the City Hall. With the elevator continued to the fourth and fifth floors, and with the new floors occupied, we are of the opinion that the elevator should be kept running continuously from 7 o'clock A. M. till 9 o'clock P. M. each day except Sundays.

We therefore ask your authorization to employ an additional elevator conductor.

We also recommend the employment of a laborer to assist the engineer at the City Hall.

With the enlarged quarters provided for the Poor Department, we are of the opinion that it will be cheaper and give better satisfaction to provide furnaces for the heating of the same, than to purchase additional stoves.

Your committee would therefore ask for authority to invite bids for the proper heating of the Poor Department quarters with furnaces. Respectfully submitted,

M. B. ADAMS,
 M. J. CALIHAN,
 E. ENGLEHARDT,
 ALVIN H. DEWEY,

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE MAYOR.

By the Clerk—
 Mayor's Office,
 Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 17, 1896.

To the Common Council of the city of Rochester:

I hereby return to you without my approval the resolutions adopted at your meeting of November 10, 1896, authorizing the city property committee to hire a laborer to assist the engineer at the city hall; also authorizing the employment of an additional elevator conductor at a salary of $480 a year, and fixing from seven o'clock A. M. to nine o'clock P. M. as the hours during which the elevator should be run, making seven hours labor for each conductor a day.

On September 15th last the common council adopted a resolution adding three extra women to the force then employed in the city hall at an extra expense of $780 a year; and transferred to the city hall an engineer from the police station, and one from the city hall was transferred to the former place. This was done on account of the changes made in the city hall and to give better service therein.

It is now proposed that an additional expense of $480 be added for elevator service, and $540 for labor, an additional expense of $1,020, or an increase of $1,800 in the yearly expense of running the city hall.

It will be conceded that the elevator service should be better than it is; but there is no necessity for its use from 7 o'clock A. M., to 9 o'clock P. M. If it should be run from 7:30 A. M. to 6:30 P. M., it would serve for all purposes except the nights of the common council meetings. From 6:30 P. M. the demand for elevator service would not be sufficient to warrant its use. Taking this time it would give to each elevator man five and one-half hours a day, leaving two and a half hours for each, which could be devoted to assisting the engineer. There is no doubt but two men and the engineer could do all the work which it is proposed to have four men do.

The city has already more employes than is necessary, and they should be decreased rather than increased.

The whole matter is respectfully referred back to the common council for their further consideration Very respectfully,

GEORGE E. WARNER, Mayor.

Received, filed and published.

Ald. Adams moved that action on the resolutions disapproved by the Mayor be postponed until the next meeting. Carried.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—In regard to the West Side Sewer certificates given the city as collateral for the city's bond for $25,000, which will be due and payable February 24, 1897. The certificates bear interest at 6 per cent., and the bond was placed at 4 per cent. interest. The West Side Sewer Commission request the city to take new certificates, or bonds, in place of the ones which will be due January 1, 1897.

What are your instructions in regard to the same?

Respectfully submitted,
S. B. WILLIAMS,
Treasurer.

Received, filed and published and referred to Committee on Finance.

By Ald. Johnston—
To the Honorable, the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

The city holds $25,000 in certificates of indebtedness issued by the West Side Sewer Commission, which become due January 1st next. The Commission asks the city to exchange these certificates for bonds running eight years for the reason that the Commission has nearly exhausted its resources in completing the sewer to Jay street. Other work like making the Lake avenue connections requires immediate attention. The money cannot be raised to pay the city when its certificates become due without seriously impeding the work in hand.

Your very respectfully,
H. G. PIERCE, Secy.

All buildings in Class IV. (B) containing seating capacity for 500 or more people.

All buildings used for the storage of inflammable oils or explosives.

Sec. 7. If buildings of Classes IV. (A) or IV. (B) are built in conjunction with or as part of buildings devoted to the uses of Class I., II., or III., then such buildings of Class I., II. or III. shall be built of fireproof construction, if the connected buildings of Class IV. (A) contain more than 1,500 seats, or if the connected buildings of Class IV. (B) contains more than 1,000 seats.

Any building higher than fifty-two (52) feet and connected with or made part of any building of Classes IV. (A) or IV. (B) shall be entirely of fire-proof construction. Any building less than fifty-two (52) feet in height and made part of any structure of Classes IV. (A) and IV. (B) shall, if its case is not already covered by other provisions of this ordinance be made of slow burning construction.

In all cases where fireproof construction is not used for the whole of such connected buildings, there shall be at each connecting opening double fireproof doors between such buildings of Class IV. (A) and IV. (B) and the building connected therewith.

(b.) Buildings which shall be fireproof in part.

Sec. 8. The exterior construction of all buildings of Class II. over fifty-two feet in height.

Boiler rooms, engine rooms and dynamo rooms in all buildings in Classes I., II. and IV.

(c.) Buildings which shall be of slow-burning construction.

Sec. 9. All buildings in Class I., not more than eighty (80) feet in height, which are not fire-proof, shall be of slow burning interior construction.

All buildings in Class II., over fifty-two (52) feet in height and less than seventy-two (72) feet, which are not fireproof, shall be of slow burning interior construction.

(d.) Buildings which may be of ordinary construction.

Sec. 10. All buildings in Classes I., II. and III., under fifty-two (52) feet in height, may be of ordinary construction, but if any building in Class III. exceeds fifty-two (52) feet in height, it shall be considered as being in Class II.

V.—REQUIREMENTS AS TO CONSTRUCTION OF BUILDINGS.

(a.) Excavations.

Sec. 11. Whenever an excavation is to be made for any building or other purpose and there shall be any wall or other structure wholly or partly on adjoining land or near the intended excavation, then the party causing such excavation to be made shall notify the owner of said adjoining premises of such intended excavation and also of the depth to which it is proposed to be made.

Sec. 12. The owner of the adjoining premises shall have the right to enter upon the property of the party causing such excavation to be made for the purpose of securing his building, at such time as he is notified that such excavations are about to be made, and within (3) days after receiving such notice he shall proceed to make such building secure at his own expense.

Sec. 13. Such walls shall be extended by the party owning the building adjoining the intended building, to a depth of ten (10) feet; but in all cases where the walls have been extended to this depth, then, in those cases, the party building upon the adjoining lot and excavating the cellar to a greater depth, shall at his own expense, underpin, sustain and protect the adjacent walls. In the event of the owner or owners of the adjoining premises refusing to extend his walls to the depth of ten (10) feet after having had a notice of twenty-four (24) hours from the fire marshal, then the fire marshal may enter upon the premises and employ such labor and furnish such material to extend such walls to the depth of ten (10) feet at the expense of the person or persons herein referred to.

Sec. 14. In excavating to adjoining premises, where there is not existing a retaining wall at the time of such excavation and in excavating to line of street curbs for any building or other purpose, to a greater depth than four (4) feet from grade, the party causing such excavation shall sheet pile with plank two inches thick, extending full width and from grade to bottom of excavation. The party causing such excavation and placing such sheet piling, shall replace all damaged work and material, in as good condition as it was before excavation was commenced.

(b.) Foundations.

Sec. 15. Foundations shall be proportioned to the actual average loads they will have to carry in the completed and occupied building, and not to theoretical or occasional loads.

Sec. 16. Foundations shall be constructed of either of the following: Cement, concrete, dimension or rubble stones, iron or steel beams or rails, timber piles, or a grillage of oak timber, it being provided, however, that no timber shall be used in connection with any foundation at a higher level than that of a permanent saturation.

Sec. 17. Where pile foundations are used, borings of the soil shall first be made to determine the position of the underlying stratum of hard clay or rock, and the piles shall be made long enough to reach hard clay or rock, and they shall be driven down to reach the same, and such piles shall not be loaded more than twenty-five (25) tons to each pile.

Sec. 18. Piles must not be less than six (6) inches in diameter at the small end, nor less than twelve (12) inches, at the large end; they shall be of sound oak timber, or timber of equal strength and shall not be driven more than three (3) feet apart from center to center, nor closer together than two (2) feet from center to center.

Sec. 19. The tops of all piles shall be cut off below the lowest water line. When required concrete shall be rammed down in the interspaces between the heads of the piles to a depth and thickness of not less than twelve (12) inches and for one (1) foot in width outside of the piles. Where raftering and capping timbers are laid on piles for foundations they shall be of hard wood not less than six (6) inches thick and properly joined together and their tops below the water line. In all cases the timber cappings shall be so proportioned that in the transmission of strains from pile to pile the extreme fibre strain in the timbers composing the grillage shall not be more than twelve hundred (1,200) pounds to the square inch.

Sec. 20. All buildings over seventy-two (72) feet in height, shall have at least three (3) rows of piles under the foundation where piles are required.

Sec. 21. Foundations except for buildings of class 3, shall not be laid on filled or made ground and no foundation shall be laid on any soil containing admixture of organic matter.

Sec. 22. If steel or iron rails or beams are used as parts of foundations, they must be thoroughly imbedded in a concrete, the ingredients of which must be such that after proper ramming, the interior of the mass will be free from cavities. The beams or rails must be entirely enveloped in cement mortar not less than one (1) inch thick. Any cement may be used equal to standard called for in section 83.

Sec. 23. If concrete foundations are used by themselves and without the insertion of iron or steel beams or rails, the offsets on top of same shall not be more than one-half the height of the respective courses and the narrowest course of such concrete foundation must not be loaded more than eight thousand (8,000) pounds per square foot. The first, or bottom course, must not be less than twelve (12) inches thick. If reinforced by iron or steel rails or beams, the load and offsets in the same must be so adjusted that the fibre strain upon the metal if iron, shall not exceed twelve thousand (12,000) pounds per square inch; or if steel, that the fibre strain shall not exceed sixteen thousand (16,000) pounds per square inch.

Sec. 24. Dimension stones must have uniform beds and the offsets in the same, where two (2) or more layers are used, must not be more than three-quarters of the height of the individual stones. They must be set with full beds of cement mortar under their entire areas, and in such manner that they will not rock after being set. Dimension stone in foundation shall not be subject to a load of more than twelve thousand (12,000) pounds per square foot. If the beds of the stones are dressed and levelled off to uniform surface and the stones are set in Portland cement mortar, this strain may be increased to fourteen thousand (14,000) pounds per square foot.

Sec. 25. Rubble foundations and rubble walls must be built of approximately square and flat bedded stones, well and thoroughly bonded in both directions of the walls each stone thoroughly bedded in mortar, under its entire area in such manner that it will not rock, and all interspaces between individual stones must be thoroughly filled with mortar, and if the spaces should be large, pieces of broken stones must be driven into the mortar. Whenever walls of any kind are used as curb walls, their exterior surfaces must be rendered approximately water tight.

Sec. 26. Foundations must in all cases extend at least four (4) feet below the surface of the ground upon which they are built, provided that sound hard soil is found at that depth; if not, they must be carried to sound, hard soil. In all cases a connection with the street sewer shall be established before beginning the work of laying foundations and where foundations are built in wet soil it shall be unlawful to build the same unless the trenches in which the work is being executed are kept free from water by draining, bailing, pumping or otherwise, if such is possible, until after the completion of work upon the foundations

Sec. 27. The cement to be used in concrete footings for all buildings over 52 feet in height shall be a standard cement which must be approved by the fire marshal. Cement must be kept dry, and must be used fresh from the package; cement which has been permitted to become wet, hard or lumpy before it is mixed into the mortar or concrete shall not be used. Cement mortar for concrete shall be made in the proportions of one (1) of cement (quality equal to that before described) to three (3) parts sand mixed dry and then tempered with water. Enough of this mortar shall be used to completely fill the interstices between the stones. The use of concrete or mortar of all kinds, the ingredients of which are not thoroughly and completely mixed and which are not free from lumps or other unmixed portions of the ingredients is prohibited; and also the use of cement mortar which has become partly or wholly set before use. Concrete foundations wherever used must have boxes of plank all around them and the concrete must be well rammed in individual layers not more than six (6) inches each in thickness. The ramming must be continued until the water stands on the top of the mass of concrete.

Sec. 28. Stone used for making concrete for foundations must be clean and free from dirt and dust, and must be broken to pass through a two (2) inch ring. All sand must be free from admixture of loam and must be otherwise clean and sharp.

Sec. 29. In no case shall the soil under any building be loaded with a greater weight than three and one-half tons per square foot. If the foundations of any building rest upon bed rock the rock must be leveled and stepped to receive the walls. If the soil under any building to be erected is composed of other materials than hard clay or gravel, then the area of the foundation shall be extended as directed by the superintendent of buildings until the pressure on the soil is reduced to a safe limit.

Sec. 30. All foundation walls shall be built of stone or brick laid in cement mortar except foundations for all buildings of class 33, and for all buildings not more than two (2) stories high, which may be built with lime mortar. Foundation walls shall be at least four (4) inches thicker than the walls next above to a depth of twelve (12) feet below said wall, and they shall be increased four (4) inches in thickness for every ten (10) feet or fraction thereof below said twelve (12) feet of brick or stone walls.

(c.) Heights of Buildings.

Sec. 31. The limits of heights of buildings herein given for non-fire-proof buildings shall be from the sidewalk level to the highest point of roof thereof. The limits of height of fire-proof buildings shall be measured from the sidewalk level to the highest point of roof, in case said building has flat roof, but if said building has a gable or hipped roof, then only half the height of said roof above the plates on which the feet of the rafters rest shall be taken into consideration in measuring the height of the building.

No building shall be erected in the city of Rochester which shall be more than four times the average of its least horizontal dimensions.

(d.) Wind Pressure.

Sec. 32. In the case of all buildings the height of which is more than one and one-half times their least horizontal dimensions, allowances shall be made for wind pressure which shall not be figured at less than thirty (30) pounds for each square foot of exposed surface. Where the dead weight of the structure is not sufficient to insure stability against wind pressure, the following precautions must be taken to give the required stability:

First. Wrought or steel pillars must be constructed in such manner as to pass through two (2) stories with joints breaking in alternate stories.

Second. Rigid connections must be made between vertical and horizontal members.

Third. A sufficient quantity of diagonal bracing must be included in the construction to insure absolute stability.

Fourth. Portal web bracing must be intersected where necessary.

In buildings deficient in initial stability, the use of cast iron columns will not be allowed.

(e.) WALLS.

Thickness of Walls in Class I.

Sec. 33. In buildings of Class I, all surrounding walls and dividing walls, in the same, carrying the loads of floors and roof shall be made as indicated in the following table, to wit:

The thickness of walls specified herein and set forth in the tables for the various classes of buildings shall be for each class of buildings, intended to apply to all external inclosing walls and also to such internal walls as may be required for the support of floors and roofs.

Thickness of Walls in Classes II., III., IV.

In Class II, surrounding walls and all dividing walls in the same carrying the loads of floors and roofs shall be made as indicated by the following table, to wit:

For special conditions governing the thickness of walls in Class IV., see "Buildings of Class IV." Sec. 188.

(f.) Minimum Thickness of Walls.

Sec. 34. Walls surrounding stairways, elevator shafts, shaving pits and light shafts shall not be less than eight (8) inches thick, but no eight (8) inch wall shall be built more than twelve (12) feet in height without lateral supports or anchorage, and the total height of any eight (8) inch wall shall not exceed twenty-four (24) feet. Eight-inch walls may be used in buildings in Class III., not to exceed twelve (12) feet in height.

Sec. 35. Walls surrounding ventilating ducts, and rubbish and ash chutes shall be constructed in accordance with the regulations governing the construction of smoke flues elsewhere herein contained. Twelve-inch walls used for inclosing stairways, shafts, etc., shall not be built higher than twenty (20) feet without lateral supports or anchorage.

Sec. 36. If buildings of Class I. are erected of less depth than one hundred (100) feet, from front to rear or between cross walls, and if the walls supporting their floors and roof are less than twenty-five (25) feet apart, the thickness of walls given in the aforesaid table may be reduced by four (4) inches, excepting only that no wall in such building shall be less than twelve (12) inches thick.

Sec. 37. In the erection of buildings of masonry construction, no wall shall be carried up at any time more than one (1) story above another wall of the same building. The walls and skeleton framework of all buildings must be kept securely braced and otherwise protected against the effects of the weather during all building operations. All foundations must be protected against the effects of frost, and frozen cement mortar shall not be used in connection with building operations.

(g.) Division Walls.

Sec. 38. Dividing walls will be required in buildings of Class I., as follows: For buildings of ordinary construction, if their floor area exceeds 9,000 square feet; for buildings of slow-burning or mill construction, if their area exceeds 12,000 square feet; for fire-proof buildings, if their area exceeds 15,000 square feet. In each of the before-mentioned cases, such buildings shall be subdivided by brick walls, built of the thickness given in the table for the thickness of inclosing walls, and all doors and other openings in such walls shall have fire-proof doors or shutters on each side of same, and the buildings so sub-divided shall be treated as regards stairs and fire escapes the same as two (2) or more separate buildings.

Sec. 39. If openings are to be inserted in dividing walls, as before described, or in dividing walls between fire-proof and non-fire proof buildings, or parts of buildings, they shall have underwriters' automatic self-closing fire-proof doors on each side of the opening. Doors and shutters shall shut directly against the masonry or into a rabbet in the masonry, or into an iron frame rabbet, and where the frame is of wood, it shall be as securely covered with tin as the door itself.

Outside shutters may be constructed of iron, the hanging to be same as above.

The sills between the doors must be of brick, iron, stone or concrete and must rise at least one (1) inch above the floor on each side of each opening. The lintel over the door must be made of brick, iron or stone, and the wall between the two door frames must be covered with a coat of plaster at least one-half (1-2) inch thick, or other incombustible material.

Sec. 40. If, in buildings of Class II., the distance between inclosing walls is more than twenty-four (24) feet in the clear, there shall be intermediate supports for the joists, which supports shall be either brick walls or iron or steel columns or beams. If brick walls are used for this purpose, they may in all cases, where the thickness of walls are given in the table as 16 inches or more, be made four inches less in thickness than the dimensions stated in the table.

Sec. 41. In all apartment houses, the dividing walls or partitions between the apartments provided for each family shall be made entirely of incombustible material, or of solid three-inch plank partitions plastered on metal lath. In the absence of definite sub-divisions between the apartments of different families, eight (8) rooms shall be counted as the equivalent of one apartment. In all buildings of Class II., not of fire-proof construction, there shall be for every eight (8) rooms in any one story, dividing walls or partitions of incombustible material separating these rooms from the contiguous spaces.

(h.) Light Shafts.

Sec. 42. The inclosing walls of light shafts shall in all cases be built entirely of incombustible material.

Sec. 43. In all cases where the weight of floors abutting upon light shafts is carried on a framing independent of the inclosing walls of such light shafts, the thickness of such inclosing walls may be reduced, but in no case shall the thickness of such walls be less than eight (8) inches, nor shall any part thereof be so reduced in area that the load upon the same will be more than the maximum load herein prescribed for the materials of which such walls are built.

Sec. 44. The use of hollow tile for the walls inclosing light shafts is permitted, but such inclosing walls shall be firmly anchored to the framing of each successive floor.

Sec. 45. If the walls of light shafts begin at any point above the foundations of the building their means of support shall consist entirely of incombustible material.

Sec. 46. No space of less area than forty (40) square feet for each three-story building, or less area than fifty (50) square feet for a four-story building, and so on, increasing ten (10) square feet for each additional story in height, shall be considered as affording means of communication with the outer air, and such open spaces or light shafts if covered, with a skylight or roof of any kind, shall not be considered as fulfilling the terms of this ordinance.

(l.) Parapet and Fire Walls.

Sec. 47. Fire walls of brick, not less than twelve (12) inches thick, shall be built extending above the roofs of all buildings if such roofs are flat, and also above the roofs of all buildings where the same abut against another building, or where the same stand upon any line of any lot, excepting street and alley lines. Such fire walls, where they stand upon lot lines, or where they are over the dividing walls between buildings or over the dividing walls in the interior of buildings where such are called for by this ordinance by reason of the great area of such building, shall extend at least two (2) feet above the roofs of such building. Fire walls upon street and alley lines shall extend not less than eighteen inches above the roofs of such buildings. Fire walls at street and alley lines may be dispensed with in all cases where the entire framing and material of the roof shall be made strictly fire-proof. The erection of parapet walls or of balustrades constructed entirely of incombustible material is permitted above the roof level of buildings of all classes, and in addition to the heights herein fixed for the same.

Sec. 48. No soft brick shall be used in any part of a building exposed to weather, or in internal or external piers, nor in any part of a wall, when there is a greater height than forty (40) feet of wall above said brick.

Sec. 49. The bond of brick work shall be formed by laying one (1) course of headers, for at least every seven (7) courses of stretchers.

Sec. 50. Whenever walls of sixteen (16) inches or less in thickness shall be used for the support of ordinary joists in buildings of Class I., ledges four (4) inches wide shall be corbelled out in not less than four (4) courses for the support of such joists. In buildings of all classes where furring strips, whether combustible or incombustible, are used on brick walls there shall be ledges equal to the thickness of such furring strips upon such walls, and in all cases where such ledges are built they are to be commenced at the bottom of the joist and are to be carried up to and leveled off at a line one (1) inch below the top of the joists and in all hollow partitions approved fire stops shall be placed at each floor.

Sec. 51. If pressed brick facings are used they must be bonded into their backing every seventh course. Bonds shall be established by solid headers, or by blind headers, or by means of metallic anchors. In the case of piers faced with pressed brick, only solid headers shall be used, but bond-stones or iron bond plates may be substituted for such headers. Pressed brick in all cases must be so laid as to have full bearing of mortar under its entire surface. The laying of pressed brick merely with a joint all around the outer edge of the brick shall be unlawful.

Sec. 52. In building brick piers, there shall be provided at every offset in each pier, or at every point where such brick pier received the load, a bond stone at least six (6) inches thick, and at the top of each pier a cap-stone at least eight (8) inches thick, or in all such cases a bond plate of cast iron, which stones or plates if at the top of such piers shall cover the entire surface of such pier and shall in all cases be adapted to receiving the load to be imposed, and shall be made of a strength which will keep the fibre strain upon the material used within the limits elsewhere herein stated. If the height of piers is four times that of their smallest dimension, there shall be a bond of stone or bond plate, as above described, inserted in the middle of such pier. For all piers higher than the above, there shall be a bond stone or plate for each distance in height equal to double that of the smallest dimension of such pier.

Sec. 53. The thickness of bond stones for piers more than two (2) feet thick in their smallest dimensions, shall be one-fourth of said smallest dimension, and the thickness of cap stones shall be one-third such dimension.

Sec. 54. Isolated brick piers shall not exceed in height ten times their least dimensions, and in frame buildings of Class III., piers may be built not less than twelve (12) inches square to a height of eight (8) feet without bond stones, but all such piers must have stone caps not less than four (4) inches in thickness.

(j.) Hollow Walls and Hollow Tile.

Sec. 55. Where hollow walls are used their solid parts shall be bonded together, either with solid brick headers, or with metallic bond plates or anchors, once in every foot of length of such wall in every seventh course. If one or both of the solid parts of the wall are less than eight (8) inches thick, such walls shall not be used as supports for any part of the structure of such buildings; but if both the solid parts of a hollow wall are equal, and are eight (8) inches or more in thickness, such walls may be used as bearing walls, and shall be treated as solid walls of four (4) inches less thickness than the aggregate thickness of the hollow wall exclusive of air space, and in all cases where the load is imposed upon such hollow walls or any part thereof, there shall be bond stones or iron bond plates covering the whole of the solid parts of such wall, and so proportioned as not to strain the materials of the wall or of such bond stones or bond plates more than to the extent of the limits elsewhere herein given for the ultimate strains of such materials.

Sec. 56. Where hollow bricks or tiles are used as lining or furring for bearing walls, they shall not be included in measuring the thickness of such walls, except that hollow brick may be used in all walls not less than twelve (12) inches thick, in all buildings of Class II., not more than three stories high, in all buildings of Class III., and in all except bearing walls of Classes I. and IV. A four-inch lining of brick or hollow tile with an air space between it and the wall, shall not be considered as forming a part of said wall for any purpose.

Sec. 57. The limits of stress to which the various kinds of stone used in buildings may be subjected shall be one-thirtieth of the ultimate strength developed by tests. If, however, the beds of stone used are not dressed to uniform bearing over their entire surface, then the ultimate load to which they may be subjected shall not exceed one-fiftieth of the ultimate strength of the stone as indicated by said tests. Stones with undressed beds shall be fully bedded in Portland cement mortar, over their entire surface for all stress exceeding one-seventieth of the ultimate strength of the stone up to the limit allowed, and if the beds are dressed they shall be bedded over their entire surface in the same manner for all stress exceeding one-fortieth of the ultimate strength of the stone. It shall be permitted to leave a space of one (1) inch all around the outer edge of stones without mortar bedding.

Sec. 58. Stone may be used as facing for brick walls under the following conditions: If the facing is ashlar without bond courses and the individual courses thereof measure in height between bond stones more than six times the thickness of the ashlar, then each piece of ashlar facing shall be united to the brick work with iron anchors at least two (2) to each piece and reaching at least eight (8) inches over the brick wall, and hooked into the stone facing as well as the brick backing. Wherever ashlar, as before described, is used, it shall not be counted as forming part of the bearing surface of the wall and the brick backing shall be of the thickness of wall herein specified for the different kinds of building.

Sec. 59. If stone facing is used with bond courses at a distance apart not more than six times the thickness of the ashlar, and where the width of bearing of the bond courses upon the backing of such ashlar is at least twice the thickness of the ashlar, and in case less than eight (8) inches then such ashlar facing shall be counted as forming part of the wall, and the total thickness of the wall and facing shall not be required to be more than herein specified for the walls of the different classes of buildings. When stone faced walls are used as bearing walls, they shall be four (4) inches thicker than required for solid brick walls under the same conditions.

Sec. 60. The backing of stone ashlar in fire-proof construction shall not be less than twelve (12) inches thick, where the backing of stone ashlar is less than eight inches thick the work shall be considered a stone wall, and must be built and bonded accordingly.

Sec. 61. Sills and lintels for doors, windows and other openings in masonry shall be made of incombustible material, except in buildings of Class II., three stories or less in height and all buildings of Class III. Oak timber used for door sills and not less than eight (8) inches thick by the full width of the wall in which such sills occur, shall for the purpose of this ordinance be considered incombustible, but no other form or use of wood construction shall be considered incombustible. Wooden pillars and lintels shall not be used to support masonry in store front.

(k.) Alterations of Existing Buildings and Walls.

Sec. 62. Excepting in cases where the immediate safety of the occupants of buildings is concerned, nothing in this ordinance shall be considered as requiring alterations in the construction or equipment of buildings existing at the time of the passage of this ordinance, and at that time complying with the ordinances at that time in force. If, however, it is desired to enlarge, or in any manner materially modify the construction of any existing building, or to make any change in its use or occupation which will transfer it from one class as recognized by this ordinance to another then before such enlargement or structural change, or modification of building is made, or before such change in its use or occupation may be made, the entire building shall be reconstructed or modified in such manner as to bring the same when enlarged or altered, or when occupied for its new and different purposes, in accordance with the provision of this ordinance. If the walls of such building are not of sufficient thickness to comply with the requirements of this ordinance for the enlarged or modified building, then a sufficient amount of skeleton construction shall be used in the alterations in such a manner that the enlarged or modified building shall comply with all the provisions of this ordinance.

Sec. 63. The foregoing shall also apply to all classes where existing party walls are to be joined to for the erection of new buildings; but in case of party walls, which at the time of their erection were built in accordance with the terms of the building ordinance then in force, such walls, if sound and in good condition, may be used without increase of thickness for any building not higher than, and of the same class as the building for which the original wall was built.

Sec. 64. In all cases where there is an increase of weight in making such alterations, new foundations shall be built in such a manner as to properly distribute such extra weight, under-pinning old walls if necessary, and the soil under such foundations shall not be loaded beyond the limits elsewhere herein specified.

Sec. 65. It shall be the duty of the owner of every building of Class I., already constructed or hereafter to be constructed, or of his agent or of the occupant of the same, to affix and display conspicuously on each floor of such building a placard stating the load per square foot of floor surface which may be with safety applied to that particular floor, or, if the strength of different parts of any floors varies, then there shall be such placards for each varying part of such floor.

Sec. 66. It shall be unlawful to load any such floors or any part thereof to a greater extent than the load indicated upon such placards. It shall be the duty of occupants of buildings to maintain such placards during their occupation of the premises, and the owners of buildings or their agents, to cause the same to be properly affixed with each change of occupation. These placards shall be verified and approved by the fire marshal before they are affixed upon the respective floors of the different buildings, and they shall be refigured, verified and approved as above, every five (5) years.

Sec. 67. For buildings of Class I., II., III and IV., the floor shall be designed and constructed in such a manner as to be capable of bearing in all their parts an addition to the weight of partitions, and permanent fixtures and mechanism that may be set upon the same, live loads for every square foot of surface of such floors as follows:

For buildings of Class I., used for stores and light manufacturing, 120 lbs per square foot.

Used for warehouses, 150 lbs. per square foot.

For buildings of Class II., 70 lbs. per square foot.

For buildings of Class III., 40 lbs. per square foot.

For buildings of Class IV., 100 lbs. per square foot.

Sec. 68. In all buildings of Class II. there shall be an approved fire stop between the ceiling and floor in each floor or joist for each 25 feet or fractional part thereof measured in the direction of the length of the joists.

Sec. 69. Hollow tile and porous terracotta may be used in the form of flat arches for the support of floors and roofs; such floor arches having a height of at least one and one-half inches for each foot of span. The arches must be so constructed that the joints of the same point to a common center; the butts of the arches shall be carefully fitted to the beams supporting them, and there shall be a cross rib for every six inches or fractional part thereof in height, and in addition to these there shall also be diagonal ribs in the butts. Floor arches made in the form of segment of a circle or ellipse must be constructed upon the same principles, but in such cases the individual voussoirs forming the arch shall not be less in height than one-fifteenth of the span of the arch. Such arches whether flat or curved shall have their beds well filled with mortar and the centers shall not be stuck until the mortar has been set.

(m.) Wooden Floor Construction.

Sec. 70. All wooden beams and other timbers in the party wall of every building built of stone, brick or iron shall be separated from the beam or timber entering the opposite side of the wall by at least four inches of mason work. All wooden trimmer or header beams shall not be less than one inch thicker than the floor or roof beams on the same tier, where the header is four feet or less in length; and where the header is more than four feet and not more than twelve feet in length, the trimmer and header beams shall be at least double the thickness of the floor or roof beams, or shall each be made of two (2) beams forming such thickness, properly spiked or bolted together, and when the header is more than twelve feet in length, wrought iron flitch plates of proper thickness and depth shall be placed between two (2) wooden beams suitably bolted together to and through the iron plates, in constructing the header beams, or wrought iron or rolled steel beams of sufficient strength may be used.

Sec. 71. All wooden trimmer beams more than twelve (12) feet in length where the header beams are inserted more than four (4) feet from the end of the trimmer, shall be constructed in the same manner as header beams over twelve (12) feet in length. Every wooden header or trimmer more than four (4) feet long, used in any building except in Class III., shall be hung in stirrup irons of suitable thickness for the size of the timbers. The ends of all wooden floor and roof beams, where they rest in brick walls, shall be cut to a bevel of three inches on their depth. All wooden beams shall be trimmed away from all flues, whether the same be a smoke, air or any other flue, the header and trimmer beams to be kept one and one-half inches from the outside of any chimney breast.

Sec. 72. Each tier of beams shall be anchored to the side, front, rear or party walls at intervals of not more than six feet apart, with approved iron anchors. Where the beams are supported by girders, the girders shall be anchored to the walls and fastened to each other by suitable iron straps. The ends of beams resting upon girders shall be butted together end to end and fastened by approved methods.

Sec. 73. Every pier and wall, front or rear, shall be well anchored to the beams of each story with approved anchors. Each tier of beams front and rear, opposite each pier, shall be properly anchored. All timbers and wooden beams used in any building shall be of good, sound material, free from rot, large and loose knots, shakes or any imperfections whereby the strength may be impaired, and be of such size and dimensions as the purposes for which the building is intended require.

Sec. 74. No piping or conduits of any kind whatever shall be cut down into floor beams at a greater distance than three feet from the end of said beams, and no floor beams shall be cut to a greater depth than two inches to receive such pipes or conduits.

(n.) Roofs.

Sec. 75. An incombustible roof, or one covered with incombustible material, within the meaning of this ordinance, shall be:

First: A roof covered with not less than four-ply or tarred or asphalted felt, each single ply weighing not less than 15 pounds per 100 square feet, the whole to be well nailed and swabbed with pitch or asphalt composition and covered with gravel. No pitch or asphalt roofs shall be allowed without a covering of gravel.

Second: A covering of slate, iron, tin, or burnt clay shall be considered incombustible. All pitch or asphalt roofs shall have one thickness of fire and water proof asbestos paper, weighing not less than 15 pounds per 100 square feet between the tar or asphalted paper and roof boards, and all slate, iron, tin and tile roofs shall have at least two thicknesses of the same kind and quality of asbestos paper next to the roof boards. A covering of mortar one and one-half inches thick may be substituted for the asbestos paper.

Sec. 76. It shall be permitted to erect on the roofs of all buildings skylights and enclosures for elevator machinery, the construction of all of which enclosures shall be if fifty-two (52) feet or more above the sidewalk level entirely of incombustible material.

Sec. 77. The roofs of all buildings of every kind and class shall be designed and constructed in such manner that they will bear a load in addition to their structure and coverings of at least 40 pounds for each square foot of horizontal surface, without straining the materials of construction beyond a point 20 per cent. less than the limits elsewhere fixed in this ordinance.

(o.) Skylights and Scuttles.

Sec. 78. Skylights made at the foot of light wells or light courts shall be made either of prismatic lights set in cast iron frames, or of glass of sufficient thickness set in metallic frames; and if the latter are used, they shall be protected against injury from falling bodies by wire nettings placed at least six inches above the glass of such skylights and firmly and rigidly supported on iron stanchions and frame work; such netting to be made of wire not lighted than No. 8, and mesh not coarser than 1 1/2 x 1 1/2 inches. All other skylights shall have metallic frames, sash and curbs, glazed with glass of sufficient thickness. Skylights in buildings of classes I, and II, which are directly over floors to which the public have free access, shall have a wire netting of the same sized mesh and gauge of wire as specified above, securely fastened in a horizontal position under said skylight, or such skylights may be glazed with patent-wire-bound glass.

Sec. 79. All such buildings over two stories in height shall have scuttles or bulkheads on the roof covered with incombustible material and with ladders or stairs leading thereto from the floor below. No scuttle shall be less in size than two by three feet. The lid to any scuttle or the door to any bulkhead shall not be locked in any way except with any ordinary bolt, which can be withdrawn without the use of a key.

Sec. 80. In buildings over four stories in height the ladder or stairs leading to the bulkhead or scuttle shall be constructed of iron with an iron railing and secured permanently in place.

(p.) Chimneys.

Sec. 81. No chimney shall be built with walls less than four inches thick, nor shall the top of any chimney be lower than five feet above the top of the roof of the building of which it is a part. If the roof be a pitched roof, the chimney top shall extend at least two feet above the highest point of the same.

Sec. 82. Joists or timbers of any kind are not to rest upon the walls surrounding any chimney, and are in all cases to be kept at least 1-1/2 inches distant from the outer face of the same.

Sec. 83. All chimneys having four inch walls shall be lined throughout the entire length with tile flue lining. If the walls of chimneys are built of brick eight inches thick, and the brick push-placed, the tile flue lining may be omitted. The inside joints of chimneys not lined with tile shall be struck, and no chimneys shall be plastered on the inside. Stone chimneys shall have walls not less than eight inches thick, and shall have tile flue lining. No chimney shall be corbelled from the wall more than the thickness of the wall, nor be hung from a wall less than twelve inches thick; nor shall any chimney rest upon wood construction. No wood furring shall be used against any chimney, or around any chimney in buildings of classes I., II., or IV., but the plastering shall be directly on the masonry or on metal lathing.

Sec. 84. Vent flues may be built without flue lining.

Sec. 85. Smoke flues of greater area than 150 square inches and smaller than 500 square inches shall be surrounded with walls not less than eight inches thick and shall otherwise be treated the same as specified for flues having walls four inches thick, and the tops of such chimneys shall extend at least five feet above the highest part of any roof within fifty feet of such chimney.

Sec. 86. Smoke flues of greater area than 500 and less than 1,600 square inches shall have hollow walls in which there shall be at least sixteen inches thickness of brickwork and four inches of hollow space all around such flues. From a distance of two feet below the smoke inlet and for a height of twenty feet above the same, such chimney shall be lined with fire bricks laid in fire clay. At a height of fifty feet above the smoke inlet, the thickness of surrounding brick walls of such flues may be reduced to twelve inches, but in all cases the surrounding walls of chimneys of this or any other size shall be so proportioned that the brickwork in the same will not be subjected to stress greater than the maximum stress for brick work elsewhere fixed in this ordinance. The tops of such chimneys shall extend to a height of not less than twelve feet above any roof within the radius of sixty feet thereof.

Sec. 87. For chimneys of greater area than 1,600 square inches, the thickness of walls shall be increased above the thickness specified in the preceding paragraph, four inches for each increase in area of 1,000 square inches or fractional part thereof, and the internal fire brick lining shall be made at least thirty feet high above the smoke inlet. If an internal smoke pipe of cast iron or steel is used, so much of the brickwork as is inside of the insulating cavity of the stack may be omitted; wrought iron or steel smoke stacks shall, however, be lined with fire bricks for the first thirty feet of their height. The foregoing applies only to chimneys which are inclosed by or form a part of the interior of any building.

Sec. 88. Chimneys may be built outside of the walls of existing buildings, provided they do not encroach upon any street or alley, and they shall be built as follows:

Such external chimneys may be built wholly of cast iron or of rolled steel or iron not less than one-fourth of an inch thick and lined with fire bricks laid in fire clay, for at least thirty feet above street or alley grade.

Sec. 89. In all cases the height of such chimneys shall follow the regulations hereinbefore given as to relations between top of chimneys and roofs of building.

Sec. 90. Isolated chimneys shall be built with hollow walls and shall be so designed and constructed that the stress upon any part thereof, due from the weight of the stack itself and from wind pressure shall never exceed the limits elsewhere in this ordinance fixed as the maximum stress for brick masonry.

Sec. 91. The foundations of smoke stacks, whether inside or outside of buildings or whether connected with the same or isolated, shall be designed and built in conformity with the provisions relating to foundations of buildings herein given.

Sec. 92. Metallic chimneys or smoke pipes shall not be used inside of any building in such manner as to pass through the floors or roofs of the same, unless such metallic smoke pipes or chimneys are inclosed in brick or tile walls with an air space between the inclosing walls and the smoke pipe from bottom to top.

Sec. 93. Where metallic smoke pipes of a diameter of twelve inches or less pass through a wood or plastered stud partition they shall be surrounded either by a body of brick, hollow tile, or porous terra cotta, or other incombustible substance, measuring at least four inches all around such smoke pipe. Or they shall be surrounded by a sheet metal thimble made of two concentric rings of sheet metal at least four inches apart and the entire thimble so constructed that there will be a free circulation between the two rings forming the same.

Sec. 94. Metallic smoke flues of less diameter than twelve inches shall be kept at least twelve inches from any woodwork, and immediately over for a distance of one foot on each side of such smoke pipe, the woodwork must be covered with sheet metal, porous terra cotta, hollow tile or plaster.

Sec. 95. Metallic smoke pipes of greater diameter than twelve inches and less area than six square feet must be kept at least sixteen inches away from any woodwork and such woodwork must be protected as before specified for the smaller smoke pipes, to a distance of three feet on each side of such smoke pipe.

Sec. 96. Whenever metallic smoke pipes of larger area than six square feet are used, they shall be kept at least two feet distant from any woodwork, and such woodwork, for a distance of at least four feet on each side of said smoke pipe, shall be protected as before specified for smaller pipes.

Sec. 97. No fireplace shall be built with less than eight inches of solid brickwork at the back. Brick trimmer arches shall be turned for all hearths and for hearths over twenty-one inches wide the trimmer arch shall abut against a piece of 3x3 angle iron securely anchored to back of chimney with wrought iron rods not less than 5-8 inches in diameter.

Sec. 98. Foundations for chimneys in frame buildings must be solidly constructed of stone, brick, or iron and must be carried to solid ground and three feet and six inches (3 ft. 6 in.) below the grade level. The wood framing of frame buildings shall be trimmed around chimneys and hearths in such manner as not to come in contact with the same.

BUILDINGS OF CLASS IV.

Sec. 99.—The outside walls of all buildings of class IV., in which the roofs or ceilings are carried on trusses or girders of a span of fifty feet or more, shall be as follows:

If the walls are of brick masonry, twenty-five feet high, they are to be not less than sixteen inches thick.

If more than twenty-five feet high and not more than fifty feet, they are to be twenty inches thick for the first twenty-five feet and sixteen inches thick for the remainder of the height.

If more than fifty feet high and not more than seventy-five feet high, they shall be twenty-four inches thick for the first twenty-five feet in height, twenty inches for the second twenty-five feet and sixteen inches for the remainder of the height.

For any increase in height over seventy-five feet, the thickness of walls shall be increased in the above ratio.

The heights of the walls shall be measured from the ground floor of the main auditorium at its lowest point.

An increase of four inches in the thickness of walls shall be made in all cases where walls are over 100 feet long without cross walls of equal height.

For rooms less than fifty feet wide, the thickness of walls before given may be reduced by four inches.

In case there shall be one or more stories built above the room devoted to the uses of Class IV., such stories being carried on trusses or girders, the thickness of walls shall be increased by four inches for each two stories or part thereof, above every such room.

Sec. 100. If solid masonry buttresses are employed, and placed sixteen feet or less apart, and extended to the foot of the trusses or girders carrying the ceiling and roof, or if iron or steel pillars are inserted in such walls for the support of the super-structure, and at distances not more than eighteen feet between centers, such pillars extending to and carrying the superimposed trusses or girders, the thickness of such walls may be reduced in proportion to the increase of strength afforded by such buttresses or pillars, but in no case shall any such wall be less than twelve inches thick in the top story, four inches being added, going downward, for each twenty-five feet in height of wall.

Sec. 101. If iron or steel pillars are introduced in said walls, the brickwork around the same shall be bonded into that of the connecting walls, and each of such pillars shall have no less than eight inches of solid brickwork around it, the brick being measured from the extreme outer dimensions of such iron or steel pillars.

Sec. 102. If a Class IV. building is of skeleton construction, and the steel framework carries the entire superimposed load of floors, roof and walls, then the inclosing walls shall consist of twelve inches of solid masonry, with two inches of hollow tile or four inches of hollow brick, on the inside, properly bonded together; and the other fire-proofing shall be as required for buildings of Class I.

Sec. 103. Buildings of Class IV. A. shall have a frontage on at least one highway or street.

Every building of Class IV. B. shall have at least one front on the public highway or street, and in such front or fronts there shall be means of entrance or exit.

Sec. 104. In addition to the aforesaid entrances and exits on the public highway, there shall be reserved for service, in case of an emergency, an open court or space, open to the sky, on the side not bordering on the street, where such building is located on a corner lot, and on both sides of said building, where there is but one frontage on the street. The width of such open court or courts shall be not less than eight feet, and said open court or courts shall begin on a line with, or near, the proscenium wall, and shall extend the length of the auditorium proper, to or near the wall separating the same from the lobby, foyer or vestibule. A separate and distinct corridor shall be built to the street from each open court, with continuous walls, floors and ceilings, of brick, or other fire-proof material, the entire length of said corridor or corridors.

Sec. 105. Said corridor or corridors shall not be reduced in width more than three feet less than the width of the open court or courts, and there shall be no projection into the same; the outer openings to be provided with doors or gates, opening toward the street.

Sec. 106. During the performance, the doors or gates in the corridor shall be kept open by proper fastenings; at other times they may be closed and fastened by movable bolts or locks.

Sec. 107. The said open courts and corridors shall not be used for storage purposes or for any purpose whatsoever; except for exit and entrance from and to the auditorium and stage, and must be kept free and clear during performances. The level of said corridors at the front entrance to the building shall not be greater than one step of eight inches above the level of the sidewalk, where they begin at the street entrance, and there shall not be more than one step of eight inches from the floor of court to the ground floor of auditorium.

Sec. 108. To overcome any difference of level existing between exits from the ground floor auditorium into courts, and the level of the said streets, gradients may be employed in the corridors and courts of not over one foot in ten feet, with no perpendicular rises. From the auditorium opening into said open courts, or on the side street, where building is placed on corner lot, there shall not be less than two exits on each side from the ground floor auditorium, balcony and each and every gallery.

Sec. 109. Each exit shall be at least five feet in width in the clear, and provided with doors of iron or wood; if of wood, the doors shall be constructed according to existing rules of said underwriters' association. All of said doors shall open outwardly and must be fastened with movable bolts, the bolts to be kept drawn during performances.

Sec. 110. There shall be balconies not less than four feet in width each side of the auditorium, of sufficient length to embrace the two exits, and from said balconies there shall be staircases extending to the ground level, with a rise of not over eight and one-half inches to a step, and not less than nine inches tread, exclusive of the nosing. The staircase from the upper balcony to the next below, shall not be less than three feet wide in the clear, and from the first balcony to the ground floor, four feet wide in the clear.

Sec. 111. All the beforementioned balconies and staircases shall be constructed of iron throughout, including the floors, and of ample strength to sustain the load to be carried by them.

Sec. 112. Where one side of the building borders on a street, there shall be fire escape, balconies and staircases erected as required by the fire marshal.

Sec. 113. The following limitations of floor levels in buildings of Class IV. shall be observed in all cases of new construction, or re-construction, or alteration, or improvement of existing buildings:

The ground floor of auditorium in buildings of Class IV. B, where it connects with the lobby or foyer, shall not be at a greater height above or depth below the street than a gradient from the street vestibule of one foot in ten; said street vestibule to be not more than one (1) foot above the grade of sidewalk, at its central entrance point.

Sec. 114. The only exception to the foregoing shall be the case of rooms of Class IV. B containing less than 500 seats, which, in fire-proof buildings, may be located in any story thereof, but in such case there shall be at least two flights of stairs, from the floor in which such auditorium of Class IV. B is located, to the ground, and the width of such stairs shall not be less than four feet in the clear for each.

Sec. 115. In buildings of Class IV. A, no auditorium containing more than 1,000 seats shall have the highest part of its main floor at a greater distance than eight feet above the adjacent sidewalk grade. No room of Class IV. A, containing more than 500 seats, shall be at a greater distance from the sidewalk grade than thirty feet. No room of Class IV. A, containing more than 200 seats, shall be at a higher level above the grade than forty-five feet. Exceptions to the foregoing are to be made in the case of rooms of Class IV. A, containing less than 500 seats, which may be located in any part of any fire-proof building; provided, however, that there be at least two flights of stairs from the level of the same to the ground, each flight not less than four feet in width.

Sec. 116. Stairs in Class IV. A and IV. B shall be in width equivalent to eighteen inches for every 100 seats in such building—fractional parts of 100 being in each case counted as a full 100 seats, but no stairway in such building shall be less than four feet wide in the clear. All stairways shall have railings on each side thereof. No stairway shall ascend to a greater height than eleven feet without a level landing, which, if its width is in the direction of the run of the stairs, shall not be less than three feet wide, or which, if at a turn of the stairs, shall not be of less width than that of the stairs.

Sec. 117. Distinct and separate places of exit and entrance shall be provided for each gallery above the first. A common place of exit and entrance may serve for the main floor of the auditorium and the first balcony, provided its capacity be equal to the aggregate capacity of the outlets from the main floor and the said gallery as hereafter required.

Sec. 118. Aisles in buildings of Class IV. A and IV. B shall be in width equal to eighteen inches for every 100 seats or fractional part thereof, the occupants of which will be required to use such aisles, but no aisle is to be less than two feet three inches wide in its narrowest part.

Sec. 119. Steps shall be permitted in aisles only as extending from bank to bank of seats, and wherever the rise from bank to bank of seats is less than six inches the floor of the aisle shall be made as an inclined plane, and where steps occur in outside aisles or corridors, they shall not be isolated, but shall be grouped together, and there shall be a lamp at or near every place where there are steps in enclosing aisles or corridors.

Sec. 120. All aisles and passageways in said buildings shall be kept free from camp stools, chairs, sofas and other obstructions, and no person shall be allowed to stand in or occupy any of said aisles or passageways during any performance, service, exhibition, lecture, concert, ball or any public assemblage, nor shall there be any chairs, settees or camp stools in such aisles or corridors at such times or occasions. The fire marshal shall have the right to enter any building of Class IV. at any time during any performance, service, exhibition, lecture, concert, ball or any public assemblage to enforce this ordinance.

Sec. 121. The width of corridors, passages, hallways and doors shall be computed in the same manner as that herein provided for stairways and aisles; excepting, however, that no corridor shall be anywhere less than five feet in width, and no door less than three feet wide.

Sec. 122. All doors in buildings of Class IV. shall open outward.

Sec. 123. In buildings of Class IV. there shall be a solid brick wall not less than twenty (20) inches thick, between the auditorium and the stage; and in non-fire-proof buildings this wall shall extend to a height of six feet above the roof. The main curtain opening shall have an iron or asbestos curtain, and all other openings in this wall shall have fire-proof doors.

Sec. 124. The framing of the floor of every stage in buildings of Class IV. B containing more than 500 seats, shall be of iron or steel. The stage floor may be of wood, but shall not be less than 3-4 inches thick. The entire floor construction and floors of fly galleries and rigging lofts and all railings and supports and the stanchions thereon, as also all sheaves and pulleys and their supports, shall be made of iron or steel. All woodwork, including the under side of all floor boards, and all scenery used on or about the stage shall be coated with a fire-proof paint, the fire-resisting qualities of which shall be tested and approved by the fire marshal.

Sec. 125. Structures of any kind, and for any purpose whatsoever, erected above the ceiling of any auditorium containing 500 or more seats, shall be entirely of fire-proof construction.

Sec. 126. There shall be over the stage of every building of Class IV. B flues or ducts extending fifteen feet above the top of the highest roof which forms part of such buildings, which flues or ducts shall have an area of at least 1-30 of the total area of such stage. The dampers for opening and closing such ducts shall be controllable from a point near the proscenium opening. These dampers shall be made of sheet metal, and the ducts themselves of incombustible material and shall be properly insulated as regards transmission of heat to adjacent combustible substances.

Sec. 127. If any part of any building of Class IV. B shall be used for purposes of storing scenery, or properties, or furniture, or books, or papers, or costumes, or as the workshop for the maintenance and repair of scenery and properties, such places shall be provided with automatic sprinklers of a make approved by the fire marshal and the Executive Board of said city, and their floors shall be of brick or concrete and all structural iron or steel below, around and above the same, shall be fire-proofed.

Sec. 128. If said rooms or shops are located in the rear or at the side of the stage, they shall be separated from the stage by a brick wall, and the openings leading into said portions shall have fire-proof doors on each side of the openings, hung to iron eyes built into the wall.

Sec. 129. It shall be the duty of the owners, lessee or manager of every building of Class IV., during the performance of which programmes are issued, to cause a diagram showing the exits of such building to be printed on such programmes.

Sec. 130. All exit openings in buildings of Class IV. shall have the word exit in letters at least six inches high applied to the auditorium side and to the stage side of every such exit.

Sec. 131. There shall be kept in readiness for use on the stage of every building of Class IV. B at least four (4) casks full of water, and two (2) buckets to each cask. Said casks and buckets shall be painted red and marked "Use for fire only." There shall also be provided hand pumps or other portable fire extinguishing apparatus, and at least four (4) axes, and two (2) twenty-five-foot hooks, two (2) fifteen-foot hooks and two (2) ten-foot hooks on the floor of the stage and on each tier or floor under or over the stage.

Sec. 132. There shall be in every building of Class IV. B a chemical fire extinguisher and also a three and one-half inch pipe prepared with Siamese twin connections for steam fire engines, such connections being on the street or alleys on the outside of such building and this pipe being carried to each fly gallery and to the rigging loft of such building; a regulation fire department valve at each, and with hose ready for use connected thereto at each of the points and at least two points above the stage and at least two points below the stage.

Sec. 133. Each building of Class IV. shall have a water stand-pipe and water plug, to be placed on the stage or platform, or in its immediate vicinity, which shall be connected with the water pipes or street water mains of the city, and shall be put in under the direction and to the satisfaction of the Executive Board or the fire marshal.

Sec. 134. Hose shall be attached to such stand-pipe of such size as may be directed by said Executive Board, to have nozzle and stop-cock attached thereto; such hose shall be of sufficient length to extend to the farthest limits of such building or place of amusement, and shall at all times be kept in good order and repair, filled with water under pressure, and ready for immediate use.

Sec. 135. All buildings of Class IV. B with accommodations for 1,000 or more persons, shall have at least one three-inch stand-pipe and metallic ladder combined in the street or alley, with hose attachments close to a window or door at each floor or gallery.

Sec. 136. Such buildings shall also be provided with a fire alarm telegraph apparatus connected by the necessary wires with the headquarters of the city fire alarm telegraph or such other place or places as the Executive Board shall direct.

Sec. 137. It shall be the duty of all owners, agents, lessees and occupants of such buildings of Class IV. to provide such other fire-extinguishing apparatus at such points about the building as the Executive Board shall direct.

Sec. 138. The license for each building of Class IV. shall state the number of persons it has accommodations for, and no more than that number shall be allowed to enter such hall at any one time, which number shall be governed by the number of feet of exit of the doors and passages and shall be approved by the fire marshal.

Sec. 139. Every portion of any building of Class IV. devoted to the use or accommodation of the public, also all outlets leading to the streets, and including the open courts and corridors, shall be well and properly lighted during every performance, and the same shall remain lighted until the entire audience has left the premises.

Sec. 140. Buildings of Class IV. B shall be at night illuminated entirely by electric light and shall have at each exit and at the head and foot of each stairway a metal bracket and a candle or a sperm oil lamp kept burning during the entire duration of any performance.

Similar provisions shall apply to buildings of Class IV. A seating more than 1,500 persons.

Sec. 141. For other buildings of Class IV. A the illumination may be either by gas or electricity. All gas or electric lights in the halls, corridors, lobby or other part of said building used by the audience, except the auditorium, must be controlled by a separate shut-off located in the lobby and controlled only in that particular place. Gas mains supplying the building shall have independent connections for the auditorium and the stage, and provision shall be made for shutting off the gas from the outside of the building. All suspended or bracket lights surrounded by glass in the auditorium or in any part of the building devoted to the public shall be provided with proper wire netting underneath. No gas or electric lights shall be inserted in the walls, woodwork, ceiling or in any part of the building, unless protected by fire-proof materials in all buildings of Class IV. All lights in passages and corridors in said buildings, and whenever deemed necessary by the fire marshal, shall be protected with proper wire network. The footlights, in addition to the wire network, shall be protected by a strong wire guard, not less than two feet distant from side footlights and the trough containing said footlights shall be formed of and surrounded by fire-proof materials.

Sec. 142. All border lights shall be constructed according to the best-known methods, and subject to the approval of the fire marshal, and shall be suspended for ten feet, by wire rope. All ducts or shafts used for conducting heated air from the main chandelier or from any other light or lights, shall be constructed of metal, and made double, with an air space between. All stage lights, if gas, shall have strong wire guards or screens, not less than ten inches in diameter, so constructed that any material contact therewith shall be out of reach of the flame of stage lights and must be soldered to the fixtures in all cases.

Sec. 143. The stand-pipes, gas pipes, electric wires, hose, footlights and all apparatus for the extinguishing of fire, or guarding against the same, as in this section specified, shall be at all times made and kept in condition satisfactory to and under the control of the Executive Board and the fire marshal.

Sec. 144. Above the proscenium opening there shall be an iron girder covered with fire-proof material to protect it from the heat. There shall also be constructed a relieving arch over the same, the intervening space being filled in with hard burned brick of the full thickness of the proscenium wall. Should there be constructed an orchestra over the stage above the proscenium opening, the said orchestra shall be placed on the auditorium side of the proscenium fire wall. The molded frame around the proscenium opening shall be formed entirely of fire-proof materials; if metal be used, the metal shall be filled in solid with non-combustible material and securely anchored to the wall with iron. The proscenium opening shall be provided with a fire-proof metal curtain, or a curtain of asbestos, or similar fire-proof material approved by the fire marshal, sliding at each end within iron grooves, securely fastened to the brick walls, and extending into such grooves not less than six inches on each side. Said fire-proof curtain shall be raised at the commencement of each performance and lowered at the close of said performance, and to be operated by approved machinery for that purpose. The proscenium curtains shall be placed at least three feet distant from the footlights at the nearest point.

Sec. 145. There shall be no openings in the proscenium fire walls above the level of the auditorium ceiling.

Sec. 146. All seats in the auditorium excepting those contained in boxes, shall be firmly secured to the floor. All platforms in galleries formed to receive the seats shall not be more than twenty-one inches in height of riser, nor less than thirty inches in width of platform.

Sec. 147. The aggregate capacity of the foyers, lobbies, corridors, passages and rooms for the use of the audience, not including aisle space between seats, shall, on each floor gallery, be sufficient to contain the entire number to be accommodated on said floor or gallery, in the ratio of one hundred and fifty superficial feet of floor room for every one hundred persons.

Sec. 148. Every steam boiler in buildings of Class IV, which may be required for heating or other purposes, shall be located outside of the building, and the space allotted to the same shall be inclosed by walls of masonry on all sides, and the ceiling of such place shall be constructed of fire-proof materials.

Sec. 149. All doorways in said walls shall have fire-proof doors. No floor register for heating shall be permitted. No coil or radiator shall be placed in any aisle or passageway used for an exit; but all said coils and radiators shall be placed in recesses formed in the wall, or partition to receive the same.

Sec. 150. A separate and distinct system of automatic sprinklers, with fusible plugs, approved by the fire marshal, supplied with water from a tank located on the roof over the stage and not connected in any manner with the stand-pipes, shall be placed up and around the proscenium opening and on the ceiling or roof over the stage at such intervals as will protect every square foot of stage surface when said sprinklers are in operation.

Sec. 151. No part of any building in which any theater, concert hall, or any other place of amusement is maintained under a license from the mayor, shall be occupied for living purposes by any person other than the janitor of such building. Any violation of the provisions of this section shall work a forfeiture of such license, and the mayor shall revoke the same.

VI.—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

(a.) Mill Construction.

Sec. 152. Wooden posts used in buildings of mill construction shall not be of smaller sectional area than one hundred (100) square inches, except the posts in top story, which shall not be of smaller sectional area than sixty-four (64) square inches. Partitions and elevator inclosures in buildings of this class shall be made entirely of incombustible material. If iron pillars, girders or beams are used in buildings of this class, they shall be protected as provided for fire-proof buildings; but the wooden posts, girders and joists need not be protected by fire-proof covering.

The use of wood furring or wood laths shall not be permitted in buildings of this class. Three (3) inch splined wood partitions, or partitions of incombustible materials may be used in buildings of this class.

Sec. 153. If cast iron pillars are used in "mill construction," they shall be erected in the same manner as provided in buildings of skeleton construction at each line of floor or roof beams, where cast iron columns are used, lateral connections between the ends of the beams and girders shall be made by passing wrought iron or steel straps across or through the cast iron columns in such manner as to rigidly connect the beams and girders with each other in the direction of their length. These straps shall be bolted through the wooden beams or girders.

Sec. 154. If wooden posts are used in "mill construction," they shall have cast iron caps of approved pattern, so constructed as to form a base for the next post above. The girders must be properly bolted to cap and must have wrought iron straps on the outside in addition, from one girded to the other, and bolted through each girder.

(b.) Slow Burning Construction.

Sec. 155. Buildings of "slow burning" construction shall also have double floors and roof with a layer of lime mortar one and one-half inches thick between the upper and lower thickness of floors and roof. The under side of all floors shall be protected against fire in the same manner as the wooden structural members. All iron and steel structural members shall be protected against fire as specified under the head of "Fire-proof Construction," but a single thickness of any standard patent plaster applied on metallic or wire lath, shall be considered sufficient protection for all wooden posts, girders, beams, joists and the under side of the heavy floors and roof forming the ceilings.

Sec. 156. This coating of metallic lath and plaster shall, in all cases, follow the contour of the girders, beams and joists, and shall be applied directly to the ceiling without furring, so there shall be no air spaces between any woodwork and the plastering. Solid false beams may be inserted where required to form panels for ornamental purposes.

Sec. 157. Furring strips of proper thickness, two (2) inches wide, may be laid on the heavy floors and roof to secure the upper floors and roof boarding.

Sec. 158. All partitions and all elevator inclosures in buildings of this type shall be made entirely of incombustible material. The use of wood furring or of stud partitions shall not be allowed in buildings of this class.

(c.) Skeleton Construction.

Sec. 159. In the metal framework of buildings of skeleton construction the beams and girders shall be riveted or bolted to each other at their respective junction points. All pillars shall be made of rolled iron or steel, and their different parts shall be riveted to each other, and the beams and girders resting upon them shall have riveted or bolted connections to unite them with the pillars. No cast iron lintels shall be used in the construction of skeleton buildings.

Sec. 160. In all buildings of skeleton construction, when the walls are carried by the metal frame, the thickness of outside masonry must be not less than twelve inches, including not more than four inches of hollow brick or tile lining.

Sec. 161. In buildings of less than ten (10) stories in height, cast iron columns may be used, in which case the column connection will be bolted. In buildings of less than ten (10) stories, where the skeleton construction of the external walls is replaced by walls of masonry of proper and sufficient strength to sustain the weight of the floors and roof imposed on side walls, the interior pillars may be of cast iron.

Sec. 162. If cast iron pillars are used, each successive pillar shall be bolted to the one below it by at least four bolts, not less than three-quarter inch in diameter, and the beams and girders shall be bolted to the pillars. Proper allowance shall be made for the expansion of metal beams caused by heat.

Sec. 163. The strength of all columns and posts shall be computed according to formulae herein given.

Sec. 164. If buildings are made fire-proof entirely, and have skeleton construction so designed that their inclosing walls do not carry the weight of the floors or roof, but are themselves supported by the foundation and properly anchored to metal framework, the walls may be reduced to the thicknesses called for in the following table:

Stories	Base-ment		Ground Story	Stories.

(d.) Fireproof Construction.

Sec. 165. In buildings of fire-proof construction the materials which shall be considered as fulfilling the conditions of fire-proof covering are: First, brick; second, hollow tiles or burnt clay applied to the metal in a bed of mortar and constructed in such manner that there shall be an air space of at least three-quarters of an inch each by the width of the metal surface to be covered within the said clay covering; third, porous terra cotta, which shall be at least two (2) inches thick, if hollow, and not less than one and one-quarter inches thick if solid, and this shall also be applied direct to the metal in a bed of mortar. In buildings of this type all doors or window mullions, whether vertical or horizontal, shall be faced with cast iron, terra cotta or other incombustible material of equal fire-resisting values.

Sec. 166. All iron or steel used as a supporting member of the external construction of any building, and specified to be fire-proofed, shall be protected as against the effects or external changes of temperature and of fire, by a covering of brick, terra cotta or fire clay tile completely enveloping said structural members of iron and steel. If of brick, it shall not be less than eight (8) inches thick; if of hollow tile, it shall not be less than six (6) inches thick, and there shall be at least two sets of air spaces between the iron and steel members and the outside of the hollow tile coverings. In all cases the brick or hollow tile shall be bedded in mortar close up to the iron or steel members, and all joints shall be made full and solid.

Sec. 167. Where a skeleton construction is used for the whole or a part of the building, these enveloping materials shall be independently supported on the skeleton frame for each individual story.

Sec. 168. If iron or steel plates are used in each story for the support of this covering within the said story, such plates must be of sufficient strength to carry within the limits of fiber strain for iron and steel elsewhere specified in this ordinance, the enveloping material for the said story, and such plates may extend to within two (2) inches of the exterior of said covering.

Sec. 169. If terra cotta is used as part of such fire-proof inclosure, it shall be backed up with brick or hollow tile; whichever is being used, however, of such dimensions and laid up in such manner as to secure perfect bond between the terra cotta facing and its backing.

Sec. 170. If hollow tile alone is used for such inclosures, the thickness of the same shall be made in at least two courses, breaking joints with and bonded into each other.

Sec. 171. The upper surface of all breaks or offsets in external coverings and fillings and walls, as well as the tops of walls, shall be covered with stone, terra cotta or clay copings set in cement mortar and having lapped joints pointed with cement.

Sec. 172. The internal structural parts of buildings of the skeleton construction shall be fire-proofed by coverings of brick, hollow tile or porous terra cotta.

Sec. 173. In the case of buildings of Class I., the coverings for columns shall be, if of brick, not less than eight inches thick; if of hollow tile, these coverings shall be in two (2) consecutive layers, each not less than two (2) inches thick.

Sec. 174. If the fire-proof covering is made of porous terra cotta, it shall consist of at least two (2) layers not less than two inches thick each, if hollow, and not less than one and one-quarter inches thick each, if solid. Whether hollow tile or porous terra cotta is used, the two consecutive layers shall be so applied that neither the vertical nor horizontal joints in the same shall be opposite each other, and each course shall be so anchored and bonded within itself as to form an independent and stable structure. In all cases there shall be on the outside of the tiles a covering of plaster with any cement "which is established as a standard cement," or of other mortar of equal hardness and efficiency when set.

Sec. 175. In places where there is trucking or wheeling or other handling of packages of any kind, the lower five feet of the fire-proofing of such pillars shall be incased in a protective covering, either of sheet iron or oak plank, which covering shall be kept continually in good repair.

Sec. 176. In buildings belonging to Class II, the fire-proof covering for internal columns is to be made the same as specified for the buildings of Classes I and IV, excepting that only one covering of hollow tile or porous terra cotta may be used.

Sec. 177. The fire-proof covering of iron or steel beams and girders in buildings of Classes I, II, and IV, shall be effected with either of the materials before specified. If hollow tiles are used, the tiles shall be set close to the metal to be protected; and there shall be an air space within the tile of at least three-quarters of an inch. If porous terra cotta is used, it shall be at least two inches thick, if hollow, and at least one and one-quarter inches thick if solid.

Sec. 178. If buildings in Class II, are partly used for the purpose of Classes I, and IV., the method of fire-proofing the structural iron or steel in the whole or any story, any part of which is so used, and in the whole of the story above and below the same, shall be as called for in buildings of Classes I, and IV.

Sec. 179. In all cases the covering of beams, if of hollow tile or porous terra cotta, shall be so applied as to be supported entirely by the beams or girders protected and shall be held in place entirely by the support of the flanges of such beams or girders and by the mortar used in setting. Wire binding and anchors shall not be used as fastenings of such fire-proof covering.

Sec. 180. The filling between the individual iron or steel beams supporting the floors of fire-proof buildings shall be made of brick arches or hollow tile arches. Brick arches shall not be less than four (4) inches thick, and shall have a rise of at least one and one-quarter inches to each foot of span between the beams. If the span of such arches is more than five feet, the thickness of the same shall not be less than eight (8) inches. If hollow tile arches having a straight soffit are used, the thickness of such arches shall not be less than at the rate of one and one-half inches per each foot span.

Sec. 181. In all cases, no matter what the material or form of the arches used, the protection of the bottom flanges of the beams and so much of the web of the same as is not covered by the arches, shall be made as herein specified for the covering and girders.

Sec. 182. Concrete shall not be used in buildings of Classes I, II, and IV., except for footings for foundations, cellar or basement floors laid on solid ground, and for leveling up floors on top of brick or tile arches. Other forms of construction may be used if approved by the fire marshal.

Sec. 183. Plastering on wire or metallic lath shall not be considered as fire-proofing for steel or iron structural members.

(e.) Ordinary Construction.

Sec. 184. A frame building may be raised for the purpose of erecting a basement story under the same, but the principal floor of such frame building shall not be raised to a higher level than six (6) feet above the sidewalk for two-story buildings or twelve (12) feet high above the sidewalk grade for one-story frame buildings. The walls inclosing such basement shall be of masonry, and shall not be less than twelve (12) inches thick if built of brick, and eighteen (18) inches thick if built of stone. The foundation of such walls is to be constructed of stone not less than eighteen (18) inches thick. It is provided, however, that no frame building shall be raised for the purpose of constructing a basement under the same, to a greater height to the top of its roof than that elsewhere herein given, as the maximum height above grade for frame buildings. It is also provided that after there has been a basement story constructed under any frame building, such frame building shall not be raised again for any purpose whatsoever.

Sec. 185. No single frame dwelling shall be erected which shall contain accommodations for more than two (2) families. Double dwellings or blocks of dwellings may be built to contain accommodations for more than two (2) families, and each part of such building containing accommodations for two (2) families shall be separated from the next part on either side by a wall built as follows:

Sec. 186. This partition wall must be built of two by six-inch (2x6) studding, with the spaces between studding filled full of mineral wool, or any other approved fire-proofing material, from the brick wall in basement up to and close under the roof boards, the fire-proofing to be secured in place between joists by wood blocking properly secured, and these partitions must be plastered on each side on metallic lath with an approved patent plaster. If brick is used by fire-proofing between studding, then partitions may be plastered on wood lath with lime mortar. All such partitions must be supported on a twelve-inch (12) brick wall or eighteen-inch (18) stone wall in the basement, which must be built from the cellar floor to the top of ground floor joist. Any opening in brick wall shall be closed by a fire-proof door.

Sec. 187. No frame dwelling shall be erected to contain more than two (2) stories, a basement and attic, and no living or sleeping rooms shall be located in the attic story without special permission from the fire marshal, and in no case shall the first or principal floor of a frame dwelling be more than six (6) feet above sidewalk grade.

Sec. 188. Frame buildings veneered on the outside, not to exceed two (2) stories in height, with four (4) inches of brick or stone, may be erected with the consent of the fire marshal, but such brick or stonework must be erected on a continuous foundation of masonry and must be properly anchored to frame structure, and in all other respects they shall be treated as frame buildings.

Sec. 189. No continuous vertical recess, chase or flue shall be made to a greater depth than four inches in a 12-inch wall, and such recess, chase or flue may increase four inches in depth with each increase of four inches in thickness of the wall, and no recess of any kind shall be made in any eight inch wall, except by a special permit from the fire marshal. No continuous vertical recess other than flues in stacks shall be nearer than seven feet to any other recess.

Sec. 190. All stone and brickwork over openings exceeding over four feet in width, shall be supported with stone or iron lintels of sufficient strength to carry the superimposed weights, excepting where such stone or brickwork shall be supported with properly tied and substantial stone or brick arches. All lintels supporting stone or brickwork must bear on stone, brick or iron of sufficient strength.

For white pine or hemlock posts, 62 1-2 per cent of the loads in the above table may be used.

The ultimate load to which timber used for girders may be subjected shall not exceed those determined by the following formulae, to wit:

All formulae herein given for determining the load permitted upon girders of any kind are for girders supported at both ends and uniformly loaded over their entire length. The formulae for column loads are for columns concentrically loaded.

The calculations for the allowances which must be made for other methods of loading shall be based upon the above formulae and constants, and the rules of the best engineering practice.

Sec. 230. Any other plan or style of fire escape shall be sufficient if approved by the fire marshal of the city, but if not so approved the fire marshal may notify the owner, proprietor or lessee of such building or of the building in which such establishment is conducted or the agent or superintendent or either of them in writing that any such other plan or style of fire escape is not sufficient, and may by an order in writing, served in like manner, require one or more fire escapes, as he shall deem necessary and sufficient, to be provided for such building at such location and of such plan and style as shall be specified in such written order, not however, in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance.

Sec. 231. All unsafe chimneys must be made safe within five days after notice from the fire marshal.

Sec. 236. Any building having more than two stories used as a tenement or boarding house, theater, hotel or house of entertainment, shall have pipes connected with the city water works with hose connections on every floor, or in lieu thereof the owner or occupants of such building shall keep constantly on hand in barrels, buckets or pails, a sufficient amount of water for use in emergency. The amount and extent of such damage by fire or otherwise, shall be determined by one (1) surveyor appointed by the fire marshal, and one (1) surveyor appointed by the owner or owners of said premises, and they shall appoint a third party to act in case they shall not agree and a decision of a majority of them, reduced to writing and sworn to shall be conclusive. Such building shall in no manner be repaired or rebuilt until after such decision shall have been rendered, and in case of refusal of the owner to submit to such appraisal no permit shall be granted.

The hinges, bolts and latches or tracks upon which doors or shutters are hung, shall be of wrought iron and shall be built into the masonry. In covering the woodwork, the tins shall first be placed around the edge and folded down at the top and bottom of the side of the door, making a mitre in folding. In a room having an atmosphere liable to rust the tin "lead" sheets shall be used instead of "tinned" sheets. Doors and shutters shall be about three inches larger than the opening covered, on all sides, and shall be tight at the bottom, where there shall be a stone or heavy iron sill sufficiently close to the bottom of the door to prevent the passage of flame.

owner or lessee to cause the same to be repaired and shall also affix a notice of the dangerous character of the structure to a conspicuous place on the exterior wall of such building, and any person removing such notice so affixed shall be liable to a fine of not less than $10 for each and every offense. Where the public safety requires immediate action, the fire marshal may enter upon the premises with such assistance as may be necessary, and cause the said structure to be made secure or taken down without delay, at the expense of such owner or party interested.

Sec. 244. No wood fence shall be constructed of greater height than seven feet above the sidewalk grade, or seven feet above the surface of the ground, where no grade is established.

Sec. 245. Every building or part thereof erected or placed contrary to the provisions of this ordinance shall be deemed to be a common nuisance and the fire marshal may order the same removed; and in case the owner thereof shall neglect or refuse to remove such building or part thereof, within five days after notice to do so, the Executive Board may remove such building or part thereof at the expense of the owner thereof.

(m.) Change of Use.

Sec. 246. If buildings, the uses of which bring them within any of the before mentioned classes, are to be applied to the uses of any other class for which a better system of construction is called for by this ordinance, the construction and equipment of such buildings must first be made to conform with the requirements of this ordinance as specified for their intended use; and it shall be unlawful to apply such building to a new or different use than that to which its structure and equipment adapts it under this ordinance, unless the requirement of this ordinance for such new or different use shall first have been complied with, and a permit for such alteration or use shall have first been obtained from the fire marshal.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM CORPORATION OFFICERS, BOARDS AND DEPARTMENTS.

By the Clerk— City Auditor's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 30, 1896.

To the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—I return herewith claim of J. G. Wagner, $786, for extending election booths, without approval, being satisfied that it is excessive. This especially applies to the item of $676 for thirteen extensions at $52 each.

Referring to the latter item, I obtained proposals for the same work to be executed within a week from an order therefor, from two contractors now executing other work under contract for the city, viz.: Frank J. Saver and Hannah & Van Alstyne. Mr. Sauer's bid was $30 for each of thirteen extensions, total $390; Hannah & Van Alstyne's bid was $44 each, total $572, a difference of $104 and $286 respectively below the amount claimed.

The other figures for said work are in one case above and the other below what I consider might be justly allowed, in view of their wide difference, but yet much less than the claim, and from which the claimant has declined to consider any abatement.

Furthermore, I do not find that such expenditure was authorized by your honorable body, but an unexpected emergency seems to have made the work necessary, as explained by the statement of Fire Marshal Walter accompanying. Mr. Walter has also stated to me that since my questioning the claim he had procured an estimate for the thirteen extensions, and the figures obtained caused him to believe that the claim of Mr. Wagner was too large.

I, therefore, return the claim unaudited for such further action on the part of your honorable body as may be proper to determine the ground of my objections. As the item of $110 for extending two permanent booths includes, as I understand, additional work on the old part of booth, in that case and for that reason I consider that an allowance not exceeding $100 would be proper. An itemized statement submitted by Mr. Wagner, which in view of the foregoing I am unwilling to accept, is attached to the claim herewith returned.

Respectfully,
A. S. MANN, Auditor.

Gentlemen:—Your Map and Survey Committee beg leave to make the following report and recommendations in relation to the City Engineer's office.

In reference to the resolution that the City Property Committee be authorized to have the City Engineer's office equipped with an independent telephone service at an expense not exceeding $75, which was referred to us at the last meeting of your honorable body, we would say; that we have carefully considered the matter and find that many large offices are being fitted out with such telephones and believing that they would add materially to the efficiency of the office, your committee recommend that the City Property Committee be authorized to procure such telephones, in accordance with the resolution of November 24, 1896.

SPECIAL COMMITTEES.

By Ald. Pauckner—

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON ASSIGNMENT OF ROOMS.

To the Honorable, the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—The undersigned, comprising the special, or sub-committee, to which was referred the assignment of rooms remaining unoccupied in the City Hall building, would respectfully report:

The following named officials and departments have made requests for quarters, or additional room: Fire Marshal, Corporation Counsel, Mt. Hope Cemetery Commission, Civil Service Commission, Hemlock Lake Commission, Chief Inspector of Improvements.

At the outset your committee was confronted with the task of providing room for more departments and officials than the unassigned space in the building would accommodate. The only desirable rooms, not already assigned, were those on the southeast corner of the fourth floor, and, as might be expected, all the departments and officials unprovided for wanted them.

The committee is of the opinion that those officials whose duties require them to occupy their offices all the time are entitled to more consideration than such commissions or departments as desire quarters in the building for only occasional use and more as a matter of convenience than necessity. Starting from this position your committee decided to recommend that the large room on the southeast corner of the fourth floor be assigned to the Fire Marshal and the adjacent connecting room to the Corporation Counsel; that the room adjoining that occupied by the City Auditor be set apart for the use of Chief Inspector Botsch. The street department will require all the room formerly occupied by the City Engineer and Thomas J. Neville, Clerk of the Executive Board, has asked for the office soon to be vacated by the Health Board, supporting his request by an array of facts and arguments based thereupon, marshalled in such effective style as to be simply unanswerable.

The Mt. Hope Cemetery commissioners have stated that they contemplated establishing, for the convenience of the public, a downtown office and would especially like to be provided with convenient and commodious quarters on that account.

Members of the Civil Service Commission and of the Hemlock Lake commission have also asked for rooms in the building but inasmuch as there remains no unassigned room it is difficult to see how their requests can be complied with.

Your committee would like instructions as to the disposition to be made of the rooms recently vacated by the City Clerk. It has been informally understood that these rooms would be reserved for the use of committees. It appears that the various committees can be otherwise accommodated and your committee would recommend that these rooms be assigned, one to the Civil Service commission and the other to the Mt. Hope Cemetery commission.

It is probable that the Hemlock Lake commission will complete the work for which it was created in a few years and there does not appear to be the necessity for providing quarters for them in the City Hall as exists in respect to the permanent departments and commissions.

Respectfully submitted,

WM. PAUCKNER,
Chairman, City Property Committee.
THEO. S. PULVER,
City Clerk.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE MAYOR.
By the Clerk—
Mayor's Office, Dec. 7, 1896.
To the Common Council of the city of Rochester:
The resolution providing for the payment of the salary of Dr. L. B. Hawley for the month of November, 1896, is disapproved, for the reason that he has not been certified by the civil service board to the common council for appointment. His appointment therefore is a violation of the civil service laws of this state.
I desire to call your attention to the fact that the common council has had since June last to appoint a physician in place of Dr. Hawley, or to appoint him if eligible. Names of reputable physicians have been certified from which to select, but no selection has as yet been made. The salaries of Drs. Sayles and Woodruff have been approved because pending the selection of the city physicians they rendered valuable services to the city for which no one else was paid. The salaries of Drs. Snow and Mason were approved because they were finally appointed according to the civil service laws. No attempt has been made to select a physician in the place of Dr. Hawley, although the names of eligible physicians are pending before the common council to select from. Ample time has been given to select a physician in his place, and the common council has not seemed disposed to do so, in the expectation that he will be allowed to remain and that his salary will be paid him in the future. I desire to notify the common council that unless a selection of a city physician is made at the next meeting, that I shall not approve the salary of Dr. Hawley after December 1, 1896.

I do not desire to let the matter drag along as it has been doing.

Very respectfully,

GEORGE E. WARNER, Mayor.

Received, filed and published.

Ald. Ford moved that action on the matter disapproved by the Mayor be postponed two weeks. Carried.

City Treasurer's Office,
 Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 8, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council:
 Gentlemen:—Your attention is called to the fact that the interest due Feb. 1st. on the bonded debt of the city is $50,537.50.

This amount was provided for in the tax levy for 1896, and is yet uncollected.

I would suggest that authority be given me at the time I negotiate the city's note for interest due January 1st, to take care of the February interest also. Both amounts are represented by taxes levied, but not collected.

Respectfully submitted,
 S. B. WILLIAMS, Treasurer.

Received, filed and published, and referred to Committee on Finance.

By Ald. Johnston—

City Treasurer's Office,
 Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 8, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—There will be due and payable January 1st on account of local improvements, acceptances to the amount of $15,000. It will be necessary to issue the city's note to meet these payments.

Respectfully,
 S. B. WILLIAMS, Treasurer.

Received, filed and published, and referred to Committee on Finance.

By Ald. Johnston—

City Treasurer's Office,
 Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 8, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—In regard to advances made from Local Improvement Fund for street sweeping and street sprinkling for 1896, pay of local inspectors, and transfer orders made by the Executive Board, chargeable to this fund.

The total amount of orders drawn and yet to be issued is $44,449.73. While this amount is a regular charge to Local Improvement Fund, the rolls for said work are not yet in the office, and will not be for some time to come.

Will it not be advisable to reimburse the fund with this amount by the issuing of the city's note?

It will take this amount besides what we shall be able to collect, to pay the acceptances for local improvements soon falling due.

Kindly give the matter your consideration.
 Respectfully,

S. B. WILLIAMS, Treasurer.

Received, filed and published, and referred to Committee on Finance.

By Ald. Johnston—

City Treasurer's Office,
 Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 8, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—In the 1896 tax levy, as published on pages 370 and 371 of the proceedings for the current year, you estimate receipts from various sources to the amount of $85,000 to be credited to the Sinking Fund.

Are the receipts mentioned to be taken from January 1, 1896, or from the date of confirmation of the tax levy? Also, shall I deposit the amounts that were on hand January 1, 1896, in the interest on past due taxes funds to the credit of the Sinking Fund?

You will notice the balance reported to the credit of the Poor Fund on this date is $60,732.07. Of this amount $30,746.82 was paid into the treasury by the Excise Commissioners previous to July 1, 1896. I have credited to the Sinking Fund the amount named in the levy, $40,000, that amount having been deposited by the County Treasurer with me.

Is it your wish that the above amount—$30,746.82—be transferred also to the Sinking Fund?

Yours respectfully,

S. B. WILLIAMS, Treasurer.

MISCELLANEOUS COMMUNICATIONS.

By Ald. Adams—
 Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 7, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council of Rochester:
 Gentlemen: At a meeting held this day at the Builders' Exchange of the architects and builders of Rochester, the following resolution was adopted:

"Whereas, The proposed ordinance relating to buildings is defective and against the interests of property owners and the welfare of the city, since its provisions will increase the cost of buildings (except where constructed of wood) at least twenty-five per cent., without adding to their value or increasing their earning capacity; and since its provisions in its present form will have a tendency to greatly retard and injure the building interests, as buildings erected under the existing ordinance, that has all necessary requirements for strength and safety, hardly give a net return of four per cent. on their cost.

Resolved, That we ask the Common Council to defer action on the proposed new ordinance and to submit it to a committee composed of such members of its body as they may see fit, together with three architects and three builders, appointed by the Builders' Exchange, to suggest such changes as may seem wise for the best interests of all."

Respectfully submitted,

Joint meeting of Architects and Builders.

 0 Expenses, after deducting amounts received from tapplings and meters.

The figures herein are taken from the executive board reports, and they show that in addition to the amount received from the sale of water bonds, viz.: $5,592,000, the property owners have raised by taxation, $4,467,087, for the purpose of paying the difference between the expenses of the department and its receipts. The largest difference in any single year after commencement was $273,510 in 1883, and the smallest was $130,481 in 1892, the average annual difference for the twenty-one years being $212,718. It is not generally understood that the amount paid through the annual tax levies for the maintenance of the water system is as large as the records show it.

Second. The expenses as shown in the statement are grouped in three different classes, viz.: interest on the water bonds; cost of water main extensions and operating expenses.

The first item is a fixed charge, and cannot now be lessened; the second item is regulated by the growth of the city, and the needs of its undeveloped sections, and, judging from past experience, the necessity of $50,000 annually for this purpose will continue unchanged.

The item of operating expenses is principally for salaries, and the following statement, compiled from the executive board's own records, will show how it has increased during the last six or seven years.

The executive board members and Messrs. Kuchling and Neville have explained the duties of the different employes in the various sub-departments, and your committee's conclusions and recommendations, arranged to correspond with the statement furnished by the executive board under date of September 1, 1896, follow:

Section No. 1. Engineering Department:
Number of employes 17
Number needed 8

Classified as follows:

1 chief engineer.
1 assistant engineer.
1 transitman and draughtsman.
2 rodmen or clerks.
1 stenographer.
2 pipe inspectors; the latter to be available for general service and repair duties when not engaged in pipe inspection work. Any additional inspectors needed for contract work to be secured as necessity requires.

Some of the seventeen employes quoted in this department were engaged exclusively upon work in connection with new gate houses and connections and enlarged distributing mains, but the city's financial condition is such that it is not at all probable that any money can be furnished for the continuation of this work until the spring or summer of 1898; hence the recommendation to discontinue the services of all employes on this special work.

Section No. 2. Conduits, reservoirs and Hemlock lake:

Number of employes (exclusive of the three engaged for sanitary service at Hemlock lake) 9
Number needed 8

Classified as follows:

1 general overseer.
1 overseer and gate-keeper at Hemlock lake.
2 overseers at Richmond Mills.
1 overseer at Honeoye Falls.
1 overseer at Rush.
1 overseer and gate-keeper at Mt. Hope.
1 assistant overseer and gate-keeper at Mt. Hope.

Section No. 3. Flushing city mains:

Number of employes 4
Number needed 2

To be available for hydrant service and general service and repair duties during the winter months, or when not engaged in flushing duties. In case of any emergency where extra flushing is necessary, additional assistance can be secured.

Section No. 4. Pump house of Holly system:

Number of employes 6
Number needed 5

Classified as follows:

1 engineer.
1 assistant engineer.
2 firemen.
1 helper for day service only.

Section No. 5. Meter department:

Number of employes 13
Number needed 7

Classified as follows:

1 foreman.
2 meter setters.
2 meter repairers.
2 meter helpers.

Should additional assistance be needed temporarily during the summer months, there would be no objection to securing it.

Section No. 6. Service and repair department:

Number of employes 34
 Number needed 21
 Classified as follows:

- 1 foreman.
- 1 assistant foreman.
- 1 clerk, with understanding that part of his time shall be devoted to meter department.
- 1 inspector of tapping.
- 2 tappers.
- 1 plumber or pipe fitter.
- 1 blacksmith.
- 1 carpenter.
- 10 servicemen or laborers.
- 2 night men.

This number, together with the assistance that can be furnished by the employes in the engineering, flushing, meter and tapping departments, whose time is not otherwise occupied, is fully ample for the routine service during the winter and spring months. Should additional assistance be needed during the summer season, or in case of any special emergency, it can easily be secured.

Section No. 7. City barn:

Number of employes 4
 Number needed 4
 Classified as follows:

- 1 superintendent.
- 2 barn men.
- 1 night man.

Section No. 8. Registrar's department:

Number of employes 24
 Number needed 15
 Classified as follows:

- 1 registrar.
- 1 application clerk.
- 1 counter clerk.
- 5 statement clerks.
- 3 meter readers.
- 4 service inspectors; the latter to be available for general inspection duties. The proposed number of clerks and meter readers is ample, if the metered accounts amounting to $20 and upwards a year are read and billed monthly and all other metered accounts treated quarterly. Should additional clerical assistance be needed to prepare the frontage tax and arrearages for the annual tax levy, it can readily be secured.

Section No. 10. General office:

Number of employes 11
 Number needed 4
 Classified as follows:

- 1 general clerk.
- 1 assistant clerk.
- 1 bookkeeper.
- 1 messenger.

Your committee is of the opinion that whatever trench inspection service is needed, should be done by the street department, free of expense to the plumber or property owner. The plumber always furnishes an approved bond, guaranteeing satisfactory service on all public work, and in addition, the executive board has the power to revoke the license of any plumber who fails to comply with its requirements.

Making allowance for the cost of some additional assistance during the summer months in the service and repair department, and for the inspection of pipe contract work, the recommendations of your committee will effect an annual saving of from $30,000 to $35,000 in the item of operating expenses.

The additional annual expenditures of the department are approximately the following:

Total $120,000 00

Making the total amount needed annually for operating expenses, including the salaries of several of the employes in the engineering department, that have heretofore been paid through the Water Pipe Fund, not to exceed $120,000.

The department expenditures for these purposes during the last few years have been:

1890	$134,133 00
1891	121,962 00
1892	130,348 00
1893	172,636 00
1894	155,160 00
1895	150,294 00
1896, eleven months	136,341 00

And the executive board's compliance with the recommendations of your committees will produce an annual saving of about $35,000.

Your committee would recommend that the monthly salary statement that is furnished for publication be arranged by sections, similar to those referred to in this report; also that all such salaries be paid in future entirely from the Water Works Fund.

The executive board's management of the meter department has added materially to the cost of maintaining the water works department, and the following statement, compiled from the board's own records, shows the annual receipts and disbursements since 1880:

FINANCIAL RESULTS OF METER DEPARTMENT.

Year.	Receipts.	Disbursements.

Excess disbursements	$168,069 00

Average annual excess for ten years years, from 1880 to 1889, inclusive, $ 6,952 00
 Average annual excess for six years from 1890 to 1895, inclusive, 16,424 00

The executive board's records show that during the last seven years, 4,931 new meters have been set, 2,124 of which have not been paid for, and their cost, together with the cost of setting, aggregates $42,800.

The meter records prior to 1889 are not readily accessible, and consequently your committee cannot say how many additional free meters have been set.

The executive board has evidently not been governed by any rules in its distribution of meters free of charge, and inasmuch as most consumers have utilized their free meters to reduce their water payments, the city has suffered doubly from the practice.

Your committee knows of no good reason for the discrimination that has prevailed in connection with the sale and use of meters, and would recommend that the executive board take immediate steps to collect the amounts due upon all meters in use that have not been paid for, and are owned by the city.

In case any of the parties using meters owned by the city are unable to pay for them on demand, your committee would favor the executive board's receiving partial payments, or granting a reasonable time for full payment.

Your committee would also recommend that in future the executive board collect the cost and expense of setting for all new meters used.

Compliance with these recommendations will place all meter users upon a uniform footing, and will add materially to the city's income during the coming year; also, while these recommendations will not reduce expenditures, they will increase the annual income from eight to twelve thousand dollars, according to the number of meters used, and they will lessen the large difference that has heretofore prevailed between the receipts and disbursements in the meter department.

The executive board's records show that during 1890 and 1891, 401 meters were purchased from the American Frost Meter Co., at a cost of $6,924.30. The board told your committee that shortly after they were set, they proved a complete failure and had to be taken up and sold for old metal. They brought $989.23, and the city has lost by the transaction the difference, viz., $5,935.07, and the cost of setting and replacing.

Your committee wishes to take more time to consider the question of revising the present schedule of water rates before making any recommendations, and will report upon this subject at a later meeting.

Your committee is substantially agreed upon all of the foregoing recommendations, excepting those relating to the number of employes needed, their proposed salaries and the estimated amount of saving in annual expense.

Your committee is unanimously of the opinion that there is a number of surplus employes in several of the sub-departments.

Your committee, however, is not unanimous upon the wisdom of naming the particular number needed, and conversely, the particular number not needed.

The committee members favoring the recommendations, and whose names are affixed to this report, do not claim infallibility for their judgment, and the recommendations of the number of employes needed in the various sub-departments are made with the belief that they are ample for the routine service, and that the several explanatory notes fully provide for any additional or extraordinary service that may be needed.

Specific statements and data were originally formulated for the purpose of furnishing your committee a basis to work from, and they have been incorporated in this report so that the executive board, the council and people can know the manner in which your committee worked, and have the opportunity of considering intelligently the recommendations.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES JOHNSTON,
WILLIAM PAUCKNER,
WILLIAM WARD,

Special Water Works Committee.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT.

The committee members opposing the recommendations in question, and whose names are affixed to this explanatory statement, claim in substance that the testimony presented does not warrant them; that they may result in the dismissal of some valuable employes; that the executive board is more competent to judge of the department's needs than committee members, and that the report should simply confine itself to general recommendations, and place upon the executive board the responsibility of executing them satisfactorily.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSEPH A. CRANE,
JOSEPH C. WILSON,
WILLIAM H. TRACY,

UNIVERSITY AVENUE BRIDGE CROSSING COMMITTEE REPORT.
AGREEMENT

Made this December 8, 1896, between the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company, party of the first part, and the City of Rochester, a municipal corporation, party of the second part, witnesseth:

Whereas, The tracks of the party of the first part cross, at grade, the highway in said city known as University avenue; and it is the desire of the parties hereto that the grade of that highway shall be altered, so that the highway shall be made to pass underneath the railroad tracks by means of a subway and bridge, to be made in accordance with the plan thereof, entitled (F.) N. Y. C. & H. R. R. Proposed Subway at University Avenue, E. Rochester, N. Y. No. 9,024 (S.) November 19, 1896, and approved by Walter Katte, chief engineer, November 20, 1896, and also approved by E. A. Fisher, City Engineer; which plan is hereto annexed and made a part of this agreement.

Now, therefore, it is mutually agreed between the parties as follows:

1. That the party of the second part shall cause its Common Council and Executive Board to adopt such ordinances and resolutions as may be necessary to legally alter said highway by reducing its width to fifty-two (52) feet through the whole length of said subway, and for such further distance as may be necessary to provide for construction of the retaining or other walls thereof outside of the highway as altered and as shown on said plan; and to change and establish the grade of said highway through said subway and its approaches to the grade shown on said plan; and that it will, without cost or expense to the party of the first part hereto construct a sewer in said highway, through said subway, to the East Side trunk sewer in Culver street, of such depth and capacity to afford good and sufficient drainage to said subway; and that said sewer shall be completed on or before May first, next.

The party of the second part hereby grants to the party of the first part the right to construct and maintain said bridge for the uses of its railroad and railroad tracks to the extent, numbers and location as shown on said map; and to such other or further extent and numbers as said bridge will allow.

2. In consideration of this agreement, and on the performance thereof on the part of the party of the second part on or before May first, next, the party of the first part agrees, at its own expense, to carry said railroad tracks over said highway by means of said subway and bridge, in substantial conformity to said plan; and that it will make the excavations in said highway necessary for altering the grade of said highway, to the extent shown on said plan; it being understood that the party of the first part shall not be required to make any excavations in said highway outside of said subway, the effect of which would be to cause the lands of adjoining owners (other than the lands of the party of the first part) to fall into such excavations, unless all such adjoining owners shall give their consent thereto; and, further, that the party of the first part shall not be required to do any work for the alteration of the grade of any street other than University avenue.

It is further agreed that the following particulars shall be observed, viz.: Said subway shall be fifty-two feet wide; the under side of the bridge shall not be less than thirteen feet above the grade of the subway as shown on said map. The bridge shall be supported by retaining walls on each side of said subway, and immediately adjacent to the lines of the highway as altered and so as to leave the subway fifty-two feet wide; and by iron columns resting upon low stone piers placed in the center line of said subway, as shown on said plan; and that the bridge shall be so floored and maintained as to prevent dripping of oil or water into said subway.

3. The party of the first part agrees that upon the performance of this agreement on the part of the party of the second part within the time hereinbefore mentioned, it will commence said work on or before June 15, 1897, and have it completed within four months thereafter, or, within four months after the 15th day of June, 1897, if the party of the second part shall be unable to perform this agreement on its part before that date.

It is further understood and agreed that said highway, for the whole length of said subway and its approaches, shall be closed for such length of time as shall be necessary to enable said party of the first part to make such subway and its approaches and to construct said bridge.

It is further agreed that nothing herein contained shall affect the rights or obligations of either party hereto under any provisions of general law, now or hereafter enacted, nor to relieve the party of the first part from any legal liability to pay assessments for the improvement and maintenance of said highway, or any other public street.

In witness whereof the parties hereto have hereunto affixed their respective corporate seals, and caused these presents to be signed by the President of the party of the first part, and by the Mayor of the party of the second part, pursuant to a resolution of its Common Council the day and year first above written.

By Ald. Kelly—Whereas, A bill was passed by the Legislature of 1895, providing for the submission to the State Board of Claims of the claim of the city against the state arising out of the construction by the city of Allen, Brown and Smith streets, and Lyell and Plymouth avenues lift bridges, and

Whereas, A claim thereunder was filed by the Corporation Counsel and it was deemed inadvisable to bring the claim on for a hearing because the language of the act authorizing the submission of the claim limited the liability of the state to such sum as the state would have expended to maintain bridges at the places mentioned of the character of the bridges maintained prior to the erection of said lift bridges, and did not permit the Board of Claims to allow anything toward the expense of constructing said bridges, and

Whereas, An amendatory statute was introduced into the Legislature last winter, providing that the Board shall award such sum toward the expense of constructing and maintaining said bridges as shall appear to have been necessary to preserve in a safe and substantial manner the continuity of such streets so as not unnecessarily to impair the usefulness of the same, which act was passed by the Senate and Assembly but not signed by the Governor after the adjournment of the Legislature, and therefore failed to become a law, and

Whereas, It is inadvisable to proceed under the original bill on account of the limited liability which it provides, therefore,

Resolved, That the Corporation Counsel be requested to prepare and send to the Legislature for passage an amendatory statute similar to the one introduced last winter, and that the honorable, our representatives in the Senate and Assembly, be requested to secure the passage of said act.

Adopted.

 Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 22, 1896.

To the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—In accordance with a resolution adopted by your honorable body on December 8th, authorizing this Board to negotiate for the land necessary for the opening of Lake View Park, the Executive Board sent by mail 237 postal cards to the present, and reputed, owners of property who, by record, have been interested in Lake View park, to call at this office and state what sum they would accept for their interest in the land proposed to be taken for the opening of Lake View park.

A number of persons responded to the request, but gave no definite statement as to the value of their property; and as the majority of persons interested failed to make any answer whatever, the Executive Board, therefore, report their inability to negotiate for the land and suggest that the Corporation Counsel be authorized to commence the usual condemnation proceedings.

Respectfully,

THOS. J. NEVILLE, Clerk.

Received, filed and published.

By Ald. Selye—Whereas, As appears from the foregoing communication from the Executive Board, that no agreement for the purchase of lands necessary to be taken, or right of way to be acquired for the opening of Lake View park, under final ordinance No. 6,425 has been made, therefore

Resolved, That the matter be referred to the Corporation Counsel for settlement and that he be, and hereby is, authorized and instructed to take and institute such proceedings as may be necessary, in case of failure to otherwise secure title to the lands needed, as provided by the charter of the city of Rochester.

Adopted.

City Engineer's Office,
 Rochester, N. Y.

To the Hon. the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—Referring to the resolution adopted by your honorable Board on July 21, 1896, directed the City Engineer to confer with the State Engineer in regard to a change in the sewer in Exchange street, made necessary by the proposed new bridge. I beg leave to report that several conferences have been had with the State Engineer's department regarding this matter, and the State Engineer has agreed to modify the plans of the substructure of said bridge so as to allow said sewer to pass under the proposed bridge in the center of the street, and also to include the cost of constructing the necessary cast iron pipe sewer 4 feet in diameter under said bridge and canal in the cost of the bridge, provided the state be allowed to drain a proposed subway under the canal into said sewer by means of a 6 inch cast iron pipe. This, however, does not include the cost of lowering said sewer outside the canal banks.

Respectfully submitted,

E. A. FISHER,
 City Engineer.

Received, filed and published, and referred to Executive Board.

Office of Executive Board,
 Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 22, 1896.

To the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—Accompanying this communication is one from the City Engineer, in which he states that there is a necessity for the passage of a supplementary ordinance to make up the deficit in the estimate for the Central avenue tunnel sewer.

After the work had been in progress for some time, the owners of property stated that where the sewer discharged into the river, the excavation would endanger the foundations of the Rochester Power Company's building, and it became necessary to alter the direction of the sewer so as to avoid imperiling the property of this company.

The Executive Board, therefore, recommends that a supplementary ordinance be passed to meet this deficiency.

Respectfully,

THOS. J. NEVILLE, Clerk.

 Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 18, 1896.

To the Hon. Executive Board:

Gentlemen:—I beg leave to say that the cost of constructing the Central avenue tunnel under final ordinance No. 5,905 has exceeded the estimate by $718.51, and this may be accounted for by the fact that when the outlet work was partially completed it was found that the discharge would be at some depth below the foundation of the Rochester Power Co.'s five-story building at the foot of the falls, and if carried out on this plan would endanger their structure. We were therefore obliged to change the outlet to a point 30 feet north of the building, thus increasing the cost as stated above.

Very respectfully,

E. A. FISHER,
 City Engineer.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 17, 1896.

To the Honorable, the Common Council:
Gentlemen:—At a meeting of the Board of Health of the city of Rochester held Dec. 10, 1896, the following report was received and action taken thereon:

Commissioner Sumner reported that the Sanitary Committee had inspected the premises No. 62 Glenwood park, owned by Charles A. Hayden, and found the premises to be in a very unsanitary condition by reason of there being no sewer in the street at that point; the cellar on said premises contained water, and the committee recommended that the property be condemned as a place of residence, and that the Common Council be requested to have a sewer constructed in the street at said place.

A true copy from the minutes.

By the Clerk—

Office of the Executive Board,
Rochester, N. Y., December 21, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council:
Gentlemen: I am directed by the executive board to transmit to you the following communication relating to the public uses of water, and revenue from water rents.

In the matter of the alleged deficiency in the income of the city's water works, and the establishment of new rates for the use of the water so as to increase the revenue, it becomes necessary to take a number of different elements into account, and to agree upon a sharp definition of the essential words used in the discussion. For example, the term "self-supporting" is frequently used as a desirable characteristic of the water works, and mention is also made of more or less "deficiency," or that the works "don't pay." The question now arises whether any of these allegations are in fact true, and what rates should be fixed for the use of the water in order to make the works "self-supporting."

When a public water supply is introduced in a city, the works are invariably projected on a larger scale than necessary for present wants, so as to provide for anticipated future uses. The investment is made not only to satisfy existing needs, but also to secure advantages which will induce other people to become permanent residents, thereby increasing the population, industries and wealth of the community, and ultimately reducing the per capita cost of the works. Under such conditions, it is not expected that the revenues derived from the use of the water will at once become equal to the interest account and operating expenses, but on the contrary, it is regarded as proper that the community at large should bear a portion of the annual expense in consideration of the anticipated general public benefit resulting from the existence of the works.

The same principle is applied generally to all kinds of public work, such as railroads, canals, sewers, etc., none of which are commercially profitable in the outset. As in every speculation, a debt is here incurred which is expected to be carried for a longer or shorter term of years before the returns are sufficient to yield a profit, and the difference between annual expense and income is met by general assessment. In the hope that eventually the income, at the established rates, will not only suffice to pay the expenses, but also leave a margin of profit applicable to the gradual extinguishment of the debt. In these cases, the principal part involved is the rate at which the works are used, and the charges made to individuals for such use.

After the completion of the original system of water works, the policy of making low rates for the use of the water was adopted, with the view of quickly introducing the public supply in every inhabited building, and thus distributing the cost of maintenance as uniformly as possible upon the entire population. This policy has since been continued, and as a consequence, wells have generally been abandoned, and nearly every inhabitant has access to the water supply, either in his home or his place of business, or both. The query now is whether the established low rates are sufficient to make the works "self-supporting;" but before an answer can be given, the meaning of this phrase must be clearly and sharply defined.

The water-works serve two distinct purposes, the first being the supply of water to individuals and private corporations for domestic and industrial uses, while the second is the supply for a variety of general public uses, such as the extinguishment of fires, flushing sewers, construction of public works, sprinkling and cleaning streets, operating lift-bridges, etc., and the service of drinking fountains, public buildings, schools, fire department houses, city barn, repair shop and pumping station, as well as that of semi-public buildings and institutions like hospitals, parochial schools, convents, orphan asylums, homes for aged and infirm, etc. In the first named class, the benefit derived from the use of water is specific or personal, but in the second class it is general in character, and the value of the service should manifestly be borne in more or less degree by the community at large.

The demands of these two classes upon the works, however, are very different. In the first class, the legitimate consumption of water is generally quite uniform, especially where meters are used, and hence the necessary capacity of the works, for such supply alone, might easily be computed. In the second class, on the other hand, the demand is extremely variable, and large provision must be made for reserve supply and capacity, whereby the cost of the works is correspondingly increased. To illustrate this point more specifically, let us consider briefly the matter of adequate water supply for fire purposes alone. Experience in other large manufacturing cities has demonstrated that in great conflagrations, a delivery of 10,000 gallons of water per minute upon the flames has at times been found necessary for a period of several hours, and that when such a supply was not available, much additional loss of property resulted. Now such a discharge is at the rate of 14,400,000 gallons per day, or about 50 per cent. more than the average rate of consumption in our city; hence it becomes easy to appreciate that a considerable proportion of the total cost of a system of water works must be expended in the provision of reserve capacity for fire purposes.

It must not be understood from the foregoing paragraph that to supply extraordinary volumes of water for fire purposes, all parts of a water-works system for a large city must be made of more than double the capacity needed for domestic and manufacturing purposes. Such enlargement is required mainly in the distributing pipes, while for the conduit and reservoir a smaller increment of capacity is found to suffice. Without entering now further into details, it may be mentioned that a recent conservative estimate of the proportional costs of our water works system for fire purposes, points to the conclusion that at least 30 per cent. of the total cost should be charged to this account. Taking the bonded debt for the water works at $5,600,000, and the average rate of interest at 5 3/4 per cent., we will accordingly have for fire purposes alone an estimated capital expenditure of $1,680,000, with a yearly interest account of $96,600.

This sum of $1,680,000 includes only the bonded cost of the Holly system, and the interest mentioned does not include the annual operating and administration expenses of said system, which may be placed at about $22,400. Furthermore, the cost of maintaining the hydrants of the Hemlock system, along with a fair percentage of the general administration expenses, should also be taken into account. Assuming this amount at $31,000, we accordingly have a total yearly cost of the water works for fire purposes alone of $150,000. It may also be remarked that if the payment of this sum to the water department were to be made by a credit for the use of the 2,600 fire hydrants now in service, the proper yearly rental value of each hydrant would be about $58, which is not an excessive figure in view of the large initial costs of procuring the supply.

In this connection reference may likewise be made to the hitherto uncredited earnings of the water works, both in effecting a large saving in the aggregate amount of the premiums annually paid for fire insurance by our citizens, and in greatly reducing the amount of the uncompensated loss or damage by fire. From the best estimates available, it is computed that if the city had no water works, the outlay for insurance premiums and uncompensated fire losses would amount to fully $400,000 more per year than at present with the water works. The total interest account for the bonded water debt, however, is only about $321,500; hence, if the aforesaid estimates relating to the saving in annual insurance premiums and uncompensated fire losses are approximately correct, and if proper financial credit for such saving were given, the alleged deficit in the revenue would at once disappear and the works would doubtless be regarded as a profitable investment, even with the present low rates for the water.

We come next to the other general public uses of water indicated above. An examination of the records shows that water is supplied without charge and in large quantity to the city hall, police building, front street building, seventeen fire department buildings, thirty-eight public school buildings and annexes, the Holly pumping station, repair shop, city barn and pipe yard, also that but little revenue is derived from the uses of water in twenty-two parochial schools and convents, five orphan asylums, four hospitals and seven homes and institutions, all of which are of a semi-public character. Estimates based on meter records indicate a probable annual consumption in these various buildings of at least 10,000,000 cubic feet of Hemlock water, and 2,000,000 cubic feet of Genesee river water. At the existing rates, the revenue from these uses would be fully $12,000 per year, but the actual annual income is only about $2,600.

Furthermore, for street sprinkling and cleaning, extinguishing ordinary fires, flushing sewers, supplying public drinking troughs, operating lift-bridges, and for the various public improvements, it is estimated that about 40,000,000 cubic feet of Hemlock water and 26,500,000 cubic feet of Genesee river water are used annually; also that in the case of large conflagrations, those quantities may be greatly increased. At the regular rates, the revenue from these uses should be respectively $42,000 and $19,- $75; but under existing conditions no charge whatever is made for the use of the water. By combining the above named public and semi-public uses, it will be found that about 50,000,000 cubic feet of Hemlock water and 28,500,000 cubic feet of Genesee river water per year are virtually donated to the public without proper credit being received therefor; also that the value of this water at the usual rates amounts to about $61,900, whereas the actual receipts for the same are only $2,600, thus leaving a shortage of about $59,300 on account of public uses.

If we assume that the average consumption of Hemlock water is now 9,500,000 gallons per day, and that the Holly system furnishes 1,500,000 gallons per day, in addition, it will be found that the foregoing figures relating to the public uses of water represent respectively about 11 and 39 per cent. of the total yearly deliveries of the two systems, separately, or about 15 per cent. of the aggregate yearly delivery of both; and if we further assume that the amount which should properly be paid for such public uses is the same percentage of the difference of $350,000 between the aforesaid proportional yearly interest of $96,600 on account of the cost of enlarging the works for fire purposes and the sum of the total yearly interest of $321,500 and the yearly operating expenses of $125,100, which sum is $446,600, then the value of this water used for public purposes will be $52,500 per year. To this amount we should add the aforesaid $96,600, thus making a total of $149,100 per year to be paid by the community at large for the general public uses of water. On the other hand, by a somewhat different process previously outlined, it was found that such yearly payment or credit for fire purposes alone should be $150,000.

Still another way of estimating the value of the water used for general public purposes is to compare the value of the water which is actually delivered during the year with the receipts. Taking the rates for the Hemlock and river waters respectively at 14 and 10 cents per 1,000 gallons, and allowing 10 per cent. loss by leakage, etc., we should have at the present average rates of consumption a revenue of about $486,000, whereas the estimated receipts for 1896 are only about $336,000. This leaves a difference of $150,000, which is represented by about 96,000,000 cubic feet of Hemlock water and 67,700,000 cubic feet of river water. By comparing these quantities with our previous estimates of water used for general public purposes, it will be seen that said estimates are much under the probable facts, and hence that they should be considerably raised.

Attention should also be called to the circumstance that no separate estimate has been made herein of the cost of providing reserve capacity in the works for a large future increase of population and industries. While it may be urged that such provision is properly embraced in the allowance made above for fire purposes, yet the said computation was not made on that basis, and therefore an additional consideration should be expressed in the general account for public uses. This element is particularly important at the present time in the case of the new conduit and the new large distributing mains, as will be quickly seen by comparing their great capacities with the present limited demands made upon them. In the future, however, these capacities will not be found excessive, and it is also safe to predict that extensive enlargements or additions to the systems will be required from time to time. With regard to the proportional costs of this reserve capacity for future domestic and industrial uses, no definite opinion is now expressed, but it is probable that at least $1,000,000 of the entire bonded water debt, or an interest account of $40,000 per year, is fairly chargeable to this account.

It has thus been shown that with the existing conditions and water rates, a credit of not less than $150,000 per year should be given to the water department for general public uses of water in order that the works shall be "self-sustaining" in the narrow sense of the term, or that the income shall be equal to the sum of the interest account and operating expenses. If, however, it be desired to make the works self-supporting in the broader sense, or that the revenue shall be sufficient to yield, in addition to the entire interest and operating expenses, a proper surplus for sinking and renewal funds, the aforesaid credit must either be increased or the rates raised. The amount of such increase depends entirely upon how soon the sinking and renewal funds are to be provided, and upon the magnitude of such funds.

Properly speaking, a sinking fund refers only to the amount of the bonded debt, and not to the sums raised by direct taxation for extensions and betterments of the works. With this understanding of the term, the sinking fund for the water works would be about $5,000,000; and if it were to be formed by equal annual payments upon which compound interest at 4 per cent. could be secured during a period of 40 years, such payments would be about $59,000 per year. The same amount might also be required for a renewal fund, so that to become "self-supporting" in the broad sense, the works should yield a revenue of about $560,000. To produce this annual sum without proper credit for the aforesaid public uses of water, will necessarily involve a large increase in both the flat and meter rates; but before such rates can be intelligently established, the matter of credit for public uses of the water must first be definitely settled by the financial authorities of the city.

In conclusion, it is also fair to object to the statement made in the report of the special committee of the Common Council, submitted on December 7, 1896, that the average annual deficit in the revenue of the water works department was $212,718 per year for the past twenty-one years. This statement is based on the addition of all expenditures made after the completion of the works in 1876 for land, condemnation of mill privileges, betterments and extensions of the distributing system in the city, etc., to the yearly interest on the original bonded debt; and while the figures may be correct, the implication of a "deficit" is entirely unwarranted, since it is not customary to provide for such unforeseen expenditures in public works by constantly raising the rates. Furthermore, both the public and its representatives in the municipal government were fully aware that such expenditures would have to be incurred, just as they are now aware that similar outlays will be required in the future; and as it was deemed unwise and inexpedient, if not inequitable, to collect the entire annual cost of the works from the water takers, the resulting alleged "deficits" were deemed to be in the interest of public policy and not as evidence of bad or injudicious management.

Were the same principle to be applied at the present time, it would be necessary to adjust the water rates so as to provide at once for the large anticipated expenditures for water works purposes to which the attention of the Common Council was called by the Executive Board early in the year, and which were refused, but which can nevertheless be not long deferred. Obviously, an adjustment of this kind would not be acceptable to the public, as even slight advances in the general tax rate provoke severe criticism. From my observation, the people prefer that the water rates shall be low and constant, and that the funds needed for betterments and extensions shall be raised by general taxation, instead of by increasing said rates. With this view of the case, it will be found that there have been no "deficits" for many years past in the water works fund; and by taking into account the various benefits derived from the existence of the works, it will doubtless be difficult to find many persons in this city who can conscientiously affirm that the alleged "deficits" are real.

Respectfully submitted,

THOS. J. NEVILLE, Clerk.

MISCELLANEOUS COMMUNICATIONS.

By Ald. Adams--

To the Honorable Common Council of the city of Rochester, New York:

I, Marvin A. Culver, of the city of Rochester, New York, do wish to release and dedicate to the city of Rochester, for use by the public as a public street, the following described parcel of land now used, and which has been used as a public street for ten years and over, and petition your honorable body to accept the same:

Beginning at the point of intersection of the south line of University avenue with a line in the west face of the west foundation wall of the M. A. Culver building at the junction of University avenue and Culver park; thence running southerly in the line lying in the west face of said west foundation wall 22 12-100 feet, more or less, to the northerly line of Culver park; thence westerly in the northerly line of Culver park, 48 16-100 feet, more or less, to the southerly line of University avenue; thence easterly in the southerly line of University avenue, 52 93-100 feet, more or less, to the point of beginning.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

LAW COMMITTEE REPORT.

To the Honorable, the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen: In the matter of the petition of the printers asking the common council to adopt a resolution directing city printing to be let to offices using the union label we beg leave to say that while there appears to be no legal objections to the adoption of such a resolution the expediency of taking such action is open to serious question. The city charter does not require the common council to advertise for bids for city printing and the common council is therefore free to let city printing by competition or otherwise as its judgment may dictate. This council, however, must have regard for the best interests of the city, and is required to consider in awarding public printing both economy and circulation. A resolution which requires city printing to be let only to union offices might make it impossible to observe these requirements. The adoption of such a resolution would also be a precedent for similar resolutions in the interests of other organizations. We believe, however, that every encouragement should be offered to the petitioners and therefore recommend that in awarding the city printing for 1897, offices using the union label be preferred all things being equal.

M. B. ADAMS,
HENRY G. COOK,
EDWARD ENGLEHARDT,
D. W. SELYE,
WM. PAUCKNER,

Law Committee.

Received, filed and published.

By Ald. Adams—Resolved, That during year 1897 in awarding city printing, offices using the union label be preferred, time of execution and circulation where important and prices and quality of work being equal.
Adopted.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON SUPPORT AND RELIEF OF THE POOR.

To the Honorable, the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen: Your Committee on Support and Relief of the Poor would respectfully report that it has been decided to recommend the continuance of the stone yard, which was so successfully conducted for two winters last past and which afforded a means for a large number of industrious men to earn a living, who would otherwise have been compelled to ask for charity.

It is recommended that the Overseer of the Poor be authorized to contract with Frank Dyer for stone at twenty cents per yard and that the Overseer be also directed and authorized to rent the land necessary for the stone yard on the best possible terms, with conditions that the city be entitled to the use of the land so rented for at least two years or until the broken stone is disposed of.

Your committee would also recommend that the Overseer be authorized to employ Albert A. Donie at a salary of $60 per month to superintend the stone yard, commencing December 22, 1896.

Respectfully submitted,
HENRY G. COOK,
M. J. CALIHAN,
WM. S. BEARD,

CITY PROPERTY COMMITTEE REPORT.

To the Honorable, the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Your committee would therefore ask authority to let a contract for the work at that figure.

Respectfully submitted,

FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORT.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 22, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen: Your finance committee would report that it has had a consultation with the treasurer, and has carefully considered his recent communications to the council.

Your committee learns that it has been a custom of the treasurer's office to pay the street sprinkling and sweeping contractors, erroneous assessments and local assessments on city property from either the local improvement or general funds, and carry the amounts as ledger balances until paid by taxes. The amounts thus expended this year, for which special provision has been made, are:

Street sprinkling	$27,558
Street sweeping	1,971
Erroneous assessments	2,406
Local assessments, city property ..	20,058
New police building	1,281

Aggregating $53,274

Your committee believes the custom of permitting moneys from the local improvement or general funds to be used for other specific purposes an unwise one, and would recommend that in future the treasurer should advise this council of the estimated or exact amounts required from time to time for special purposes, and that the council should promptly make adequate provision therefor, so that the treasurer's office will not be embarrassed while protecting the city's financial obligations.

Your committee finds the treasury in the following condition under date of December 19, 1896:

LOCAL IMPROVEMENT FUND.

LIABILITIES.

Indebtedness to general fund	$42,600
Contractors' acceptances, due in January, 1897	36,000

Overdraft in fund $77,600

GENERAL FUND.

LIABILITIES.

Undrawn balances in usual funds ..	$426,467
Semi-annual interest payments on bonds	220,517
Interest on past due taxes	58,186
City hall remodeling fund	8,375
Erroneous assessments	2,406
Local assessments, city property ..	20,058
Balance on new police building .. .	1,281

Total $737,290

RESOURCES.

Cash in banks	$ 95,723
Due from local improvement fund ..	42,600
Unpaid taxes, 1896	358,965
Unpaid taxes, prior to 1896	215,427
Erroneous assessments, 1897 tax levy ..	2,406
Local assessments, 1897 tax levy ..	20,058
Balance new police building, 1897 tax levy	1,281

Total $736,460

Of the liabilities under the general fund there is due the sinking fund $107,516.02, made up as follows: $30,746.82 from liquor licenses credited to poor fund before the adoption of this year's tax levy; $18,582.43 from general licenses and fees received early in the year and credited to contingent fund, and $58,188.77 from interest on past due taxes. Payment of this amount will more than exhaust the treasury, and there will be needed funds to pay the following items:

Semi-annual interest on bonded debt.	$220,517
December budget (estimated)	150,000
Amount due on former budgets (estimated)	45,000
City hall remodeling fund	8,375
Overdraft in treasury	11,793
Contractors' acceptances, due in January, 1897	35,000

Aggregating $470,685

After allowing for an estimated income of $20,000 from tax receipts during the next thirty days, your committee finds that the treasury will need in addition $450,000 to meet the aforesaid obligations, and your committee would recommend borrowing this amount by issuing the city's notes for a period not exceeding six months, and crediting it to the various funds in the following manner:

Street sprinkling and sweeping fund.	$ 30,000
Local improvement fund	48,000
Erroneous assessment fund	3,000
Local assessment fund, city property.	22,000
General fund	347,000

Total .. . $450,000

While the amount to be borrowed seems large, it should be understood that $347,000 of it is in anticipation of taxes levied but not collected, and that the only new items of indebtedness are the following:

Street sprinkling and sweeping, 1896.	$30,000
Local improvement fund	48,000
Erroneous assessments, 1896	3,000
Local assessments, city property, 1896.	22,000

These aggregate $103,000, and will be paid in time to redeem the notes when they mature.

The following statement will show the tax levies and additions for last year, and this and the amounts paid on each during the period from July 1, to December 18, inclusive:

	1895.	1896.
Amount of tax levy proper	$1,690,000	$2,135,000
Arrearages, water department	80,212	78,014
Frontage tax, water department	11,380	12,045
Removal of snow, highway fund	1,237	1,207
Sidewalk repairs, highway fund	1,497	1,765
Street sprinkling	5,508	4,998
Past due assessments on local improvements	85,464	149,970
Assessments for care of special streets	2,302	1,644

Aggregating .. . $1,877,600 $2,384,643

Receipts during period named .. . 1,640,666 2,025,678

Uncollected taxes in each levy, December 19, 1896	236,933	358,965
Uncollected taxes of previous years	185,761	215,427

Total uncollected taxes December 18, 1896 ... $ 422,694 $ 574,392

This statement shows conclusively that the payments upon this year's tax levy proper have been proportionately as large as they were last year, and while the amount of uncollected taxes is large, it must be remembered that it includes a larger amount than usual for past due assessments for local improvements.

Your committee has considered the request from the board of health for an additional appropriation of $2,000 for this year's expenditures, and inasmuch as the obligations making this amount necessary have been incurred, your committee cannot well do otherwise than grant the request. Thus far no deficiency notes have been made this year and, as there is an ample balance in the contingent fund, your committee would recommend that instead of making the city's note, the amount of $2,000 be transferred from the contingent fund to the health fund.

The health commissioners should have acted more promptly upon your committee's report, providing for their 1896 appropriation, made under date of February 4th last, and if prompt action had then been taken the need of a deficiency appropriation would have been avoided.

Your committee would say that the note of $500 recently authorized for the park commissioners has not been issued, and instead of making it, your committee would recommend that the authority for it be rescinded, and that the amount of $300 be transferred from the contingent fund to the park commissioners' fund.

An amount of $33,952 was included in this year's tax levy for the balance due upon the new police building, and your committee was given to understand that it was in full for all claims on this account. Your committee is now informed that additional claims amounting to $1,231 have already been paid by the treasurer. No funds for payment had been provided, and instead now of issuing the city's note for the amount, your committee would recommend that it be paid from the contingent fund.

Your committee is pleased to report that for the first time since 1886, there will be no deficiency notes issued, and that if all uncollected taxes were paid, there would be unused balances in the several funds, available for next year's necessities, amounting to about $150,000.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES JOHNSTON,
M. B. ADAMS,
J. C. WILSON,

Whereas, The existing charter provisions in the matter of the assessments for local improvements result in hardship in the matter of the assessments to taxpayers in that, under present requirements, assessments for local improvements are made payable immediately, and in one or two years from the approval of the assessment roll and three and five years in exceptional cases.

And whereas, It is the custom in many cities to give from ten to twenty years in payment of local assessments by the issuance of local assessment bonds, thereby greatly lightening the burdens of those who believe in and realize the benefits of local improvements to property.

And whereas, The interest account both of the city at large, and the payers of local assessments can be greatly lightened by a proper charter amendment for such purpose.

And whereas, It will require the service of a committee long used to the workings of local assessments.

Resolved, That the president of this board be, and hereby is, directed to appoint a committee of three, which shall, with the corporation counsel, proceed to the city of Buffalo and the city of New York to inquire into the workings of the local assessment laws and assessment bonds provided for in the charters of said cities, to the end that said committee may report back to this board for its consideration an intelligent local assessment charter amendment, that our taxpayers may no longer labor under the disadvantages that they have in the past.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE MAYOR

By the Clerk—

Mayor's Office.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 28, 1896.

To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

I hereby return to you without my approval the resolution adopted at your last meeting, authorizing the sending of four aldermen and the city attorney, to the cities of New York and Buffalo to inquire into the working of the local assessment laws and assessment bonds provided for in the charters of said cities, for the following reasons:

The incurring of the expense which will necessarily follow the proposed trips is entirely uncalled for.

First. Shortly prior to April 29, 1896, the charter amendment committee of the common council, after a careful study and examination of the subject, by and with the advice of the city attorney's office, prepared an amendment to the charter providing for the issuing of local improvement bonds to pay the expense of local improvements. Under the terms of this proposed amendment the taxpayers of this city who are required to pay for local improvements can be allowed to pay for the same in eight annual installments. This amendment after having been prepared, was submitted to the common council, and by the common council adopted, and sent to the legislature for passage. This amendment was passed by the legislature and sent back to our city for approval by the common council and the mayor of the city. A public hearing upon the said amendment and others was called by myself to be held before the common council and myself. Such public hearing was held, and such amendment was again approved. It was then sent to the governor for his signature. After it had been sent to the governor, it was discovered that an error had been made in another section of the charter relative to the school funds, and for that reason the bill was not signed by the governor. There was no defect in the local improvement amendment which prevented its becoming a law, and if it had not been for the mistake in the school bill the city would have a perfect law in reference to the issuing of bonds for local improvements. The committee which prepared this amendment did not find it necessary to travel from city to city to draft a bill, but found material enough at home to prepare a careful and well devised plan for the issuing of local improvement bonds. The plan is more liberal to the taxpayers of our city than the methods of Buffalo or Syracuse.

In Buffalo the taxpayers are required to pay their assessments in five payments, or soon after the work is done, and the remainder in four annual payments, except in cases where the amount involved is large, when special legislation has been procured giving a larger number of years. In Syracuse the time of payment allowed is five annual payments.

In New York the bonds can be issued for a time not exceeding ten years, and in case of repaving for a time not less than ten years or exceeding thirty years.

Having an amendment already prepared covering this subject it would seem to be a useless expenditure of money to send a committee to the cities named.

Second. There is no necessity of visiting these cities to ascertain the laws pertaining to the issuing of such bonds, or their workings. In each of these cities the subject is regulated by the charters thereof. These several charters provide in detail how the local improvement bonds shall be issued, the amount thereof, when payable, and the rate of interest they shall bear. These charters can all be found in the law library in our city. All that the committee would have to determine is the time they wish to give our taxpayers to pay for the improvements, and our city attorney can then with these different charters, or without them, draft a suitable and proper law for our city. To find out the workings of these laws in the different cities, the number of bonds issued by each city, the interest paid, the number of streets improved under the laws, and whether the same is satisfactory or not, can readily be ascertained by correspondence with the proper authorities of the different cities. The procuring of such information by correspondence has been for years the custom on the part of the authorities of the different cities. There is nothing that can be discovered upon these trips in regard to local improvement bonds, which cannot be discovered here at home and at no expense.

Third. The charter amendment committee which prepared the former amendment is still in existence, and is engaged in preparing amendments to the charter. This committee has devoted considerable time to the study of a local improvement amendment, and drafted one which was not criticised by the common council, but on the contrary approved by it twice, yet this committee is without any explanation entirely ignored, and a special committee appointed to make these trips. If there was any necessity for such a visit it should have been undertaken by the charter amendment committee.

Very respectfully,
 GEORGE E. WARNER, Mayor.

 To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—I hereby return to you without my approval the resolution to pay Dr. L. B. Hawley's salary for the month of December, 1896, for the following reasons:

The doctor's name has never been certified by the Civil Service Board to the Council for appointment. His appointment is therefore in violation of the Civil Service laws of this state, and he cannot legally draw a salary from the city.

Very respectfully,
 GEO. E. WARNER, Mayor.

 Ald. Ford moved that action on the matter disapproved by the Mayor be postponed one week. Carried.

Mayor's Office,
 Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 28, 1896.
 To the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

In the amendments to the charter prepared last spring by your charter amendment committee, was one requiring the board of education to advertise for bids in letting contracts involving an expenditure of two hundred and fifty dollars, and also requiring them if the amount involved was between fifty and two hundred and fifty dollars to solicit bids from two or more persons.

I would recommend that this same provision be made to apply to the executive board, the common council and all its committees; in fact, make it apply to all the departments of the city. I see no reason why one department should be made to comply with such a law, and the other departments be exempted from it. It was a good amendment so far as the board of education is concerned, and I have no doubt but that it will be equally as good for all the other departments. It would bring about competition, which necessarily results in a saving to the city.

Very respectfully,
 GEORGE E. WARNER, Mayor.

By Ald. Johnston—

City Treasurer's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 29, 1896.

Ald. Johnston—Dear Sir:—In regard to West Side Trunk Sewer certificates, due January 1st.

The commissioners say that they cannot pay on that date, but may be able to do so before the bond given by the city on this account matures, viz.: February 24th.

Amount of said bond is $25,000.

The enclosed letter from Dr. Goler is in regard to the necessity of connecting some of the city sewers with the West Side Trunk Sewer. Still, the expense of such connection would not be $25,000, hardly 1-6 of that amount. Yours truly,

SAMUEL B. WILLIAMS.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 24, 1896.

S. B. Williams, Esq., City Treasurer:

Dear Sir:—Many complaints have come to me concerning the West Side Trunk Sewer, near Deep Hollow creek in the neighborhood of No. 7 school.

I have frequently examined the site from which these complaints come and believe it of paramount importance, that the proper connections should be made with the trunk sewer at this time.

Yours respectfully,
G. W. Goler, M. D.

Boardman in the village of Honeoye Falls, and charge said amount to the Water Works Fund in conformity with the said resolution of the Common Council. Adopted.

And—Whereas, Section 158 of the city charter provides as follows:

"The proceeds of the water rates in what soever manner collected, for the use and consumption of said water, and all penalties collected, shall be deposited with the City Treasurer of said city, and be reserved and used conclusively for the payment of operating expenses, salaries, repairs, maintenance or extension of said works, of the interest upon the water bonds issued for the construction of said works or for the further extension of the same, or for a Sinking Fund for the payment of the principal of said water bonds, but for no other purpose whatever," therefore,

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 29, 1896.

Mr. T. S. Pulver, City Clerk:

Dear Sir:—At a session of the Board of Education of this city held December 28th, inst., the following report and estimate was adopted and the same is herewith accordingly transmitted to the Common Council.

Respectfully,

MILTON NOYES,

Superintendent.

ANNUAL ESTIMATE.

Commissioner Durand, chairman of the Finance Committee submitted the following: To the Board of Education:

Gentlemen:—The Finance Committee presents herewith the required statements and an estimate of the amounts necessary to meet the expenses of the public school department for the fiscal year 1897 pursuant to the provisions of chapter 604 of the laws of 1895. The following are the receipts and disbursements in the several charter funds under control of the Board of Education since January 1, 1896, together with the several balances now on hand:

BUILDING FUND.

Receipts $ 55,950 22
 Expenditures 47,525 64

Balance $8,424 58

REPAIR FUND.

Receipts $15,524 10
 Expenditures 9,823 49

Balance $5,700 61

LIBRARY FUND.

Receipts $4,063 36
 Expenditures 3,159 29

Balance $904 07

TEACHERS' FUND.

Receipts $395,569 69
 Expenditures 370,607 74

Balance $24,961 95

CONTINGENT FUND.

Receipts $118,804 09
 Expenditures 93,468 03

Balance $25,336 06

FINANCE ESTIMATE.

The following are the amounts required from the city on behalf of the public schools of the city of Rochester for the fiscal year 1897:

Building Fund $ 50,000
 Repair Fund 15,030
 Library Fund 3,000
 Teachers' Fund 280,000
 Contingent Fund 121,900

Total $469,900

On the 4th of May last the Board of Education adopted the required estimate of the wants for the fiscal year now ending.

The full amount asked for was not granted. It should not be argued that because this Board now leaves no deficiencies therefore it can operate the schools in 1897 for the same amount of money.

The present creditable record is possible only because many expenditures should have been made for the benefit of the schools that were not made. Although necessary they were withheld because the present Board was bound to keep expenses within the limit of its appropriations.

Nearly every committee curtailed needed operations wishing to co-operate with the Common Council in keeping the total municipal levy as low as possible.

Certain improvements in the department of schools were postponed with that view.

Their necessity yet exists together with the natural increasing expenses incident to increasing schools and increasing membership.

It is therefore confidently hoped that he foregoing estimate will be fully allowed by the Council, which estimate is based upon most careful calculation of actual wants.

We therefore recommend the adoption of the following:

Resolved, That the Board of Education does hereby determine and certify pursuant to requirements that the foregoing sums aggregating $469,900 are necessary to meet the proper expenses of the public school department of this city for the fiscal year, 1897.

Resolved, That the superintendent transmit a copy of this report and estimate to the Common Council forthwith.

Respectfully submitted this 28th day of December, 1896.

A. B. HENDRIX,
Wm HORCHELER,
JACOB J. YOUNG,

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PARK SUPERINTENDENT.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 28, 1896.

To the Board of Park Commissioners:

Gentlemen:—In accordance with the law, requiring all departments of the city government to report to the Common Council on the last Thursday of December of each year, I present to you for transmission to the Common Council my report of the work done on all the parks for the past year.

The following described pieces of property have been acquired by purchase:

On January 26, 1896, A. E. Frost and wife, for a consideration of the sum of $32,500, deeded all the land containing 24 96-100 acres, bounded on the north by the center line of Elmwood avenue; on the west by the center line of Genesee street; and on the east by the blue line on the west side of the Genesee Valley canal. They also gave a quit claim deed to all the land formerly occupied by the state of New York for the Genesee Valley canal, and now occupied by the Western New York & Pennsylvania Railroad Company and situated between the center of Elmwood avenue on the north and Genesee street on the south.

On January 28, 1896, Mrs. Julia Adlington, for a consideration of $5,500, deeded two strips of land, containing 5 148-1,000 acres to the city of Rochester; one 200 feet in width along the north line of Elmwood avenue, extending from the east line of the Wolcott road to the westerly line of the New York, Lake Erie and Western railroad; another strip extending from the north line of Elmwood avenue northerly about 1,915 feet to the south line of James E. Wolcott's land, and bounded on the east by a line parallel and 35 feet westerly from the east line of the Wolcott road; and on the west by the Genesee river.

On August 8, 1896, James E. Wolcott and wife deeded a strip of land, containing 29-100 acres, bounded on the north by lands owned by the state at the entrance to the feeder to the Genesee Valley canal; on the east by a line parallel with and 35 feet westerly from the east line of the Wolcott road; on the south by lands owned by the city of Rochester and formerly owned by Mrs. Julia Adlington; and on the west by the Genesee river. The river frontage is about 250 feet. The consideration was $250.

In the matter of acquiring the land, known as the Baker property, the Park Commissioners could not agree in price with the owner of the land, B. M. Baker, and application was made to the court for the appointment of Commissioners of Appraisal. The following Commissioners were appointed, Geo. W. Atwell, Chauncey G. Starkweather, Jr. and Judson F. Sheldon. The Commissioners awarded $2,600 for the 12 147-1,000 acres of land. The judgment was filed with the County Clerk and confirmed by the Supreme Court.

At Seneca Park on the east an ice house has been built and filled with ice taken from the lake within the park. The ice was partly sold to Mrs. F. L. Gates, who leased the shelter for the purpose of selling refreshments, and the remainder, after the season closed, was sold to an ice dealer.

In consideration of paying $50 to the Park Commissioners and furnishing ice free of charge to park visitors, Mrs. F. L. Gates was again leased the privilege of selling refreshments at the shelter.

A tool house, 60x26, with a loft for storing hay, has been built in the first grove near the Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg railroad tracks.

A reservoir, 16 feet in diameter and 7 feet high, for holding water to supply the sprinkling carts, has been built on the side hill 200 feet north of the refectory. An abundant supply of water is furnished for the reservoir by springs that have not failed during the driest seasons.

A large number of trees and shrubs have been planted on the borders of the lake and along the driveway from the entrance to the park to the first grove. Additional planting was made to the border plantation and to the park nursery.

The roads and walks have been improved by additional grading, and the roads by covering them with gravel. A street sprinkler has been purchased, and the roads have been sprinkled during dry weather.

On the west side of Seneca park an old quarry has been filled in and the roads graded from Lake avenue to the road that leads to Hanford's landing, and the roads have been greatly enjoyed by the wheelmen and people in carriages.

A ball ground has been graded, and the picnic grove cleared up for use. A tent was erected during the early summer for shelter from storms, and Mrs. Lee was given the privilege of selling refreshments to park visitors. A well has been drilled for supplying drinking water to visitors.

At Highland park a great deal of planting has been done. The greater part of the trees in the pinetum have been planted. The shrub collection is nearly completed, with the exception of a few rare species. A road, 2,000 feet in length, from Higiland avenue to Elmwood avenue through lands owned by the city, has been graded and covered with gravel. The refreshment rooms in the Administration building have been leased to Mrs. Jacob Young for a nominal sum. Heretofore very few herbaceous flowering plants have been used in the parks, but this year many of the herbaceous plants and wild flowers of various species have been planted in informal groups amongst the shrubs in the shrub collection to give color and life to it when the shrubs are not in bloom.

At Genesee Valley park additional planting has been done on the west side of the river to complete the planting plan. The strip of land purchased from Mrs. Adlington has been improved by planting trees on it.

An addition to the refectory building has been made and a room called the "Woman's room," for the special accommodation of women and children, has been built and a furnace put into it.

A bicycle path a mile and one-half in length has been built on the west side of the river from the entrance to the athletic grounds to the south end of the park. This path leads to the road to Scottsville and has been used by thousands of people during the latter part of the season.

The motor and pump, to supply water for the athletic building, have been put into the house built especially for them, close to the athletic building.

The suit against the Rochester Fertilizer Works has been discontinued. They have removed their plant to another location outside the city, and have desisted from polluting the park lands by the refuse from their operations.

The privilege to let boats to the public from a boat house on the west bank of the river was again let to William V. Long for a nominal sum. The rates for the use of boats have been established by the Park Commissioners and have been made as low as possible.

A doe of the Virginia white-tailed deer and a pair of wapati or American elk have been purchased for the parks. A number of animals indigenous to Monroe county have been captured and presented to the Park Commissioners and have been very interesting to park visitors.

The city parks, Seneca parkway and the street trees have been as well cared for as possible with the small amount appropriated for that purpose ($2,500). During the winter there was an unusually large fall of snow which greatly increased the cost of shoveling snow. The demands for trimming street trees, so that they should not obstruct the light, both natural and artificial, have been great. The trees have been trimmed on fifty-three of the principal streets. Eighty-three dead trees on streets have been cut down. Many trees in Jones square have been cut down as they were crowding one another. Complaint from all parts of the city have been made of the destruction of the leaves of trees by the larvae of the tussock moth. The cocoons and masses of eggs can be found on the trunks and limbs of trees and easily destroyed in the winter, if a person will take the trouble to scrape them off, but notwithstanding all that has been said in the newspapers and in the schools on the subject, most people are ignorant of or indifferent to the great injury to the trees caused by the larvae of the tussock moth.

All the park employes that were subject to examination by the Civil Service Commission have passed the necessary examinations.

New and more concise park ordinances for the government of the parks, prepared by the Corporation Counsel, were passed by the Park Commissioners on August 31st, and have been printed in the official newspaper, and one other paper, for ten consecutive days, according to law.

The following named persons have made presents to the Park Commissioners during the year:

Mr. D. E. Pichtner and daughter, a raccoon and a red fox-squirrel; Professor John P. Silvernail and Othello H. Stevens, each a horned owl; A. C. Allen, a guinea pig; H. H. Edgerton, three Pekin ducks; Chase Brothers, a number of rose bushes; Ellwanger & Barry, a collection of thorn apples and a number of rose bushes and flowers; George Leicht and Mrs. Lee, rabbits. E. A. Frost and Mrs. Shaffer, each an agave; Mrs. Alfred Wright, a yucca; Miss Wright, a bed of geraniums; Edward S. Brown, a Scotch collie; H. Wiltzie, a hawk; the Genesee Valley Game & Fish Protective and Propagation Association, two male and four female Mongolian pheasants;

W. S. Little & Co. sent to the Park Commissioners during the blooming season a number of beautiful azaleas which were a great attraction at Highland park for two weeks.

Respectfully submitted,

C. C. LANEY,

Superintendent of Parks.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE LAW DEPARTMENT.

Office of the Corporation Counsel,
Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 29, 1896.

To the Honorable, the Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—In accordance with section 34 of the city charter, I have the honor to state that a detailed report of the business of the Law Department, for the year ending December 31, 1896, has been prepared. It has been the practice heretofore to present the report of the work of this department as a report of the Law Committee. The terms of the city charter require an annual report from the heads of departments, and, beginning with the present year, the report of the Corporation Counsel will be given separately. If the recommendation of the Law Committee is approved, that the report of the Law Department be published separately, many details will be inserted in such publication, which it would not be advisable to set forth in this report for publication at length in the proceedings of the Common Council. The litigated business of the city is extensive. The preparation of opinions at the requests of the heads of the various departments is an important part of the work of the Law Department. These opinions cover a wide range of subjects, frequently involving extended study. Many contracts are examined or drafted and approved as to form in this department each year. Much work has been done for the various city departments, the law and assessment committees and the Hemlock Lake Commission. A complete revision of the penal ordinances has been accomplished. All the work done in these various matters properly would be detailed in a complete report of the work of this department.

In the month of October, the offices of the department were removed to the fourth floor of the city hall building, where a handsome suite of seven rooms has at last given the department the accommodation that it has sadly lacked for so many years. The most appreciated feature of the new offices is the law library. Up to the present the maintenance of a library has been impossible, owing to lack of room, but the present accommodation makes possible the acquirement of a library that will be a credit to the city of Rochester. The meetings of the law and assessment committees of the Common Council and all commissions for street openings are now held in the new offices.

The department is now the general legal adviser of all departments and committees of the city government, with the exception of the Board of Health, which employs its own attorney. All condemnations proceedings for the opening of public streets and the acquirement of land for park purposes are conducted under the supervision of the Law Department. Numerous actions to compel the support of wives, indigent parents and children, and all bastardy proceedings are conducted on behalf of the Overseer of the Poor by this office. The foregoing, however, has reference only to official work of a general nature and does not include numerous instances of services rendered in the way of examinations, consultations and interviews and various matters too numerous to specify in detail. A record of such matters is made in the daily register kept in this department. I desire to express my cordial appreciation of the faithful services rendered during the year just closing by the various members of the Law Department, without whose intelligent assistance the results obtained would have been impossible.

Respectfully yours,
A. J. RODENBECK,
Corporation Counsel.

By the Clerk—

City Treasurer's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 29, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—I would respectfully ask for an appropriation for clerk hire in the Treasurer's office for the coming year of ($11,000) eleven thousand dollars.

The prospects are that I shall need the services of some extra clerks, temporarily.

I also wish to increase the efficiency of the search department, showing on all searches, not only the amount of claims against the property in the shape of unpaid taxes and assessments, but also to call attention to work in process of construction, that the property will be liable for.

This change will be of great service to all parties purchasing real estate, and also, all investors in bond and mortgages.

The collection of search department, amounting to $1,500 per annum, goes to the credit of the General Sinking Fund. So the city gets cash returns, as well as services rendered, from the amount appropriated for clerk hire. The above amount does not include the salary of Treasurer.

Respectfully submitted,
S. B. WILLIAMS,
Treasurer.

HEMLOCK LAKE SURVEY.

For a better understanding of the purpose and nature of this work, I will ask permission to refer to the commencement thereof in 1895.

Chapter 1018, of the laws of 1895, entitled "An Act to Provide for the Sanitary Protection of the Source of Water Supply of the City of Rochester, by the Acquisition by said City of Real Property and Interests Therein," etc., etc., provided that the commission to be appointed under the provisions of the act should call upon the City Engineer for such engineering assistance as they required.

August 30, 1895, said commission, consisting of Ira L. Otis, Charles T. Chapin and Sol Wile, notified the City Engineer that they found themselves unable to proceed in the performance of their duty without a proper survey of all lands within the purview of the act under which they were appointed, and called upon him to make such surveys as were necessary.

The surveys begun in 1895 have been continued during a large portion of the year 1896, under the charge of Assistant Engineer W. B. Sackett. The act creating said commission authorized the acquisition of land within 200 feet of high-water mark on the shores of Hemlock lake. It was necessary therefore at the outset, in 1895, to determine what was meant by high-water in Hemlock lake. The elevation fixed upon was 2.50 feet above the general bottom of the natural outlet at the foot of the lake, which bottom was established by numerous observations of the Water Works Engineer's Department for the past 20 years and adopted by them as the datum level for their records of the rise and fall of the lake.

This elevation of 2.50 was transferred to various points along the shore and these points connected by a permanent survey line extending entirely around the lake. This work was completed on April 24, 1896. The remaining work consisted of a survey of the various parcels of land fronting on the lake. Of the survey there have been fully completed:

Miles.
An approximate frontage of.....	8.8
Partially completed, a frontage of.....	1.6
No work done on.....	5.6

Deeds and searches for the latter not having been received from the commission.

A map of the lake on a scale of 100 feet per inch is under way, and will be completed during the coming year.

It is impossible to finish this survey on any portion of the lake in advance of deeds and searches. Owing to the almost entire lack of reliable landmarks, and the loose and indefinite descriptions entered in the deeds, it becomes necessary to make much more extensive surveys than would otherwise be required. It is impossible to determine in advance, with any certainty, the length of time required for this work. The expenses of the survey, outside of salaries, are paid by the Hemlock Lake Commission. The proportion of salaries properly chargeable to this service for the past year, is $3,132.50.

THE SURVEY OF THE TERRITORY COM-PRISED IN THE OLD FIFTEENTH AND SIXTEENTH WARDS.

Work on this survey has been continued during the year under the charge of Assistant Engineer Charles L. Raymond. The total field work now done covers an area of about 4,250 acres. A total number of 6,550 deeds has been copied, 540 tracings of sub-division maps made and 4,600 sheets with headings taken from the City Assessor's books to be used for copying deeds.

Copies of the road record books of the towns of Gates and Brighton have been made. It should be stated that in making a proper survey of this territory, it is necessary to overlap the outside boundaries of the survey of the first fourteen wards by J. C. Ryan, and also to extend somewhat outside the city limits. There remains in the territory yet to be surveyed, including the aforesaid overlap, an area of somewhat more than 3,000 acres. The work already done has also to be put in permanent form on record maps for the use of the Assessors. A large amount of work done this year in the northwestern portion of the city was immediately available in projecting and properly locating several needed street extensions and street openings.

The above report covers the entire work done on this survey up to the present time, it being difficult to separate the work done in one year from that of another, on account of a portion of the work over-lapping from one year into the other.

The proportion of salaries properly chargeable to this survey for the past year is $3,430.00.

IMPROVEMENTS COMPLETED DURING THE YEAR.

Sixty-six public improvements have been completed during the year at a total cost of about $301,059.19, sub-divided as follows:
 For pavements (4.248 miles) and grading streets (1.033 miles).....$215,025 33
 For sidewalks (9.857 miles)..... 18,244 97
 For sewers (4.36 miles) .. 55,091 82
 For miscellaneous 12,697 04

Total as above$301,059 19
 The 4.248 miles of streets were classified as follows:

	Miles.	Sq. yds.	A'v'ge pr. yd.
Medina (on concrete).....	.059	698.7	$1 85
Medina (on sand).....	.476	11,120.0	1 58
Medina block242	6,240.3	2 63
Asphalt ..	2.063	32,721.1	2 42
Trap Rock Macadam ..	1.372	22,378.0	0 92
Medina (on sand, second hand)036	350.0	1 00
Totals	4.248	73,508.1

Through the courtesy of the Executive Board, tables showing the details of all street improvements will be published in full in their forthcoming report.

The 9.857 miles of new sidewalk built under contract is divided into 7,830 miles of cement walk; and 2,027 miles of plank walk.

SEWERS.

The total length of sewers fully completed during the year is 4.38 miles, costing $55,091.82.

The total length of sewer built by the city to date is 192.17 miles.

The East Side trunk sewer, about 10.20 miles in length, is not included in the above, nor the portion of the West Side trunk sewer now complete, amounting to about 2.13 miles.

GRADES ESTABLISHED.

Sidewalk grades on 32 streets or parts of streets, aggregating 5 1-2 miles in length, have been established under resolutions of the Common Council, mostly for the construction of cement walks by the residents of said streets. The above length is exclusive of work done under ordinance.

BRIDGES.

No bridges have been completed the past year. Attention is called, however, to a table showing the characteristics of the various city bridges which will be published in the annual report of the Executive Board, which may be briefly summarized as follows:

Within the city limits are 73 bridges, passed over or under by city streets. These bridges may be sub-divided as follows:

Across the Genesee river	9
Carrying streets over the Erie canal.....	26
Carrying streets over railroads.....	10
Carrying railroads over streets	25
Miscellaneous, race, feeder, etc.....	5
Total	75

Of the total of 75 bridges, the city maintains 22, the state 19, the various railroads 34.

Of the bridges over the Erie canal 16 are fixed, of which two are maintained by the city and fourteen by the state. Nine are lift bridges and one swing bridge, of which four lift bridges are maintained by the state, one swing bridge is maintained by the state, and five lift bridges are maintained by the city.

Of the bridges crossing streets and railroads, one is maintained by the city, and nine are maintained by the various railroad companies.

All the railroad bridges carrying railroads over streets are maintained by the railroad companies.

FLOW OF THE GENESSEE RIVER.

A resolution of your honorable body requires the City Engineer to measure the elevation of the Genesee river at least once each day, and determine the flow thereof. This work has been continued the past year, and for the purpose of comparing one year with another, a table showing the maximum and minimum elevations of the river at the Court street dam, together with the corresponding flow of water for each month, since March 1, 1893, when these measurements were begun will be published with the other tables in the Executive Board's report.

The tables have been made up in cubic feet per second, instead of per 24 hours; as this corresponds more nearly to the general practice when referring to the flow of streams.

A table showing the grades of various bridge approaches and of a number of well known streets will be included in the report of the Executive Board.

STREET SPRINKLING.

Contracts have been prepared for the sprinkling of 293 streets or parts of streets, amounting in the aggregate to about 80 miles and covering an area of about 1,525,000 square yards.

DRAFTING DEPARTMENT.

The chief draftsman reports the following work done in the drafting department for the year 1896:

For proposed work: City Assessors; opening streets; encroachments; fixing property lines; Executive Board; Corporation Counsel; City and County Clerks and general records have been prepared.

129 original maps.
 132 tracings for department work.
 387 blue prints.

Of the 4,250 acres surveyed in the old 15th and 16th wards, 1,014 acres, or about 1-4 of the work, have been plotted on large sheets to a scale of 40 feet per inch. For this survey 540 tracings of original sub-divisions have been made and filed in this department.

Hemlock Lake Survey—The surveys around the lake have been plotted on a scale of 100 feet per inch, making the map in two sections of about twenty-five (25) feet each. 34 maps were delivered to Executive Board. 98 maps were delivered to City Assessors. 19 maps were delivered to Corporation Counsel.

30 maps filed with City and County Clerks.

NEW OFFICES.

During the latter part of September the City Engineer's office was moved from the inconvenient and cramped quarters on the second floor of the City Hall to the present commodious quarters on the fifth floor. With the present arrangement of rooms it will be possible to sub-divide the work so as to accomplish much better results than in the old office. One large room has been set apart for the use of employes of the fifteenth and sixteenth ward survey and of the Hemlock lake survey. A room has also been fitted up for blue print and photographic work. It is expected to have placed in this room a blue-print frame of large size which may be used by the Waterworks and Park Board engineers as well as by the City Engineer's office. The cost of said frame is included in the amount required for office furniture for the coming year. Filing cases for the large number of copies of deeds, now on hand and to be made for the fifteenth and sixteenth wards survey should be provided during the year and the estimated expense is also included in the office furniture required. I also desire to renew the recommendation made by the City Engineer last year, that record maps of all underground constructions such as sewers, electric conduits, gas pipes, etc., built by individuals or private companies, should be filed in the City Engineer's office.

The appropriations for the expense of the office, including blue-print apparatus and filing cases for deeds for the next year should be $25,500.

In conclusion I take pleasure in acknowledging the uniformly kind and courteous treatment and valuable aid and counsel received from the members of your Honorable Body, the Executive Board and its employes and the various other departments of the city government; also the earnest and efficient service of all my assistants.

Respectfully submitted,
EDWIN A. FISHER,
City Engineer.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CITY CLERK.

City Clerk's Office,
Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 29, 1896.

To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—Pursuant to section 11 of chapter 604 of the laws of 1895, I submit the following report of the financial transactions of this office during the fiscal year now closing:

Early last summer as directed by the charter I called upon the superintendent of police for a detail of policemen to assist the law department in the enforcement of the penal ordinances of the city by the provisions of which licenses are required.

Chief Cleary assigned Officer Frank V. Natt to this duty and he performed efficient service, as the following statement of the number of licenses issued abundantly proves:

Pawnbrokers	10	$350 00
Theaters	5	250 00
Bill posters	6	100 00
Auctioneers	10	500 00
Shows	3	85 00
Peddlers	272	1,360 00
Cartmen	10	10 00
Markets	4	4 00
Hackmen	1	1 00

Total

In explanation of the figures relating to cartmen, hackmen and markets it is proper to state that no effort has been made to enforce the existing ordinances governing these occupations for the reason that the revision of these ordinances was under consideration and a change in the amount of the license fee was contemplated. New ordinances have not been adopted as was expected, and the cartmen, hackmen and marketmen have been unlicensed since July 1st. when the licenses issued during the previous year expired. The delay in the preparation of these ordinances has resulted in the loss of comparatively little revenue, as the license fee for each of these three classes was but $1.00.

The question may be asked, "Why did not the proper authorities proceed under the existing ordinances governing these classes, instead of waiting for new ordinances?" In answer to that it is only necessary to say that had this been done and new ordinances adopted after a number of licenses had been issued under the old ordinances, much complaint would have been occasioned in case the license fee had been increased, as seemed probable.

During the year 7,408 bicycles and 3,522 dogs were registered at the office. The number of commissioners of deeds who have qualified during the year is 225.

Respectfully submitted,

THEODORE S. PULVER,

City Clerk.

ANNUAL REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

By Ald. Johnston—

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 29, 1896.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen: Your Finance Committee would report that it has considered the various communications and subjects referred to it, and has acted upon nearly all of them.

Of those not reported, the two most important are, the Plymouth parkway assessment and the revised salary statement. The former was referred to the Corporation Counsel for an opinion on the legal questions involved, and the latter, after being recently approved by a majority of the committee, was referred to the Republican caucus.

So many conflicting statements were made about the city's indebtedness during the summer and fall of 1895, that your committee thought it best to have the treasurer prepare an official statement at the commencement of the year. It showed the amount as being $10,559,626.13, and a farther examination of the records showed that the indebtedness had been steadily and rapidly increasing during the last fifteen years until the large amount named was reached. Even this large sum was not the full amount of the indebtedness, as will be shown later in this report.

An examination of the records also showed that the annual cost of maintaining the city government had been steadily increasing, and when your committee was requested to take charge of the city's financial affairs it was confronted with the following extraordinary conditions, viz.: An indebtedness amounting to several hundred thousand dollars in excess of the ten per cent. constitutional limit; a treasury nearly empty and current expenditures at their maximum.

The need of reducing both the indebtedness and expenditures was apparent, and in preparing the year's tax levy, it was considered wise to pay in full the previous year's deficiency items amounting to $170,000, and also to make the appropriations for this year's expenditures large enough to fully cover them. Instead of following former customs, and using the income from liquor and other licenses and from interest receipts to reduce the tax levy, it was decided to use the income from these sources to pay the cost of remodeling the city hall building, and place the balance in the Sinking Fund, so that the Free Academy bonds amounting to $75,000, and maturing January 1st next, could be paid when due. The appropriations have proved large enough to provide for all expenditures, and for the first time in ten years there will be no need of deficiency notes. The income has proved to be larger than it was estimated, and there will be a correspondingly large balance in the Sinking Fund.

Upon your committee's recommendation the council authorized the sale, in July, of $200,000 worth of city bonds for the Hemlock Lake Water Shed Commissioners' Fund, but the purchasers declined to accept them, when they found that the Sinking Fund provisions required by law had not been complied with. Shortly thereafter the money market became seriously demoralized and continued so until after the national election. It was impossible then to recall the bonds, and the maturing notes of the commission, as well as its later obligations, had to be cared for by new notes.

The proposed charter amendment, providing for an issue of bonds to replace the acceptances given for local improvements failed to become a law, through no fault of the council or its charter amendment committee, and money had to be borrowed to pay outstanding local improvements notes amounting to $555,000, maturing in August and September.

The Treasurer reported his inability to borrow either in New York or from our local bankers at any rate of interest, and at his suggestion your committee recommended a popular loan, which was approved by the council. It proved very successful, and the entire amount of $700,000 was taken in a short time at six per cent. interest, although the prevailing rate with bankers was considerably higher.

The Treasurer's statement of January 4 last called for an indebtedness of $10,559,626.13, but your committee has recently learned that through no fault of the Treasurer or his assistants, the following liability items were inadvertently omitted, viz.:

Street Sprinkling Fund, 1895 .. .	$ 30,208 06
Erroneous assessments, 1895 .. .	17,664 61
Local assessments on city property, 1895 .. .	3,758 41
Local Improvement Fund, December, 1895 .. .	9,385 35
Deficiency note No. 592—Highway Fund .. .	7,500 00
Rochester Bridge and Iron Works balance due on Platt-st. bridge ..	19,608 10
Henry E. Boardman, water rights claim .. .	13,000 00
William Hamilton, water rights claim .. .	15,600 00

Aggregating .. . $117,024 53
 And consequently the city's indebtedness was in reality $10,676,660.66 or $737,745.66 in excess of the ten per cent limit proscribed by the constitution.

Your committee cannot tell definitely how much the city's indebtedness has been reduced during the year until the Treasurer's annual statement is made, but approximately the amount is at least $400,000.

The expenditures for local improvements were somewhat less than in previous years.

The expenditures for maintaining the city government have not increased any during the year, and while they have not been reduced as much as some of your committee hoped they would, they are, however, less than during the previous year, and the various committees and departments have cheerfully co-operated with your committee's efforts to secure this result. Your committee believes that this is the first time in fifteen years that these expenditures have shown a decrease from the year preceding.

If this year's financial policy is continued next year, the 1897 tax levy can be made ten per cent. less than this year's amount, no deficiency notes will be needed and the members of the council can have the satisfaction and pleasure of relinquishing to their successors the city's affairs, with its expenditures diminished, its indebtedness reduced $700,000 and upwards, or clearly within the constitutional limit, and its financial credit fully restored.

The foregoing report gives but a vague idea of the work done or good accomplished by the Poor Department.

The system now in practice in this department is a decided improvement over anything tried heretofore. The report shows a saving of $8,000 as compared with last year's expenses, while the number of applications for relief has not diminished but increased, nor has any needy person who applied for aid been neglected or overlooked.

This saving is due principally to an improved method of investigation, whereby each case receives the aid needed and protects the city from being defrauded by unworthy or professional poor, who are able, but not inclined to work, and would make use of the relief given for purposes different than are intended.

Now, when a person applies for assistance his or her name is entered for investigation, if in need of immediate relief they are given such relief pending investigation. Then the investigator is sent to ascertain whatever knowledge he can of the family or person's condition from reliable sources, and after a thorough investigation of the merits of the case they report all the facts to the department. If it is seen that they are worthy they receive the assistance necessary for their case. We insist that the head of the family make the application, for from him we can gain a proper knowledge of the needs and condition of the family, and in this way have succeeded in making some of these families self-sustaining, who would otherwise be living at public expense.

On December 22d we again started the stone yard in operation. During the past year we have experienced the same difficulty complained of by last year's committee in disposing of this stone. This difficulty we desire to overcome and to this end we submit a recommendation which should not go unheeded, but should be acted upon and steps taken to overcome the prejudice, if any exists, against the use of this stone.

Your committee therefore recommends that contractors in doing work for the city where macadam is used, this should be given the preference. The reason for this is obvious. Experience has taught and settled beyond a doubt the fact that hand-broken macadam is far superior in quality and durability and consequently will give better service than any stone crushed by machinery, and it can be purchased from the city at about the same price as machine crushed stone. By the use of this macadam the taxpayers get a double benefit for the money realized from the sale of it, it assists in reducing the expenses of our department, and when used for the purposes for which it is intended gives the best service.

This breaking of stone is encouraged by your committee for it furnishes work for those willing to perform it. The macadam now used on public works by contractors is machine crushed. These machines can crush thousands of yards daily; then this stone yard injures no industry to speak of, and keeps no man from work, as it competes with none in their labors, but does serve as a test whereby we can discover the worthy from the unworthy.

During winter months, industries as a rule are quiet, and men with large families depending upon them for support and who receive but small compensation when employed, are out of employment; these men are industrious and willing to work, they are in debt, perhaps, on account of sickness or the like; this, then, gives them an opportunity of providing for the needs of their families without destroying that individual independence which we consider of vast importance to every man.

We, therefore, recommend that the Executive Board when specifications are being drawn for improvements during the coming season, should insist that this stone be given the preference, and this we submit to be, in our humble judgment, businesslike management.

The ambulance service needs no praise from us. Its efficiency has already been demonstrated by itself, for cases that need immediate attention it is of inestimable value. The fact alone that each has accompanying it a surgeon with a full set of instruments and other contrivances which are, or may be, necessary when called, is sufficient evidence of its usefulness and efficiency. Now that we have experienced benefits derived from it we would not think of going back to the old system of ambulance service.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON POLICE, EXCISE AND MARKETS.

To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—Your committee on police, excise and markets would submit the following as its annual report for the fiscal year now ended:

The disposition of the fund known as the "Police fund" being entirely in the hands of the board of police commissioners the duties of your committee are only perfunctory and the responsibility for a wise and economical expenditure of the police fund lies entirely with the said board.

Your committee became convinced of the necessity for an enlarged police force and made their conclusions known to the police commissioners, at the same time expressing a willingness to recommend to the common council that such an enlargement of the force be made whenever, in the judgment of the commissioners such action would be warranted. The commissioners have thus far failed to take advantage of the proposition. Much might be written and said upon this subject as it is conceded that our excellent police department is sadly in need of at least twenty (20) additional patrolmen to afford proper protection to the outside city territory.

During the past year your honorable body by resolution instructed your police committee to investigate the police department. It was understood that this investigation was to be undertaken, not for the purpose of airing petty irregularities, if such there might be, but with a view to the development of methods that would operate for the improvement of the department.

The action of the council apparently met with favor at the hands of the police board, as the commissioners immediately offered the services of their stenographer. Your committee did not deem it advisable to utilize the services of Mr. Merick, preferring to engage a person for the work entirely independent of any city department. In this decision a majority of the members of your honorable body did not concur, basing their objection to such action on the ground of an intimation received from his honor, the mayor, that he would not approve such expenditure of the city's funds. The proposed investigation was thereupon delayed and nothing has been done.

As the control of the liquor traffic has passed from the hands of local authorities the designation of your committee should be changed and hereafter known as the police and market committee.

The question of a public market is of as vital importance as ever. Rochester has outgrown village conditions and the city should have a public market. This subject has been before the council for several years, but nothing definite has been accomplished. Why not meet the situation and the necessities thereof at once and if the city's finances will not admit the expenditure necessary for the establishment of a public market owned by the municipality, accept the offer of private parties, if such an offer can be secured, and grant a franchise under such terms as may be deemed necessary to protect the interests of the taxpayers.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON CITY PROPERTY.

To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—Your City Property Committee would respectfully submit the following statement showing the condition of the fund in its charge with expenditures therefrom to date, December 29, 1896, with accompanying explanation:

Receipts.
Appropriation in tax levy.....	$27,000 00
Rentals of rooms in Front street building	94 75
Sale of old materials	5 00
Balance from 1895	3,925 92
Total	$31,025 67
Disbursements.
Salaries	$ 4,272 92
Lighting and electric power	2,272 59
Coal	1,545 06
Painting	332 20
New plumbing (balance on Ford contract, closets)	530 00
Plumbing and steam fitting repairs, alterations, etc.	2,080 69
Marble work, new closets (Barry contract)	1,682 00
Furniture and furnishings	1,875 19
Police station barn (Sauer contract) ..	2,340 34
Cement work and repairs on buildings	2,062 48

Elevator in City Hall, balance on electric motor, change to hydraulic and extension.....	4,750 00
Electric wiring (Burns contract).....	1,260 71
Supplies, extra labor, etc.	2,203 11
Balance	3,817 38
Total	$31,025 67

The total of the bills in the December budget, which will be presented to your honorable body at this meeting, is $3,135.69. It will therefore be seen that the balance in the fund is ample to pay all bills against the fund, now remaining unpaid and audited, if exception be made of the bill of the Graves Elevator Company on contract for changing the City Hall elevator from electric to hydraulic power and extending the service to the fifth floor of the building. It is proper to state, however, that this is an expenditure not contemplated when the tax levy was approved and consequently no provision was made for it in the appropriation.

Your committee would also call attention to the fact that $2,340.34 has been expended in making alterations on the police station barn, whereas the appropriation for the fund contemplated an expenditure of only $500 for this purpose.

A bill of Charles F. Burns & Co. for $1,260.71 for electric wiring in the City Hall building, which work was done two years ago, has also been paid, no estimate for the same having been included in the appropriation. Had it not been for these unforeseen expenditures the committee would have been able to complete the year with a balance sufficient not only to pay all approved bills included in the budget of this date but to meet all expenditures contracted for in furnishing the new offices, the bills for which have not yet been presented.

Your committee also desires to call attention to the fact that the expense incident to the furnishing of the new offices in the City Hall building has been largely in excess of the amount anticipated. The office furniture and appliances in use were of an antiquated pattern, and not at all adapted to modern office purposes. It therefore became necessary to purchase new furniture for every office and department in the building and several of them were entirely refitted. We believe the money invested in new office furniture, giving the various officials and departments facilities for rendering better service to the public, has been well expended.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE LAW COMMITTEE.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 29, 1896

To the Honorable, The Common Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—Your Law Committee begs leave to report as follows:

During the year drawing to a close, frequent committee meetings have been held at which matters of importance to the city have been considered. It is impossible to outline many of these matters within the confines of this report. Considerable attention has been given to the revision of the penal ordinances and, with the exception of that relating to buildings, the ordinances of the city are now ready for presentation and publication. When your committee began its work, the penal ordinances of this city were in bad condition. Obsolete provisions, repetitions and useless verbiage characterized many, and frequent amendments of particular sections had destroyed all claims to structural unity. One of the reasons for this condition of affairs was the fact that every attempt at a thorough revision has met with opposition from those interested in preserving existing ordinances. Your committee has been made to realize how thankless is the task of revising the laws of the city by the criticisms, often unmerited, that have been made upon their efforts.

No revision of the ordinances such as your committee has made, has been undertaken for many years. All the ordinances of the city have been rewritten and rearranged upon a consistent plan. In the accomplishment of this end, ordinances of many other cities have been consulted, recent statutes and decisions have been considered and ordinances covering subjects regulated by provisions of existing laws have been repealed. The whole work has been so condensed that the publication of the ordinances as revised by the committee will occupy but a small fraction of the space of the former ordinances of the city, with the exception of the building law, while treating every subject that properly should be considered in penal ordinances.

Since the last revision of the city charter in 1880, many amendments have been made to the fundamental law of the city. Some of these were made necessary by changes in the state constitution. Others have been prompted by changes in local conditions. The work of amending the charter, however, should stop and the work of revising it should begin. The same revision that has been made of the penal ordinances should be made of the city charter. The charter should not merely be amended. It should be rewritten and adjusted to modern ideas and changed conditions. When this is done it should be published for general use.

We recommend that the detailed report of the law department, together with the opinions delivered by the corporation during his term of office, be published in pamphlet form for future reference.

With reference to the amount necessary to meet the expenses of the law department during the coming year, we beg leave to recommend that a small appropriation be made for incidental expenses in addition to the moneys required to meet the salaries of the members of the department.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
 M. B. ADAMS,

 EDWARD ENGLEHARDT,

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE LAMP AND ELECTRICITY COMMITTEE.

To the Honorable Common Council:

Gentlemen:—Your Lamp and Electricity Committee would submit the following report of the Lamp and Electric Department for the year ending December 31, 1896.

As shown by the annexed tables, the expense of street lighting for the year has been $201,220.66. The lighting system has been extended by the addition of 88 lamps; 16 incandescent arcs and 72 regular arcs. As the five year contract for lighting the city expires July 1, 1897, we respectfully call your attention to the fact that our city is one of the best lighted cities in this country, we using a larger number of lights for this purpose than any city of our population. While this is conceded by all of the electrical papers interested in the subject, and by them we are mentioned as the "model" city in this respect, there is still a large territory in the outlying districts which will have to be provided with light in the near future. But that is a subject for your honorable body to decide. The cost of street lighting for the year ending March 31, 1893, was $163,574.83, and the cost for this year of $201,220.66 shows an increase during the life of the present five year contract of $37,645.83. The necessary increase in the number of lights will probably be as great for the next five years as were added in the past. If this increase is made and the same price per night per lamp is paid, the yearly appropriation at the expiration of another five year contract would be $238,866.49. How this expense can be reduced is a problem your honorable board will, in the near future, be called upon to solve. There are several ways which we would suggest that this can be done.

First—By a reduction in the price paid per night per light.

Second—By reducing the number of lights used.

Third—By reducing the candle power of the lights.

Fourth—By adopting a cheaper method of lighting.

Fifth—By adopting a moonlight schedule for lighting.

In relation to the first mentioned plan, to reduce the price paid per night per lamp, your committee do not think this the proper time to discuss this proposition. All of the other suggestions mean a reduction in the expense of street lighting, at a great sacrifice of the quality and quantity of light furnished. We doubt if, after enjoying the benefits of well lighted streets so long, our citizens would consent to any curtailment in the amount of light furnished. As this is a matter for your future consideration, at the proper time your committee will present plans adopted by different cities for street lighting, which may be of use to you in providing for the future lighting of this city. In this connection, perhaps, it would not be out of place to call attention to the decrease of crime, owing directly to the well lighted streets and alleys. The sneak thief, as well as the professional burglar, is more afraid of electric lights than of the policeman. Chief Cleary has expressed his gratification at the placing of lights in several of the alleys in the heart of the city, claiming that they materially prevented robbery, as well as assisted the officer in the discharge of his duty. Public safety and protection is greatly enhanced by this means and we believe the small cost is amply justified. We are satisfied that the affairs of this department have been carefully and economically managed during the past year. The demand for additional lights has been very great. In every case the location of the lamp desired has been carefully looked up and frequently the request denied. Great credit for this is due the City Electrician who has given every application his personal attention. Detailed information of the expenditures of this department will be found in the tables accompanying this report. It is impossible for this committee to make an absolute requisition for the expenses of this department for the coming year, owing to the fact that the bills for the present month are not available, and have to be estimated by your committee. We have figured the matter as carefully as possible and respectfully submit that the expenses of this department for 1897 will be $208,292.07.

Your committee have very little to report in relation to electrical matters aside from the lighting question. The subject of greatest importance in this line at the present time is one that all cities, having street railway systems, are interested in and are taking different measures to overcome. This is the matter of electrolysis.

In this city a plan has been adopted which when completed will prevent the threatened destruction of gas and water mains and pipes from this source.

Conduits have been laid on West avenue from Erie canal to Madison street by the electric light companies and the Bell Telephone have extended their conduits quite a distance. We renew our recommendation of a year ago that a conduit be laid on Central avenue and that the thoroughfare relieved of a dangerous mass of over-head wires.

During the present year acting under the authority of your Honorable Board, an absolute count of all the lights in the city has been made. The wisdom of this action was demonstrated by the result of the count. The total lights found to exist did not agree with the books of the Electric Light Companies, or the map in the office of the City Electrician. When this was discovered a careful comparison was made. The count, the books of the companies, and the map were carefully checked over, and the errors found and corrected. The result is now satisfactory to all concerned and the city is not paying for any lamps that it has not got on the books.

All of which is respectively submitted.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE WATER WORKS COMMITTEE.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 29, 1896.

To the Common Council:

Gentlemen:—Your Water Works Committee herewith submits their annual report for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1896:

As usual, a large number of petitions for the extension of water mains were on file at the commencement of the year, the estimated cost of performing the work requested being about $95,000; but as many of the streets were located in the outskirts of the city, and contained but few houses, it was deemed expedient to extend the water pipes only in the more thickly settled streets and localities where wells were polluted and their use prohibited by the health authorities. It was also found that the aggregate of the sums advanced by private individuals and corporations during the preceding six years for laying water mains, after the annual appropriations were exhausted, had reached the amount of $25,773.06, and that, in accordance with former precedents, the greater portion of this sum should be refunded to said parties out of the appropriation for water pipe extensions for 1896.

After a thorough consideration of the various petitions and claims for refunding, your committee decided to recommend the appropriation of the sum of $70,000 for both of said purposes, of which $51,406.51 should be applicable to extensions of the mains, and $18,593.49 to paying most of the claims for money advanced by private parties for water pipe extensions in former years. This recommendation was duly adopted by the common council on June 23, 1896, and the expenditures for the year have been made in accordance therewith and the subsequent resolutions of the council, as exhibited in tables No. 1 and No. 2, hereto appended.

The following statement shows the available funds for such extensions and repayments, and also the amounts advanced by private parties for certain extensions for which no appropriation was made.

Amount to the credit of the Water Pipe Extension Fund, January 1,

Total amount placed to the credit of the Water Pipe Fund

It may be remarked that as the principal appropriation of $70,000 did not become available until after July 1, 1896, the aforesaid balance of $9,511.97 at the credit of the fund at the beginning of the year was meanwhile used for paying the amounts held in reserve from the contracts performed in 1895, also for completing unfinished work which had been authorized late in 1895, as well as for the necessary enlargement of mains in certain streets where new pavements were being laid, the purchase of materials, and the payment of salaries. The unfinished work of last year, along with the additions made in streets provided with new pavements, are included in table No. 1.

It was also found inexpedient to extend the mains in a few of the streets contained in the list, authorized on June 23, 1896, for the following reasons: Division street, from North Clinton street to a point about 160 feet west, because the complaint which induced such extension was remedied in another manner without expense to the city; Gates avenue because the projected embankment across Deep Hollow ravine was not completed; a portion of Sibley park, because the contemplated extension of said street to Park avenue, was not carried out; Bartlett street, because a sewer was first to be excavated through the rock in said street, thereby making it desirable to postpone the laying of the water pipe until the completion of the sewer; Cottage park, because the same has not yet been dedicated to public use; and Park avenue, from South Culver street to Erickson avenue, because the death of the contractor for the work and the resulting financial embarrassment of his estate rendered the completion of his contract temporarily impracticable. Furthermore, none of these postponements have thus far caused any material annoyance to the property owners.

The unusually low prices obtained from contractors last season for materials and labor, along with the omissions above mentioned, left a considerable balance in the fund, and hence a number of additions to the original list of streets were made from time to time thereafter, as follows: Andrews street, from North St. Paul street to North Water street, owing to decay of small old wrought-iron pipe Boston court, from Avenue A to south end of said court, authorized on April 28, 1896, and accidentally omitted from said list; North Fitzhugh street, from West Main street to Allen street, enlargement of mains of domestic and Holly systems in advance of new asphalt pavement; Harvard street, from Oxford street to Marvin street, on September 15, 1896; Menlo park, from Mt. Hope avenue to east end of park, on July 30, 1896; Moulson street, from Bethlehem park, 390 feet south, on October 20, 1896; Ravine avenue, from Aldern street 148 feet west, on December 22, 1896; Rockland park, from Clifton street to Penn street, on July 21, 1896; South St. Paul street, from New Osburn house to Court street, and at Court street, extension of Holly system in advance of new pavement; Summer alley, from Plymouth avenue to former end of pipe, on July 30, 1896; Wall street, from South avenue to May street, on July 30, 1896; and Wilson avenue, from Hudson avenue, west to former end of pipe, on July 30, 1896.

There were only two extensions this year, of mains, the cost of which was paid out of the balance left in the Water Distributing System Fund, one at Allen street, where a 36-inch pipe was laid diagonally across the street from Elizabeth street to Kent street, in advance of the new Medina stone block pavement, and the other at the junction of South St. Paul and Court streets, where the pipes formerly laid under the south sidewalk of Court street bridge were connected with the 16-inch main in South St. Paul street. The description, length and cost of the water mains which have been laid during the year, at the expense of private individuals, are given in full in table No. 3; and similar cases which have occurred during the past six years, for which no reimbursement has yet been made by the city, are detailed in table No. 4.

During the past season, nearly seven miles of pipe regarded as water mains have been laid. This length includes a small amount of wrought-iron pipe for temporary use in streets where it was not deemed expedient to incur the large cost of proper cast-iron mains, the work here being done at the expense of the parties interested. After deducting the length of all pipes removed and replaced by larger ones, there are now in the city 270.83 miles of water mains, of which 252.27 miles belong to the domestic system, and 18.61 miles to the Holly system.

Furthermore, 79 fire hydrants were set during the past season, of which 76 are on the domestic, and three on the Holly system. The total number of hydrants in the city is now 2,656, of which 2,360 are on the domestic, and 296 on the Holly system. Similarly, 89 stop-valves were set in water mains during the year, of which 81 are on the domestic, and eight on the Holly system. The total number of stop-valves now in the city mains is 2,695, of which 2,438 are in the domestic and 257 in the Holly system. In addition to these, there are also 456 stop-valves on large service pipes.

It may also be mentioned that thirty-three petitions for further extensions of the water mains are now on file in the office of the Executive Board, and that the estimated cost of performing the work thus requested is about $74,000.

Respectively submitted,

In the matter of the petition of J. S. Corning, we recommend that the same be denied.

In the matter of the petition of Lessetta Theiler, we recommend that the same be denied.

Your committee further reports the following summary of the work done by it during the past year. It has held twenty-three meetings and has presented twenty-one reports to your Honorable Body and each of the large number of petitions which has been presented to it has been examined and all have been reported to your Honorable Body with the exception of four petitions which are now in the hands of various departments of the city for investigation, but owing to the fact that they have so recently been referred to your committee, a report upon them cannot yet be made. As compared with former years the number of petitions referred to your committee has been very great and although it has endeavored to do justice to the petitioners, the number of petitions granted in whole or in part has been considerably less than in former years.

The chairman of your committee desires to express his sincere appreciation of the readiness with which the members of the committee has responded to the calls for meetings and the valuable aid which they have rendered in the performance of the duties imposed upon them in their committee work. As a result of which it is our pleasure to say, that every petition on account of erroneous assessments which have been presented to your Honorable Body during the past year has received careful and intelligent attention.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
